

- Another participant was traveling with a friend who became ill and required hospitalization. They then discovered that her health insurance was inadequate and wanted to transfer her back to Canada.