HERE IS FAMILY DOING A FULL SHARE IN WAR

Mrs. James Glass, of 118 Spar Cove Road, who has two sons in the 80th Battalion, and a third in a munition factory in England, and whose husband has three times tried to enlist, and will now try for the fourth time, has received a copy of the Bath (England) Times of Oct. 9, containing the following item about the war record of her uncle's family in England:
 "Widow Patricia Family.
 No less than twenty-two members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Williams, of Clarence cottage, Fern road, Walcott, are serving their King and Country. These include two sons, Bandman P. J. Williams, 1st Hamp-shire Regiment, and Sapper G. Williams, Wessex R. E., two grandsons, three sons-in-law, and about fifteen nephews. Two nephews have been killed and three wounded. Mrs. Williams' eldest brother served in the Crimean War and Indian Mutiny. Bandman P. J. Williams has just sent to his parents an interesting account of an aeroplane fight with a Chinese gun which he witnessed, also as a souvenir a piece of the German aeroplane which came to grief. He also mentions that he has read in The Bath Herald that the Somersets have not lost a trench, and he prides himself upon the fact that he can say the same of his regiment. We have already mentioned that Bandman Williams, who has been on the Western front almost since the beginning of hostilities, has been recommended by his commanding officer for distinguished conduct in the field."

WM. NANNARY DEAD

For Many Years Prominent in Theatricals Here
 PASSES AWAY IN WEST
 Had Been Living in California For More Than 30 Years—Old Days in Theatre in St. John Recalled
 Mrs. Teresa Hansen of Douglas avenue last evening received a telegram from her sister in San Francisco, Cal., announcing the death of her husband, William Nannary. He had been in poor health for some time, but his death was unexpected and came as a great blow to his relatives and friends. Besides his wife, who was Miss Annie Williams of this city, he is survived by three sons, Mrs. Nannary and Mrs. Genevieve Blinn, also well known on the stage. Miss Mary Nannary of this city, who recently retired as school teacher, after a long and honorable service, is a sister, and F. N. Nannary, long identified with the American stage, was a brother. The death of Mr. Nannary will recall to the memory of old and middle-aged citizens a gentleman prominent in the theatrical business in St. John in the seventies of the last century. Mr. Nannary was in his seventy-eighth year, a resident of Protection street, West Side, for more than forty years. In early life he entered the dry goods business as clerk with the late firm of Doherty & McTavish, about the time they opened the Commercial Palace in King street. Later he was with Moore & Barbour for a few years. Mr. Nannary was a great admirer of the stage, and in 1837 a dramatic club in the Irish Friendly Society was formed, and Mr. Nannary was leader. Later on, cutting loose from the society, the St. John Dramatic Club was formed, with Mr. Nannary as manager. The only survivors of that organization are Francis McCafferty, Senator Peter McSweney, George McSorley and John C. Ferguson. Others who were members were: T. O. Mullaly, John McWilliams, F. N. Nannary, James Coll, W. B. McSweney, Miss Sullivan and W. J. McGovern. Mr. Nannary was ticket agent for J. W. Lanegan at the famous Lyceum for two seasons, and in 1872 Messrs. Nannary and Olive conducted a grand lottery and concert in connection with the Academy of Music, opening the building with the greatest concert St. John had enjoyed up to that time. Messrs. Nannary and McSweney opened the Academy of Music for the theatrical season of 1874, having among their company Nell Warner and Louie Kellogg. Mr. Nannary ran the theatrical season each year up to 1877, when the academy went down in the great fire. After the fire he conducted a lottery for the Irish Friendly Society, but it was only partly successful. Mr. Nannary represented Brooks ward as councillor in 1876, but declined reelection at the end of his term. He is buried in the St. John Catholic cemetery and there he had since resided.

SPROULE-VANTASSEL

The wedding of David Sproule and Miss Merrett Vantassel, both of Digby, took place last evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. W. Camp. After a wedding trip in New Brunswick Mr. and Mrs. Sproule will return to Digby, where they will reside.

JAMES LOEMAN DEAD

James Loeman died in the hospital this morning after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was in the forty-fifth year of his age and is survived by his wife, two sons James and Peter, three daughters, Marion, Margaret and Lillian, all at home, one brother, Thomas, in Boston, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Carey, Chesley street. Mr. Loeman resided in Marble Cove road.

MR. HAZEN CRACKS THE WHIP

The following telegram was received today from Hon. J. D. Hazen by the Retail Merchants' Association:—
 "As I have publicly announced on several occasions, a battalion will be quartered in St. John this winter. Rumors referred to are idle and unfounded, and, probably circulated for political purposes. They are not worthy of attention."
 "J. D. HAZEN."

