CANADIAN IMMIGRANTS.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Pilot says that the immigrant to Western Canada is compelled to work at difficult and tedious tasks that demand all his energy and patience. His goal, however, is property and independence.

Sir Gilbert Parker lectures on education and the Empire at the commercial education session of the London Chamber of Commerce, commencing in October.

Of the cotton trade union leaders interviewed with regard to emigration operations in Canada, two stated they knew of none going. Another said that the emigration of single individuals is going on constantly to the United States, but not to Canada. A fourth stated that he had received application for operatives some time ago from Canada, but wages were not high enough to induce Lancashire people to go. If Canada wants Lancashire labor it will have to pay more than has yet offered.

The Globe says emigrants tempted to Canada by bogus proffers emanating from various so-called societies, are acting like people generally do when they are taken in, and have looked round for the nearest person to abuse, which has generally been the Canadian government. If emigrants act the fool and pay for false information when they can get the best for nothing, the fault does not lie at the door of the Canadian government. The Canadian emigration department, it says, is, on the whole, admirably organized.

The London correspondent for Yorkshire says that the company which has organized the new direct cable service between Canada and Great Britain is being strongly supported.

The trades union congress today, by an overwhelming majority, passed a resolution in favor of the 8 hour day.

CAUSE OF HIS SUFFERING.

(From the Chicago Chronicle.)

The maiden desired champagne. Alas for her helpless young swain.

His heart chilled with fear, and he had thought to buy beer.

And her preference gave him a page.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 11, 1908.

DANGEROUS MUSIC.

Through the dust raised by the hot dispute on Chamberlain's tariff scheme we, who are distant from England, see but little of the struggle being made against the enforcement of the new education act by the English non-conformists. No enactment for many years has aroused such a determined opposition as is being presented to this law which virtually taxes every religious denomination in that country for the support of schools controlled by the Church of England. Almost every attempt to carry out the law where it is not approved is met by refusals of the old Puritan stubbornness. The government is face to face with the phenomenon of "passive resistance" against which other governments and rulers in days past have striven with to their own undoing.

At a recent trial of some of these "passive resisters" it is reported that a crowd collected outside the court and disturbed the proceedings by the singing of hymns. If the government is not blind they will think several times before they ignore this symptom and proceed with the pushing of the obnoxious law. Music of that kind is dangerous. The old Covenanters used to march to battle to the singing of hymns and Cromwell's Ironsides sang psalms as the tightened the straps of their cuirasses. A Kentucky mob with shotguns is a thing to smile at compared with a body of English puritans singing hymns.

PUBLIC OPINION AND THE G. T. P.

In condemning the persistent opposition presented to the G. T. P. bargain by the conservative party in parliament some of the subsidized journals have the hardihood to assert that the absence of any public clamor against the bill proves that it is acceptable to the people.

In the name of good government, how do they expect the people to show their disapproval; what do they mean by "public clamor"? We are not a people and this is not an age for red riot even in protest against the misdeeds of an unwise and corrupt administration. Even if conditions were ripe for any such display this measure under discussion is not one to influence public passion one way or another.

It is a matter of business. A government proposes to spend $150,000,000 unnecessarily and with criminal waste at the bidding of financial interests under the power of which the leaders of the government are held. The people consider, listen to the arguments pro and con and when the chance is given them will pronounce their verdict. It is a matter where hard-headed common sense is brought into play, not the elemental passions which a violation of individual rights might arouse; and common sense does not go thundering with dynamite bombs at the doors of state houses. When the people get their chance the clamor of adverse ballots will arouse the government to an appreciation of public sentiment.

But though no general verdict has been given practically all expression of opinion from societies, corporations, newspapers and individuals which are not blinded by self-interest nor partisanship, has been strongly against the measure. Not an independent journal of any standing in Canada but opposes it. The conservative party is a unit in its fight against the scheme.

Will not these be accepted as a partial substitute for that "public clamor" in the absence of which the government finds great encouragement.

The Toronto Mail and Empire calls attention to the stringency of the oath demanded of members of the Typographical Union. It binds those taking it to a duty which "shall in no sense be interfered with by any allegiance that I may now or hereafter owe to any other organization, social, political, or religious." A Roman Catholic priest has pointed out that the oath places the union higher than the church, so that no good Roman Catholic can take it. An inspector investigating the Chicago Postoffice has declared that men who have taken the oath cannot, without perjury swear to support the constitution of the United States. Certain labor movements undoubtedly are aiming at the creation of an impertin in imperio highly disadvantageous to the general welfare.

A western liberal paper avers that Mr. Tarte was referred to by conservative journals, in 1896, as a turncoat, in 1897 as beneath contempt, in 1898 as tricky, in 1900 as a villain, and in 1901 as a spendthrift. Then, according to the same liberal authority, the same conservative journals, in 1903, say Mr. Tarte is too good for the Laurier government. Is there in the latter statement anything inconsistent with the former ones?—Montreal Gazette.

In reply to the liberal organs which are still protesting against the use of the phrase "Cox can't wait" in the G. T. P. controversy, the Montreal Star recommends that the best way to stop the trouble is for Senator Cox to rise in his seat in the senate and definitely announce that he can wait.

The Telegraph is still boycotting the member for St. John city, "the man from New Brunswick," and has forgotten all about the "criminal blunder." But the Telegraph job establishment is extended to provide for more government printing.

It is understood that Mr. Blair is sorry that he did not allow the Tweedle-Pugley government to be beaten last winter. He finds that the combination was hardly worth saving.

