

EVERITT & BUTLER. WHOLESALE WAREHOUSE. 55 and 57 King Street.

WRAPPING PAPER!

PER GLENDON. We have now landing 1000 cases of WRAPPING PAPER, containing— 1500 Reams Gray Paper, 3 sizes. 800 " Manila. 1000 " Large Brown Castling. 500 " Druggists' Blue. 500 " White. 10 cases PAPER BAGS, all sizes.

AT OUR USUAL LOW RATES.

OAK AND PITCH PINE

TIMBER

For Ship Building purposes, constantly on hand. Also WHITE PINE, BIRCH, &c., &c. R. A. GREGORY. Office—FOOT OF SIMONS STREET. Portland, St. John, N. B. DR. J. E. GRIFFITH, Dentist. Office, corner Germain and Duke Streets, OPPOSITE VICTORIA HOTEL, SAINT JOHN, N. B.

MARITIME

WAREHOUSING AND DOCK COMPANY!

Storage in Bond or Free. Cash Advances. All descriptions of Merchandise. BANK STERLING CREDITS granted to Importers. J. W. LEE, Secretary.

JAMES D. O'NEILL

MANUFACTURER OF OIL-TANNED LARRIGANS!

Women's, Misses' and Children's BOOTS and SHOES IN SERGE, KID AND GRAIN LEATHERS.

FACTORY, No. 1 NORTH WARE, ST. JOHN, N. B.

MISPECK MILLS, St. John, N. B.

HOMESPUNS,

IN GREAT VARIETY. All Wool Twilled Flannels and Tweeds! ALL AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!!

Also, First Class COTTON WARPS.

THE above named Seasonable Goods are all SUPERIOR QUALITY, manufactured from the very best material, and warranted to give satisfaction. WAREHOUSE, 200 King Street, ST. JOHN, N. B. J. L. WOODWORTH, Agent.

DAVID MILLER,

MANUFACTURER OF Hoop Skirts, Corsets, AND DEALER IN Real and Imitation HAIR GOODS!

Sole Agent for the Maritime Provinces for the following first-class Sewing MACHINES!

The Lockman, Appleton, Hooper, Wheeler, and Singer Manufacturing Co. Add to KING STREET.

Wholesale Warehouse,

CANTERBURY STREET.

RECEIVED TO-DAY: Tuckings, Hollands, Gingham, WHITE AND BLACK BOOK MUSLINS. White and Colored Tartletons. FRILLINGS, LACES, BLONDES, TURQUOISE.

Wrapping II wines and Paper. T. R. JONES & CO.

GREY COTTON!

WE would call the attention of Purchasers to this GREY COTTON WHICH IS MAKING SUPERIOR to the material used in much English Grey Cotton.

For Sale by the Dry Goods Trade. W. H. PARKS & SON, New Brunswick Cotton Mills, SAINT JOHN, N. B.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

A 42 COLUMN PAPER. The Best in the Maritime Provinces! Only One Dollar a Year! (Single Copies Mail Free)

The Daily Tribune.

J. L. STEWART, EDITOR. TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 14.

Crucity to Animals.

If the police allow horses to be abused in our streets much longer, as shamefully as is now the case, the formation of a branch of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals will be an act of common humanity needed for keeping St. John within the pale of civilization. Nearly every day in the week, Sunday in particular, drunken men are driving furiously around the town, and nobody interferes with them. One horse is run over a wharf, another falls dead in the street, and another is crippled, and it seems to be nobody's business except the driver's and the owner's. This species of barbarism has been endured long enough, and something will be done to put a stop to it. It is a disgrace to the city for such acts to be perpetrated in its streets. A drunken driver should be arrested by the first officer who can reach him, but very few officers of the force ever meddle with one. The gutter ornament is carried off to the station, and the reckless driver of a poor horse allowed to kill the animal and endanger his own and other people's lives. We hope the Police Magistrate and the Chief will wake up to this evil, and suppress it. It is time that some examples were made. Manifestly the horse-killing man and his vicious action is required so that a wholesome dread of arrest may be felt by the brutes who hold the reins over their intellectual and moral superiors.

Waiting Places.

