

TUESDAY MORNING

TRAINING WOUNDED SOLDIERS

The World has received the following statement from the military hospital commission:

We Canadians are absolutely unanimous about one thing in this war—that justice and reparation must be secured for those who have suffered. The men who have volunteered to fight for us while we have stayed safely at home—these men, coming back shattered and with health in many ways impaired by their service, must have reparation and from us.

It is the first word of justice and there is no Canadian worthy of the name who will not agree to it with all his heart.

Our head as well as our heart, however, must be employed to devise a form of reparation that will really repair—that will as far as possible make up to these men what they have lost. From the beginning of the war it was recognized that a man offering his body for his country should be protected and that his family should be cared for. A pension alone, however, will not restore the injured man to his place as an active and useful member of the community; and that has got to be done, by some means or other, both in the community's interest and in his.

Crux of Problem.

A very difficult problem is the one of reparation. On the one hand, it is impossible. On the other, judging by our experience so far, it is impossible. In spite of their former work, but between these two classes of men, there is a wide difference. It is many men with injuries either of a permanent or a temporary nature, or a combination of the two.

Such men must not be condemned to perpetual unemployment. They would not agree to that. They are not the backboneless kind, or they would hardly have thrown themselves into the war. They did not enlist to be killed or wounded, and they will not want to be killed or wounded. Now, having recovered their strength, they will naturally expect to use it. The question simply—How?

Functional Re-Education.

To begin with, what is called "functional re-education." By special exercises, with or without the aid of the ingenious apparatus invented for the purpose, the muscles mutilated by wounds and operations, and weakened by disease, are made to recover some of their strength and become once more accustomed to exertion. Then, by "vocational re-education," the men are enabled to return to their original trade, or when that is impossible or undesirable, they are helped to find themselves another occupation. There is no intention, by the way, to provide re-education for men who do not need it.

The parliamentary committee decided that the cost not only of pensions and artificial limbs, but also of the vocational training, should be paid by the Dominion Government.

The Military Hospitals and Convalescent Homes Commission, with Sir James Loughheed at its head, has already given a great deal of consideration to the problem. It has decided to organize the training required in many parts of the country. The complete establishment of the system may be expected very soon; for the government, by order-in-council, has just adopted a report of the committee.

The report begins by explaining that the commission is benefiting not only disabled members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, but also disabled reservists of the British and allied armies who were bona fide residents of Canada when the war broke out.

Policy of the Commission. The commission, it tells us, of the active cooperation of the provinces and such municipalities as are carrying out such a policy. Technical schools, agricultural colleges and other public institutions, have agreed to receive disabled men, and many offers have been received from private commercial establishments to provide training and subsequent employment when the men have become proficient.

The period of training for a new vocation will vary according to the previous education and industrial history of each individual. The cost of tuition will vary in consequence, and also owing to the fact that in many cases the tuition will be free or the fees nominal. (The training will be free to the men in all cases. If there is any charge, it will be paid by the Dominion Government.)

The commission has already undertaken the provision of training in general subjects and elementary vocational work for all men under treatment in the various hospitals and convalescent homes operated by the commission, irrespective of whether or not such men will later be subjects for vocational training leading to new occupation. In a few cases, arrangements have also been made for that special training.

The commission was not able, however, to put into operation a general scheme of vocational training until a scale of maintenance could be arranged for the men undergoing the training, and for their dependants. The commission has, therefore, prepared a scale under which a small sum for personal expenses will be granted to the men undergoing training, while provision on a sliding scale is made for married men and their dependants, and for those unmarried men who may have persons legally dependent upon them.

Here is the scale which the commission has now been empowered to establish. It will be understood through out that "maximum age" means 16 for a son and 17 for a daughter:

1. A single man, with pension, living in, receives free maintenance; that is, board, lodging and washing, plus a pension of $10 a month, plus a pension of $10 a month, plus a pension of $10 a month.

DREAD DISEASE INVADES TORONTO

Two Cases of Infantile Paralysis Discovered at Todmorden.

MUST REPORT CASES

Health Department Will Prosecute Any Neglect of This Kind.

Two cases of infantile paralysis have been discovered in Toronto, and still another at Newmarket, Ont. William Thompson, 18 Cowan avenue, and Florence Tutton, 16 Westwood avenue, both of Todmorden, are both in the hospital for Sick Children with the dread disease. And both children were conveyed to the hospital in public street cars.

The discovery of the disease in Toronto, after the efforts made to keep it down, have caused mild consternation among those responsible for the city's health. Dr. Hastings, M. P. O., is even now in New York studying conditions and remedies. Officials of the city health department declare that strict quarantine will be maintained on every home in which the disease is found.