A. G. BROWNE HONORED

A. G. Browne, a well-known resident of the North End, has received a beautiful fountain pen and khaki handkerchiefs from friends in recognition of his departure to his new duties in serving king and country. The presentation took place at the residence of Mrs. E. McAvilly, Harrison street. Thomas Prince made the presentation in a thoughtful and impressive speech on behalf of the friends present. Mr. Browne made a suitable response.

PRESENTATION TO SOLDIER

A pleasant gathering took place on last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. Corkum, 168 St. James street, was surprised by friends who called at his home and presented to him a beautifully engraved wrist watch. Mr. McAvilly made the presentation on behalf of "The Fireless League" with their best wishes for the soldier's return. Refreshments made up a very enjoyable evening. Mr. Corkum has enlisted for overseas service with the Siege Battery. Among those present was Theodore Collier who has also enlisted with the Siege Battery. The best wishes of a large circle of friends will accompany the boys with the earnest wish for their safe return.

BURIED TODAY

The funeral of Robert Thomson Leavitt took place this afternoon from his late residence, 78 Mosherburg street, to St. Stephen's church where burial services were conducted by Rev. Gordon Macle. Interment took place in Fernhill. The funeral cortege was both long and impressive and gave testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Leavitt was held. Members of the Union Lodge F. & A. M. and members of St. Andrew's Society attended the funeral in a body.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. THOMAS REED

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Reed took place this afternoon from her late residence, Prospect street. Burial services were conducted by Rev. W. Townsend, and Rev. Walter Dunham, and interment took place in Greenwood cemetery.

THE FUNERAL OF MARGARET ARNOLD

The funeral of Margaret Arnold, grand daughter of R. H. Arnold took place this morning from the Union Depot upon the arrival of the train from Moncton. Burial services were conducted by Rev. R. A. Armstrong and interment took place in Fernhill.

DAVID B. MAYES DEAD

The death of David B. Mayes, a well-known resident of the North End, took place at four o'clock this morning at the age of seventy-nine years. Mr. Mayes was born in Gagetown, but had lived in St. John practically all his life. For fifty-five years he was with D. D. Giesler & Sons as engineer on their river craft, and was a familiar figure on the river. He retired about four years ago after suffering a paralytic stroke, and his death was due to the ill-health which has followed from old age. He is survived by his wife, two daughters by his first marriage—Miss Eliza M. and Mrs. F. Olive of Boston—and by his second marriage two sons—Charles W. and Roy D., at home, and one daughter, Mrs. R. H. Carr of this city. The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon from his late residence, 184 Main street.

THE FAMOUS MARCH OF THE OLD 104TH

Of the famous exploit of the old 104th Regiment, which was the subject of a clipping from a St. John paper of 1874, is a clipping from the Halifax Reporter, in reference to the march of troops overland to Canada, from which we copy:—
 "As regards the march to Canada, the 104th Regt. were the first to go, I think, in the winter of 1814, via New Brunswick to Canada, followed by the King's Own. This march was accomplished on snow-shoes, the men being obliged to haul their own provisions on toboggans." Only one man was lost on that trying line of march, and that was by the accidental falling of a tree. No extra clothing was given to those dashing fellows, but it is known to me—and he it written to their revelling crew—that the good folks of Fredericton, N. B., presented each member of the corps with a knitted Welsh wig, before leaving for their forest trip.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning John Berry was charged with begging from door to door in Douglas avenue. He denied the charge and Sergeant Smith gave evidence. Magistrate Ritchie sent him from the court warning him that he would have to get out of the city.

EVIDENCE AGAINST LEONARD KINGSTON

Evidence against Leonard Kingston and George deForest, two young men who were arrested on suspicion of stealing a cross-cut saw from Walter Wilson, was heard after, and the case was set aside for additional witnesses. DeForest pleaded guilty, but Kingston denied the charge. Evidence was given by the complainant and by Detective Barrett and assistant Detective Briggs. Magistrate Ritchie did not give judgment in the Kingston case, as he has not yet completed going over the evidence.

BIRTHDAY GIFT

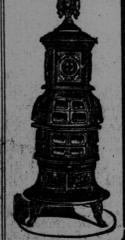

The home of Mrs. R. A. Walsh, Camden street, was the scene of a pleasant gathering last evening when several ladies and gentlemen called, in the form of a surprise party, and presented to her daughter, Miss Florence, a beautiful gold necklace on the anniversary of her birthday. A most enjoyable evening was spent with games and music, and refreshments were served.

A Promise To Pay

When a manufacturer advertises his goods in this newspaper he is giving a promissory note to dealers. He is promising to pay those who co-operate with his newspaper advertising. He is promising more customers and increased sales to the storekeepers. It is only business sense on the part of the retailers to show the goods and push them at the time they are being advertised in the newspapers.