Just think of how many new ferry boat models that $6,500 that M. Connolly is now chuckling over, would have bought.

Will some one please make a new joke for the Telegraph's funny man. The news in that one about the I. C. R. newboy is getting rather worn.

The report that the city laborers will pass a resolution of condolence to Director Cushing is semi-officially denied.

Won't Freddy and Frank Higgins have a nice time in Dorchester talking over old times?

The aldermen are hard losers.

MOTHER.

I wish I had said more. So long, so long.

About your simple tasks I watched you, dear.

I knew you craved the words you did not hear;

I knew your spirit, brave and chaste and strong,

Was wistful that it might not do the wrong;

And all its wistfulness and all its fear Were in your eyes whenever I was near.

Oh, you always went your way with song,

Oh, prodigal of smiles for other eyes. I led my life. At last there came a day.

When with some careless praise I turned away

From what you fashioned for a sweet surprise.

And now it is too late for me to pour My vase of myrrh—would God I had said before.

A FIGHT WITH A BEAR.

Michael O'Leary, of Newcastle, Queens county, had an encounter with a large black bear on Sunday night last that nearly cost him his life. The conflict took place in the field adjoining Mr. O'Leary's residence, where Mr. O'Leary with shot gun was lying in wait for the intruding bear. The bear came and was upon Mr. O'Leary before he had time to defend himself. The bear closed with him and man and beast rolled on the ground in a deadly struggle. Mr. O'Leary's cries for help attracted a number of men who were in the house, and their timely assistance saved his life. When they arrived on the scene of the conflict the bear had Mr. O'Leary down and was practically clawing clothes and flesh from him in strips. The bear was beaten off and Mr. O'Leary in an unconscious state, carried to his house. Medical assistance was summoned and the injured man's wounds dressed. He will recover.

Her husband died some years ago. The late Elizabeth Nice who died on Tuesday, was the deceased's grandson, and the late Rev. Dr. Richey was her uncle. Mrs. Nice was seventy-eight years of age.

Mrs. James W. Upham. The death of Mrs. James W. Upham occurred at Upham yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock, typhoid fever being the cause. The deceased was only twenty-one year of age and had only been married five months. Services will be conducted at her father's residence, her late home, at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, and interment will be made in Fernhill cemetery.

Miss Beattie Jack. The death of Miss Beattie Jack, eldest daughter of R. Melville Jack, C. B. of Sydney, and sister of Du Vernet Jack, M. D., occurred at Montreal on Tuesday. The deceased was a professional nurse, and was attending a tedious case at St. Stephen where she contracted typhoid fever. When her illness was realized as serious she was removed to St. Andrews, where professional nurses attended her. Not becoming improved in health, she was taken to Montreal, where she died in spite of the best medical care. The mother of the deceased was a daughter of the late Alexander Grant, for many years collector of customs at St. Andrews.

The funeral will take place at St. Andrews this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

FRANK HIGGINS IS UNRULY.

Young Tobin, one of the boys who has been in Dorchester for the past year, came home yesterday. He has been sick for some time. Tobin says that he wants to get a job and be honest. He is tired of imprisonment and states that he was treated roughly. According to Tobin, Frank Higgins is an unruly prisoner and on account of his conduct has been on several occasions been put on bread and water diet.

GOODSPEED GUILTY.

The trial of Fred Goodspeed, indicted for murderous assault upon his guard at the reformatory, was begun and completed yesterday, and resulted in finding the boy guilty of only two minor offences.

Mr. Justice Landry in his charge to the jury said that Goodspeed was committed to the reformatory, and while there assaulted one of the guards. He certainly did it with some intention. While it was impossible to give direct evidence of his intention, yet they could apply any knowledge they might have to determine upon the intention.

The conduct of the officers of the institution could only be used to determine upon the intention of the prisoner. The fact that he had secured a bar of iron in his cell moments was strong evidence that he premeditated the assault.

There was evidence that he was not treated like the other boys. But the jury must consider that the welfare of 16 other boys had to be looked after. Did the officers of the institution act in the interests of the other boys through malice? It was their duty to look after the 16 boys even if the 17th had to suffer.

If the prisoner did that which was likely to result in death recklessly he would certainly be guilty of intent to murder. Did the use of an iron bar repeatedly show that he simply wanted to get the guard out of his way that he might make his escape, or did he do it recklessly of whether he died or not from the blows?

The prisoner's first intention was to get away. It was for them to judge whether he assaulted with intent to kill or to commit grievous bodily harm, or to escape.

The jury after being out about half an hour returned a verdict, finding the prisoner guilty on the second and fourth counts of the indictment—of assault with intent to commit grievous bodily harm, and to escape.

Joseph Carr was tried and found guilty of escaping while a prisoner at work in the park. He was remanded for sentence.

The body was accompanied by John Mayes, a brother of the deceased, and the St. John Railway Company, was at the depot to meet him.

The accident in which Mr. Mayes met death was a head on collision between the electric car and a stagecoach at a twenty-five mile rate. The list of injured ran as high as thirty. Mr. Mayes, who bore the brunt of the collision, did not return to consciousness. He was forty-four years old, and leaves a wife and daughter.

The body was taken up river yesterday afternoon for interment at Queens-town, Queens county.

Halifax papers state that the opening day of the exhibition was the most successful and largely attended on record. The list of exhibits is more than ordinarily large, and the outside attractions unusually good. The horse-show was a grand success.