Dr. J. W. McCullough, when spoken to about the discovery, declared that some physicians were not reporting the disease to the authorities. The department, he says, intends to prosecute any neglect in future. Dr. McCullough says there are 12 cases distributed around the province that he knows of. The number, he believes, is in no way serious, providing the disease is not allowed to spread.

MAYOR WILL OPEN NEW MARKET TODAY

For members of the Housewives' League and for housewives generally, there is good news in the fact that a new market will be opened today at 10 a.m. by His Worship the Mayor, at the old C. P. R. station, for the people of the northern part of the city.

The market will not be ready to do business until tomorrow. It will be carried on along the same lines as the St. Lawrence market.

ARRESTED AT BINGHAMTON

Murray Nash, formerly employed by the Swiss Laundry, was arrested at Binghamton, N.Y., yesterday, charged with the theft of a watch. He was brought back today. The police allege that Nash failed to turn in $50 collected by him for laundry in C.O.D. orders on July 18.

NOTED FOR THE BEAUTY OF HER BIG DARK EYES

Clara Kimball Young is particularly noted for the beauty of her huge dark eyes, but few of her admirers realize that the famous film star actually has to reverse the usual art of make-up in order to make those wondrous orbs appear smaller than they are. While every other actress we know of pensels her eyes to make them as big as possible, Miss Young does just the opposite, because she discovered that the usual form of make-up made her eyes so large as to distract attention from her general facial expression. When not posing before the motion picture camera, the screen stars spend much of their time before the lenses in the portrait photographer's studios getting new pictures for the papers and magazines. In the last three months Miss Clara Kimball Young has "set" for eleven different photographs in New York City for a total of 956 different poses. Out of all the proofs submitted only 128 different negatives passed the critical eyes of Miss Young.

Talks With Screen-Struck Girls

By Beatriz Michelena

(Copyrighted 1916, by Beatriz Michelena)

One of the first things that the girl, who would get on in the film profession, must learn is an absolute and unquestioning obedience to the director's instructions. This may seem so self-evident that one would think a "talk" devoted especially to the subject would be superfluous. However, I dare say that more girls are permanently crossed out of a producer's extra list because of an unwillingness to follow instruction than for any other single reason.

The trouble comes from a novice's undue eagerness to demonstrate her first appearance before the camera. She feels somewhere in her bones that she has emotional powers—perhaps in every case, the amount of comedy and she wants to give proof of it without delay. Consequently she is forever making a conscious endeavor to outshine the other girls in the cast. This is just what the director doesn't want her to do.

I have seen girls who seemed to give every promise, so far as features and carriage were concerned, fairly worn their way out of further chances through their own fault.

U. S. MEN WILL HOLD AMERICAN LEGION DAY

Picked Members of the Two Hundred and Thirtieth Unit Will Demonstrate American Drill.

One of the big features of American Legion Day, which will be celebrated at Scarborough Beach July 23rd, will be the crack all American drill by fifty picked members of the 218th O. S. Batt. This battalion is composed entirely of Americans who have come to Canada to help pay the debt the United States owes Canada for the 46,000 Canadians who fought for the north during the civil war.

Over eighty per cent. of the Americans in the 218th are former old service men who have served either in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States, and it is from this number that the men who participate in the drill will be selected. The event will take place in the afternoon, and the novelty will doubtless attract hundreds of Canadians who are anxious to see the manoeuvres of the United States troops. The squad will be commanded by a former officer of the B. Company of the Second Infantry, who won the medal for the best drilled company at Madison Square Garden, New York.

FINE GARDEN PARTY AT OUR LADY OF LOURDES

Were Many Attractions for Big Crowd Which Attended.

The parish garden party of the church of Our Lady of Lourdes, which was held in the archiepiscopal grounds, was a decided success both in the matter of attendance and in the numerous attractions offered the visitors.

Many tents prettily decorated with one another in catering to the taste of the visiting public, candies, flowers and cigars being among the offerings.

One of the most interesting high test was served, and in the evening a vocal program and a string orchestra delighted the audience.

Many thanks outside parishes availed themselves of the opportunity to fraternize. His Grace the Archbishop was present during part of the afternoon, as was also Monsignor Whelan, pastor of Lourdes. Thomas Long assisted in taking receipts at the gate, and among the workers to whom the success was due were Messrs. B. J. Lawler, Mrs. Thos. Long, Mrs. Gertrude Lawler, Mrs. Thos. Long, Mrs. M. Nabb and Mrs. H. Moore.

TO INSIST ON COMFORT AFTER PROHIBITION

Same Conditions Applying to Hotels Will Be Enforced, Says Commissioner Dingman.

The same conditions of cleanliness and comfort applying to hotels will be enforced after prohibition comes into effect, Commissioner Dingman of the Ontario License Board declared yesterday. The commissioner anticipates that the number of licenses issued under the new regime will be less than under the old. The new regulations will be printed in a few days.
