

As the columns of our paper are open, might we not be let into the secrets of that mysterious caucus meeting held near the close of last session? Had it any connection with the delay in meting out justice to the rebel leader in the North West?

PROF. McLAREN has resumed his music class. Practice every Tuesday night.

Those in quest of exercise have found beneficial an occasional run up the winding stairs leading to the top of St. Peters.

Why do some parties exhibit such reluctance to sitting at the Dean's table in the dining hall? An exchange has answered this question, which to us was unanswerable. The said table is round, and therefore one cannot obtain a good square meal. By what rule we do not know.

The Interseminary Missionary Alliance, on account of the smallpox, did not hold the meeting announced to be held here this year. Mr. J. A. McFarlane, B.A., our Editor-in-chief, was appointed by the Students' Missionary Society to read before this meeting a paper on French Evangelization.

A conference was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Saturday, the 7th inst., to consider work on behalf of young men. Those present consisted mainly of representatives from the different city churches and the col-

During the week of prayer, meetings were held by the college Y. M. C. A. in class room No. 1 of the Arts building, on Tuesday and Saturday evenings. This organization is gaining strength rapidly, and is worthy of the hearty support of every one who has the personal spiritual interests of his fellow-students at heart.

We omitted to mention in our last issue that two of our students carried off exhibitions in McGill at the opening of this session. Mr. R. Johnston obtained a Mathematical Scholarship of two hundred and fifty dollars at entrance to third year, and Mr. W. Deeks one of one hundred and twenty-five dollars at Matriculation.

An occasional change is a good thing. Even one for the worse is often to be preferred to none at all. Psychologists tell us that change is essential to all enjoyment. Don't you think it would increase our joy to have a change in the dessert, boys? T—a and S—o; B—d P—g; S—o and A— are being too much repeated. Ne quid nimis.
