Dr. Fisher came in last night from Waterbury after making investigation. To a Telegraph reporter he said last night that the cases were smallpox and that there were now eighteen houses in which the disease existed. How many cases there are he could not say.

He visited one of these about two weeks ago. Dr. H. B. Hay had the patient quarantined at the time. Dr. Fisher, through a misunderstanding with the local doctor, Dr. Earle, and by the misrepresentation of the case by the patient himself, says he was misled and ordered quarantine raised, although he was not together with the investigation, and he ordered Dr. Hay, of Chipman, to watch the cases and if there were any new ones or any sign of spreading to notify him.

Meantime he consulted with Premier Tweedie, who ordered him to make thorough investigations and if he did Tuesday and Wednesday, and the result was that he came to the decision that the disease is smallpox.

Same as at Burr's Corner. Dr. Fisher is of opinion that in the fortnight which has intervened that there have been developed, but there have likely been cases during the past two months and now the people are beginning to die in great numbers.

The disease shows the same symptoms as in the cases at Burr's Corner and Ormiston, referred to in the two latter places came from Waterbury. Where the first case in the vicinity developed is not known. But it is known that a young woman of Cumberland Bay was affected with rash some weeks ago; that she was, in her work, brought in contact with people, and that in this way the disease was carried to Burr's Corner. The cases there were pronounced to be genuine smallpox by Dr. Lunnan, the government expert on contagious diseases.

Dr. Fisher said that on Wednesday he telephoned from Chipman to Dr. Earle that the disease was contagious, and that he had had a telephone message from Dr. Hay at Moncton and four other men, who had come from the scene of the smallpox, and were going to the woods. Dr. Hay, by just coming from the home of his brother, who was just convalescent.

Constables Seek Them. Dr. Fisher said that he could not understand these men leaving and he was very much annoyed over an article of his in the paper which held up Dr. Hay had traveled by train to Miram, and they left again as soon as possible, and he had the car in which they traveled, fumigated, and sent constables to catch and detain Jeffrey and his four companions.

Dr. Fisher says that although the situation is not inviting, yet if a good man can be got to take hold of the case, he thinks any people in this way that most of them are honest, and in fact, by guaranteeing the expected houses, and by a thorough disinfection and fumigation of the houses, and by the same work, the meeting was largely attended.

Dr. Fisher says that there will be a meeting of the board of health at 9 o'clock on Monday.

BOTH SIDES MAKE CLAIM TO GAINS

(Continued from page 1.) F. M. Stevens, one of the Dominion line officials, who was at the shed, when the night gang went to work on the Atlantic, told a Telegraph reporter that he expected fifty-six men from Montreal to work on the Alceda.

"Were you not able to get local men to work at the thirty-cent rate?" asked the Telegraph man.

"No," was the reply. "A large number of men, I believe, promised our foreman, Messrs. Patterson and Priest, that they were willing to go to work at the thirty-cent rate, but they evidently did not fulfill their engagements. However, I have just received a wire from Supt. Nairn that he is leaving Montreal this evening with fifty-six men, and these will be followed by more, as we require them."

It is understood that a large number of longshoremen will be on hand at 6 o'clock this morning, when the day shift will go to work on the Donaldson boat. It could not be learned just what their object was, but it is thought that the intention was to see that there was no break in the ranks.

At Sand Point last night work was progressing as usual, the Parisian had been discharged, and work at loading was in progress.

Hugh Allan on the Situation. Mr. Allan said the situation was quite satisfactory. "The ship is all discharged, and we are loading up, and will be ready to sail at the appointed time," he said. "I am sure that the men you have brought here were unaware that there was a strike on here?"

"That is under no circumstances," said Mr. Allan, "notwithstanding what is said to be the contrary I have corresponded here from Montreal stating emphatically that the contracts were read to the men before signing, and the effect that there was a strike on here."

"Do you expect any more men?" "Not at present," he replied.

"How many defections from the number of men intended to quit work tomorrow and next day as opportunity offered, Sergt. Baxter and four policemen were in charge at the point" last night. "The Trades and Labor Council will meet this evening and it is understood that they will take up the present strike situation."

"That I do not know," he replied. "The men complain of the fact, Mr. Allan, that you were not willing to allow arbitrators to settle the question, and say that, if your case was a just one you could have done so."

"Well, I'll just say this," said he: "We have labor to let out at last year's prices, and if they don't want it, they are not forced to take it. We, however, just make them the offer, and they can refuse it or not, just as they like. The offer can't be left open, and if they don't accept it, other men will be hired, and we hope to come here for many years, but trouble such as we are having may materially change matters."

It was reported last night that five of the first lot of Montreal men had deserted during meal hour last evening, and it was further said that the remainder of that shipment intended to quit work tomorrow and next day as opportunity offered. Sergt. Baxter and four policemen were in charge at the point" last night. "The Trades and Labor Council will meet this evening and it is understood that they will take up the present strike situation."

SHIPMENT FEDERATION'S VIEW OF THE SITUATION. Montreal, Nov. 23 (Special)—Discussions of the Shipping Federation, said today: "Many laborers come from St. John and work here during the time navigation is open and they are free to do so, but the city of St. John imposes a head tax upon every outside laborer. In New York, where living is much dearer, thirty cents is the rate paid for ship labor. At Portland it is the same. The growing shipping business of Baltimore and Newport News is due largely to the fact that there such labor costs twenty cents an hour."

"The big German liners, which use Hoboken, New Jersey side as an hour. At Halifax the rate is twenty cents an hour day and twenty-five cents at night. Quebec handicaps the shipping industry more than any other port, for there the laborers will not work under thirty-seven cents an hour with the result that no more business is done there than at other ports."

Topmast Falls and Crashes Through Deck of the William Marshall. A fire which for a time appeared to threaten the destruction of the United States schooner William Marshall, occurred Wednesday at Pokiak, Port of the rigging and one of the topmasts were destroyed, and damage done to the deck.

The schooner was lying off Charles Miller's mill taking in a cargo of lath, and it is said that sparks from the mill chimney caused the outbreak. The fire was first discovered in the top rigging and, spreading with great rapidity, it obtained a hold on one of the topmasts.

Before effectual measures could be taken the mast was burnt through and fell with a crash, splintering the deck and smashing through into the hold. The vessel was disabled.

Captain Williams, speaking of the occurrence, said it required the united efforts of himself and crew to prevent the conflagration from spreading to other parts of the vessel. He claimed that the cinders falling on board in all directions kept them constantly at work with a number of friends of the inside and ground. There were no attendants. The bride wore a brown traveling suit, with hat to match. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Flewelling left on the morning train for a trip to Boston and New York. The newly married couple on their return will reside in Kennedy street.
