And whereas the existence of an Empire is largely dependent upon the material prosperity of its people;
Therefore, be it resolved that in the opinion of this congress the bonds of the british Empire would be materially strengthened and the union of the various parts of Her Majesty's dominious greatly consolidated by the adoption of a commercial policy based upon the principle sof mutual beneat, whereby each component part of the Empire would receive a substantial advantage in trade as the result of their national relationship.

My Dear Sir.—As considerable progress is being made with the new market, i take the fiberty of inquiring what terminal facilities, if any, have been protided in the plans for the existing steam fau electric adial raflways centering here. As I understand the matter, the primary object in providing improved market facilities was with a view of taking advantage of the existing and proposed radial lines of communication which extend out into the continuous passage, without the inconvenience of being obliged to change cars or transfer at any point. Probably the most important electric system leading into Toronto at the present time is the Metropolitan line. May I inquire, therefore, if any arrangements have been made with this line, as well as others, whereby their entrance into the city and into the new market will be put beyond the peradventure of a doubt, when same reaches completion?

Might I also inquire if any plan has been submitted to the various lines, of, railway showing what their terminal facilities.

Were a Devoted Couple.

London, Nov. 22.—The death of Lady Salisbury has evoked a pathetic note of personal sympathy with the Premier, for, despite his reticent shyness concerning to mestic affairs, it is well known that the couple was a peculiarly devoted one.
