Boys Set Fire to Buildings Which Contain Five Tons of Explosives, and Spectators Are Mowed Down By Shower of Falling Rock—Property Loss is $100,000

OTAWA, May 8.—(Special.)

Boys playing in the fields started a brush fire which caused the explosion of "Urite" this afternoon of the magazine of the General Explosives Co. in Hull, Que. Ten deaths now and at least twenty cases of serious injury constitute the tale of casualties, while the damage to Hull and to the neighboring City of Ottawa may reach $100,000. The list of dead may be added to:

Small Boys Started Fire

The fire started by the small boys extended about 5 p.m. to a building used as a workshop. This burned quietly for about three quarters of an hour, when the building in which the detonators were stored, exploded with a sharp report, which was heard all over the City of Ottawa.

Spectators the Victims

The fire had attracted a great number of spectators, and it was due to their presence that the terribly heavy casualty list is to be ascribed. The hail of falling stones beat them down in numbers. In particular, a bridge over Brewery Creek was thronged with onlookers, and it is feared that some of those struck down are submerged beneath the waters of the stream.

All the hospitals of Ottawa are filled with the injured and including slight injuries by falling stones, it is believed that from 100 to 150 casualties have occurred.

STONES HURLED MILES DISTANT

The effect of the explosion was extremely capricious. Windows were broken in the most distant parts of Ottawa, and yet the damage suffered in Hull, apart from the buildings adjacent to the factory, on the whole was less than the destruction in Ottawa. Government House, which is nearly three miles away from the scene of the explosion, was a peculiarly heavy sufferer, a great number of its windows being smashed.

Stones Hurling Two Miles

The parliament buildings, which occupy the highest point in Ottawa, and are built of stone, suffered very little. One of the chimneys at Government House was bent so badly that it had to be taken down at once. Stones and boulders were hurled an immense distance, and in some cases crashed thru the roofs of houses two miles away. Several deaths were caused in this way.

Explosion occurred at a quarter to six o'clock and caused great destruction in Ottawa. Hull is overlooked from the Ottawa bank of the river, and in an incredibly short time the hill and all the portions of the bank of the river which afforded a view of Hull were black with spectators, while there by a rush by motor, cab and street car to the scene of the disaster. The direct money loss will probably not exceed $100,000.

The buildings of the factory were not expensive, and the number of hands employed was only four or five.

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Some people are wondering how Winston Churchill happens to figure so much in the King's death. He was almost the only cabinet minister who was in London. But his office of home secretary makes him the minister the home secretary is the chief of all the secretaries and signs most of the King's communication, and this relationship is the most ancient one of all in the cabinet. The home secretary is always present at a royal birth and certifies the same. Winston Churchill was present at the King's death, as was his duty, and was the first to make homage to the new sovereign.

A MAN OF SACRIFICES

The new King is a serious and sorrowful man, a man who all his life has had to make sacrifices because of his station. He had to give up the sea and the navy, to which he was attached, when his older brother died; it was with no joy that he found himself on the same occasion in the line of the succession; a little later state reasons forced him to marry the fiancée of his dead brother, tho it has since proved a happy marriage; every day since the great change came to him, his life has been one of duty, study, sacrifice, service to the trade of king-to-be.

"To Uphold Constitutional Government Will Be the Earnest Object of My Life"

"My lords and gentlemen, my heart is too full for me to address you to-day in more than a few words. It is my sorrowful duty to announce to you the death of my dearly loved father, the King.

"In this irreparable loss, which has so suddenly fallen upon me and the whole empire, I am comforted by the feeling that I have the sympathy of my future subjects, who will mourn with me for their beloved sovereign, whose own happiness was found in sharing and promoting theirs.

"I have lost not only a father's love, but the affectionate and intimate relations of a dear friend and adviser.

"No less confident am I in the universal and loving sympathy which is assured to my dearest mother in her overwhelming grief.