United States waiting places have comparatively few guests this summer, much to the disgust of the hotel proprietors and other interested persons. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says it is not the weather that keeps people in town, but the hard times, men accustomed to take to the watering places in June or early July not having the money to spare for such luxuries. "The Oceanic" has been here, and they have not recovered their financial health. They must economize somewhere, and the best place to begin is on the superfluous summer vacation. Not to pass a season at a watering place means the saving of many hundred dollars, expended in pursuit of "Oceania." The Journal of Commerce cannot offer any encouragement to the watering landlords of the watering-place houses until they reduce their prices, which are altogether too high, and give a little more solid comfort and a good deal less of cheap and tawdry ornament for the hotel proprietors and other interested persons in New Brunswick should take warning by this and provide cheap and comfortable, instead of dear and flashy hotels for summer boarders. People may patronize the extensive establishments that abound at every fashionable summer resort for a while, but they will not be long in throwing away their money and look for cool air and sea bathing at cheaper resorts. There is no more delightful place for a summer residence than the banks of the St. John river, and the number of hotels and cottages within sight of its waters must increase every rapidly. The tendency is against the crowded mansions that make summer resorts miniature cities, affording no change whatever to one who lives in hotels in town, and in favor of tasteful rural life. The rivers and shores of New Brunswick may be expected to see a class that is rapidly increasing summer after summer, not tourists looking for pleasure, but workers wanting rest and quiet. It is for this class that preparation should be made.

A Wood Pavement Novelty.

As our City Fathers have decided on paving Prince William street, the fact that they have not yet contracted for the work, they may be interested in the last wood-pavement improvement. This is a London notion, and no city has made more paying experiments than the great capital. The Wood Slab Pavement has been used in London for many years, and is the best pavement yet invented. It is made of wood, and is laid in a similar manner to the paving stones in use in this city. The wood is cut in a similar manner to the paving stones in use in this city. The wood is cut in a similar manner to the paving stones in use in this city. The wood is cut in a similar manner to the paving stones in use in this city.

A Montreal View.

From the Witness, Montreal. We cannot enter here into a full discussion of the new Treaty, but having had interviews with a number of intelligent manufacturers, and been shown private correspondence of others, all of whom are especially selected from the support they had ever given to the Treaty since its power, we are convinced that its provisions are regarded by some as threatening to the development of our manufacturing, and by some as utterly ruinous to it. The manufacturers have to buy some part of their raw materials from the States in articles of which the raw material is usually thought to be wholly native, as certain qualities are not produced here, or not produced here in first stages. It is feared that the country will be swept clean of our cheap raw material by the States buyers, and no compensating or compensating facilities given for importing those we require, or for manufacturers; which in a word, we shall not have the advantages of either Free Trade or protection, but the incidental evils of both. The proposed Treaty is a very grave crisis for Canada, and its discussion should be on the platform exclusively of Canadian interests, not for the present as much as for the future, on which ground we shall be glad to see it debated by our Boards of Trade.

The Albert Court Case.

The Albert Court case opens to-morrow, Judge Wetmore presiding. The Tilson insinuations or charges are to be investigated, at Mr. Beecher's request, by a committee of Plymouth Chamber of Industry. Mr. Beecher named the committee and the Examining Committee authorized the inquiry.

In Paris, painting pays much better than writing.

There are forty painters here who make at least $30,000 a year! Not five literary men have anywhere near so good an income. The Liverpool authorities have ordered the taking up of all the street cars tracks in that city.

LOCALS

For advertisements of WANTED, LOST, FOUND, FOR SALE, RECOVERED, or TO LET see Auction column.

New Advertisements.

Advertisers must send in their favors before 12 o'clock, noon, in order to insure their appearance in this list.

Amusements.

Murray's Great Railroad Circus do Oranges, Lemons, Nuts, &c.—J. S. Turner. Cannon—William O. Jones. Molasses—M. Mann & Sons. Steamer "Napoli"—Scammell Bros. Sugar, Molasses, Cigars, &c.—Berton Bros. Wetmore's Cultivated Strawberries—E. E. Puddington & Co. Ready-Made Clothing, &c.—Gorham & Tapley. New Dry Goods Store—McMurry & Black. North Shore Line—Enoch Lamb & Sons. Insolvent Act—E. McLeod.

