How it Will Work Out Under Union Government Plans

(Canadian Finance.)

Less than fifteen cents out of every dollar of its profits for the year ending March last, is all that the Wm. Davis & Co. would have been able to obtain had the union government's regulation of packing houses been then in effect.

As Hon. N. W. Rowell said lately in addressing an Ontario audience, "Wealth is going to be made to make greater contributions than wealth has made in this war. What the prime minister in behalf of his government, his government returned to power will carry out. The recent order limiting profits of the packing industry was but a first step. The government's sincerity, and the government intends going on in order that the whole nation will be organized for the war. More recently the government has passed an order-in-council conferring upon the Food Controller general powers to control the profits on all foodstuffs, and to regulate prices so far as it is possible to do so, in view of world-wide conditions."

The effects of further action along lines of price-control and competitive taxation of wealth are clearly indicated by what has already been done with regard to the packing industry. There are the net limitations of packers' profits, the net result of which is much more stringent than any regulation in effect in the United States or even in Great Britain. In the first place, the profits of any one year must not exceed two per cent of the annual turn-over; that is, two per cent of the total sales during any one year. But there is a very important additional limitation. Under terms of the government's recent order-in-council, packers henceforth can make profit of only one per cent on the cost of the goods. And how would this $600,000 be divided? The utmost obtainable by the company (still keeping to round figures) would be 11 per cent on investment, or about $190,000—the balance of some $370,000 would go to the national treasury.

To recapitulate: The new method of price control and of profits taxation would cut gross profits in two, and in so doing would reduce prices by some $800,000 to the public—though, on sales aggregating something over $400,000,000, the reduction per pound would of course not be great. Then, out of every dollar of remaining profit after the company (after allowing also for ordinary interest on borrowed money) only a trifle over one-third could be retained by it, the remaining two-thirds being paid over in taxes to the government. "THE GODSAKERS OF CANADA"

(From Maclean's Magazine.)

It was Wells who invented the term "Godsakers" to apply to the numerous and useless class who rail at everything and demand with righteous heat, "For God sake, why doesn't someone do something about it?" The trouble with the Godsaker is that he never sees that he ought to do something about it himself.

There are Godsakers aplenty in Canada today. They demand to know why the government doesn't do this and why Lloyd George doesn't do that; and they holl over about Russia, they strip the last shred of self-respect from the food controller, and they flay everyone in authority. What do they do themselves? They eat three big meals a day. They treat their sleek, comfortable bodies to every luxury. They refuse to save, to conserve, to economize. That is for someone else to do. They stick to their peanut politics and their little business jealousies and squeal when authority pinches the least of their petty privileges. In fact, they do nothing.

Coming right down to cases, this war can be won only by individual effort. The government cannot do it all. The government is made up of about twenty men who are just flesh and blood after all, with all the human limitations and without any degree of clairvoyance or omnipotence—just able, everyday men endeavoring to lead a couple of million other men somewhat less able than the average. Leadership, much better leadership even than we have had so far, will not accomplish much unless the people do their share individually, unless they are prepared to forgo rights and remember only duties.

There are more Godsakers than workers in Canada at present. When the balance shifts we shall see results. In the meantime, which are you?

thing it another way: Out of the profit of $1,400,000 left to the company after payment of interest on borrowed money in the year ending March 31, 1917, only $190,000 would have come to its own coffers if the regulations now introduced by the union government had then been in force. That is, out of every $1.00 of profits made under the former regime, less than 14 cents could now be retained by the company; the remaining 86 cents would either be saved to the public through lower prices, or paid over to the government by taxation. Even our most extreme Socialist friends will surely admit that this is some conscription of wealth.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR BOY

(Gadsden Evening Mail.)

The impression prevails in America that enlistment or conscription in the army means the probable death of the soldier in battle. It has even been stated that an Allied officer at the front has so many deaths to live; that the life of a man in the trenches is a matter of a limited number of days.

The impression is false, and the statements are lies. The death rate in the Allied armies on the western front is only about four times that of the same age in civil life—and there are many occupations of peace which are no less hazardous than the occupation of making war.

On the authority of the Equitable Life Insurance Company we have it that less than 21,000 out of nearly 500,000 Canadians who have been sent overseas have been killed. This is only about five per cent—and many of the Canadians have been in action for nearly three years. Perhaps more to the point is the case of the French army, whose definite casualties (including killed, prisoners and missing) were reduced to only 1.28 per cent in the last half of 1916. It is safe to assume that the American army will make use of the experience of the French army and that its casualties will be no higher—if, indeed, we are not able to reduce them.

Don't worry about your son, your brother, or your sweetheart who is in the army. He may perhaps be killed or hurt, but there are ninety-six chances out of a hundred that he will come back to you—and in the great majority of cases he will be better physically, mentally and morally for his experience.

Ex-Ambassador Gerard—"The splendid message of our great president has stiffened the hearts of Americans to breathing steel."

Lord Shaughnessy—"Frothy Jingoism and incendiary speeches, emanating as a rule, from those who only contribute to the war in the form of language, and which may tend to encourage domestic strife, should be suppressed, and every utterance of this kind should be met by prompt punishment to the offender."

James M. Beck—"Every nation, with the exception of Germany, loves France, while tonight there is not a nation in the world that loves Germany, and only her vassal allies can be said even to respect her in the same way that the slave respects the last of the slave-drivers."

At any time and under any conditions, the news of ruin so wide and appalling as that which fell like lightning on Halifax must have stirred all American hearts to compassion. In this hour of war the force of the blow is doubled—Boston Transcript.

FROZEN POTATOES MADE USEFUL

What to do with frozen potatoes has always been a problem. Now we are told that frozen potatoes can be used as feed for stock if they have first been subjected to a drying process. The Literary Digest, in quoting the Revue Scientifique, says: "Frozen potatoes are not necessarily spoiled. The potatoes must be dried—that is to say, the greater part of their water constituent must be removed, to prevent decomposition, which takes place very rapidly after they have thawed out. The oven should be heated as for baking bread. Then, when it has reached the necessary temperature, which is easily recognized in practice by the appearance of the roof of the oven, the potatoes are put in, cutting up the largest. They are spread out in a layer so that evaporation may easily take place. From time to time the mass is stirred up with a poker to facilitate and hasten the evaporation. When the drying has gone far enough, the potatoes having become hard as bits of wood, they are withdrawn to make room for others."

"Potatoes thus dried may be boiled with enough water to make a paste similar to that which they would have furnished if mashed in the ordinary manner, and which will answer very well, at least to feed stock. The potatoes, in fact, will be found to have lost none of the elements that give them their nutritive value."

Ozark Toddy.

The great demand for cider-all over the Ozark country, coupled with considerable drunkenness, has brought to light some new methods for evading the liquor law, says the West Plains Gazette. Cider is placed in the sun until it has reached a certain stage of fermentation, when it is run through a cream separator. The heavier apple juice is drawn off, leaving a residue mostly alcohol and as bad. The Gazette says, as the once common "white lightning" of the Ozarks—Kansas City Times.