"Standing here little more than nine years ago, our beloved King declared that so long as there was breath in his body he would work for the good and amelioration of his subjects. I am sure that the opinion of the whole nation will be that this declaration has been fully carried out.

"To endeavor to follow in his footsteps, and at the same time to uphold the constitutional government of these realms will be the earnest object of my life.

"I am deeply sensible of the very heavy responsibilities which have fallen upon me.

"I know that I can rely upon the parliament and on the people of these islands and my dominions beyond the seas for their help in the discharge of the arduous duties and their prayers that God will grant me strength and guidance.

"I am encouraged by the knowledge that I have in my dear wife one who will be a constant helpmate in every endeavor for our people's good."

ACCUSE LIBERALS OF HASTENING KING'S DEATH

LONDON, May 8.—There are signs that some of the Conservatives will accuse the Liberals of responsibility for the King's death by worry brought on him thru threats of the party to call on him to swamp the lords by the creation of a host of Liberal peers.

The Globe says: "The King was in constant consultation with his ministers, his holiday was cut short, and had not a keen sense of public duty compelled him to return to England he might still be alive and well. Those who have stirred up strife within the nation, who would have attacked the constitution and who did not hesitate to attack the crown itself in pursuance of their own ends, will now realize that they must take their share of the responsibility for the death of a great King. They have done their worst; let them close their lips while the nation mourns its royal dead."

SPECIAL RELIGIOUS SERVICES YESTERDAY

LONDON, May 8.—Saturday is usually the gayest night of the week in London, but last night a Sabbath-like quiet pervaded the city.

It was a capital in mourning. All the theatres and music halls were closed; the band concerts in the parks are abandoned. The people wander idly about the streets looking at the portraits of Edward VII. wreathed in grief, in the shop windows. Multitudes drifted into St. James' Park, staring at the darkened windows of Buckingham Palace, where the body of the dead King lies, and at Marlborough House nearby, thru the gates of which officials and messengers come and go constantly. Here the new King has had to set aside his personal grief to busy himself with the affairs of crown and family.

Many wear badges of mourning. The whole kingdom, indeed, is a nation in

Toronto's Sympathy

Toronto, May 7, 1910.
Hon. Charles Murphy, K.C., Secretary of State, Ottawa, Ont.

Please convey to the royal family the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of Toronto in their irreparable loss, and assurances of regard and affection for the memory of a much-beloved Sovereign, whose death occasions deep and abiding grief in the hearts of a devoted people.

G. R. GEARY, Mayor.

Toronto's signs of mourning for the dead King Edward will be more in evidence by to-night when the city hall, parliament buildings and other provincial and federal government buildings will be draped. Thruout the city Saturday flags were displayed at half mast, while most of the churches yesterday had crepe and royal purple festooned. From every pulpit reference was made to the tragic event, lauding the memory of the dead and expressing sympathy for those who grieved, with expressions of confidence in the new King. In accordance with orders received from the War office, London, thru Ottawa, a salute to the new King will be fired by the field battery today. The order reads: "Notify all general officers, except the India, as follows: On Monday, May 9, at noon, hoist all flags to half mast. Fire royal salute in honor of His Majesty's accession. On the following day, flags to be again hoisted at half mast till funeral date, which you will be notified. Officers are to wear crepe on left arm of uniform and greatcoats. Drums should be covered in black and crepe hung from top of color staff in infantry regiments. In cavalry regiments, crepe to be hung from standard staffs and trumpets till after funeral." The royal salute to be fired at noon will affect the following stations: Victoria, Winnipeg, London, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Quebec, Montreal, St. John, Halifax and Charlottetown, Fredericton, N.B., and St. Jean, Que. are flag stations. Arrangements for the garbion church parade next Sunday remain unaltered. Nor is it likely the King's death will affect the proposed trip of the Queen's Own to England, as these duties come under the course of regular exercises. It is not yet known whether the program outlined for General French's coming on the 21st will be affected. The local headquarters are expecting instructions from Ottawa.
