Question of Legality of Marriage License Is Raised

Action To Have Cinderella Girl Taken From Mother Pending In Court

NEW YORK, April 13.—Edward W. Browning, 51-year-old estate operator, and his 15-year-old bride of three days were back again today in Cold Spring, N. Y., the scene of their marriage, with trouble from a new quarter threatening their honeymoon.

Special District Attorney Ryder, of Putnam County, has announced that an investigation will be started to learn whether they violated the county's laws requiring a six month's legal residence before obtaining a marriage license. The young bride already is under summons of the Children's court here in an action started by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, seeking to have her removed from the custody of her mother, as an unfit guardian.

PERJURY IS HINTED

Mr. Ryder said perjury charges would be possible if it were found that Mrs. Browning swore to six months' residence in the county, whereas she had been there only a couple of days before the marriage. The validity of the marriage also would be questioned if it should be found that the six months' residence law was violated.

BY SEPARATE ROUTES

The Brownings left this city together last night for Cold Spring, and their 10 room "honeymoon house" specially leased by Browning. They had come here by separate routes yesterday morning. Soon after Browning had boarded a train at Cold Spring for the city, his bride and her mother departed in an automobile in the other direction. In the afternoon, however, his bride arrived at the Plaza Hotel here, and Browning joined her there after a nervous day spent in his office.

When they departed northward in an automobile last night, accompanied by the bride's mother, they intended to go to Montreal, but changed their plans at Yonkers, where the bride complained of feeling ill. Earlier in the day she had visited the doctor, who treated the burns from acid, which she said before the marriage.

He declined to comment on the motive for this, but his associates pointed out that the intruder was in accordance with his real estate practice. Upon his arrival in this city, in the morning, Browning had first time to a license bureau, where he filed an application for the renewal of his pistol permit. He obtained authority to carry a pistol about a year ago, when he alleged a man tried to blackmail him.

It became known yesterday that a few hours before his marriage, Browning had transferred real valued at $10,000 to a corporation he controls. He declined to comment on the motive for this, but his associates pointed out that the intruder was in accordance with his real estate practice.

Wrong Mining Laws and Lack of Hydro Power Held Up Activities

OTTAWA, Ont., April 13.—Government business will be proposed in common today including measures respecting evaluation of solid settlement land, advances to settlers on crown lands, and old age pensions.

Yesterday the House passed W. A. Black's Maritime Rights resolution favoring the routing of Canadian trade through Canadian ports and adjustment of freight rates on the Intercolonial Railway.

"Gold mining in Nova Scotia," said Mr. Murray, "has never had a chance. GIVES REASONS.

"First, because of the absolutely wrong mining laws which made the claims so small that it encouraged individual operators, who could not possibly make a success. Secondly, because of the lack of hydro electric power; coal and wood are too costly as a source of power. And thirdly, gold mining practices were wasteful and utterly inefficient."

Mr. Murray declared that mining men in other provinces are gradually recognizing the opportunity of gold mining in Nova Scotia, where, he asserted, costs would be lower than they can ever be in Ontario.