Clothing, &c.—AUCTIONS.

E. H. Lester.

Revisits.

An Inquest was held yesterday afternoon on the remains of John Coleman, found drowned in the Market Slip. The jury returned a verdict of "accidental death." It appeared from the evidence of Capt. Gilchrist that he leaves a wife and family in Queen's County, and was a perfectly sober and very industrious man.

The tug boat St. George and the ferry steamer Western Extension collided in the harbor last evening. No damage was done though the passengers were considerably frightened.

Rev. Dr. Sheldon, who occupied the Congregational pulpit on Sunday last, was a Calvinist Baptist before he embraced the Unitarian doctrine. He is not and never was connected with Colby University, a Baptist institution.

The Mutuals and St. John base ball clubs play this afternoon.

The Lacrosse club proposes to practice this morning at the Lyceum. The English Mail via the Austrian at Halifax was delivered at the Post Office last evening.

The Rev. Mr. Prince was, on Saturday evening, presented by his late Parishioners at South Bay, with a purse of $60 and an address. Mr. Prince leaves in a day or two for St. Stephen.

Several barristers went to Hampton this morning to attend the Circuit Court, which opened to-day, Judge Fisher presiding.

The Common Council meets to-morrow afternoon at the usual hour.

There was a full house at the Lyceum last evening, and the entertainment was an excellent one.

Messrs. Gorham & Tapley who have conducted business in the clothing and custom tailoring in Bridge street, Indianapolis, for the past four years, are in the city, and have consequently increased their trade considerably during that time. Those who may need a good fitting garment would do well to give them a call.

McMurry & Black have recently opened a new dry goods store in the "Brick Block," Main street, Portland. The members of this young firm have had extensive experience in the business, both at home and abroad, and with a judicious and business capacity must succeed in building up a highly successful business. They have determined to sell goods at as low figures as any other house in the trade, and hope thus to secure the patronage and confidence of the public.

The steamer Edgar Stuart will probably make her first trip to the border ports on Saturday next.

She was here by St. John arrived at Pictou last night, where she would call and proceed to Shediac, arriving to-night. On Thursday she will make her first trip from Pictou to Shediac, and on that day.

Murray's Circus.

This circus gave two performances yesterday, and a large crowd present on each occasion testified to the hold Mr. Murray has on the people as a circus manager. It is worth the price of admission to see his splendid stand of horses.

The riders are in every respect first class. William Frederick, a baroque rider in English jockey costume, was loudly cheered as he performed feat after feat of daring. Woods Cook, a young rider of great ability, performed a very difficult and somewhat while his horse is galloping at full gallop. The tumbling and jumping feats are excellent, and Almonzo and his brother clown most amusing. The performance of a holy on the tongue is as good as ever seen in this city. She does the most difficult feats in balancing on her little bar at a giddy height with surprising ease and grace. Two performances will be given to-day.

Let's Opera House.

This cozy little theatre is now undergoing a thorough renovation. It has been whitewashed and repainted throughout and looks brighter and more cheerful than ever. The ceiling and cornices are painted white, with just enough of a delicate French gray to relieve the plain surface, and the walls are painted pink, and the halls will be painted. The place will be recaptured and made as comfortable as possible. Mr. Lee is at present visiting his friends in the United States, having discharged his old company. About the first of August he will re-open the Opera House with an entirely new variety troupe, and continue open during the winter.

Portland Town Council.

The Council began by discussing police affairs last evening. Cons. Gilbert said the committee were investigating all charges against policemen and would report in a short time. The policemen petitioned for an increase of pay, as did Police Magistrate Tapley, referred. On recommendation of the proper committee Constable Wasson was dismissed from the position of Town Constable, he having exceeded more than legal fees. David Sprague was appointed to the vacant position. Cons. Hilyard called attention to extra expenditures for streets, and, after an exciting debate, it was resolved that no ward have a right to expend more than its proper allowance.

Orange Excursion and Anniversary Celebration.

The members of the Orange Lodges who went to Fredericton yesterday returned about 10 o'clock p. m. An immense crowd gathered at the Ferry Landing in Prince William street to see them return. Headed by the band of the 62nd, they marched through the streets to their hall in Charlotte street. The band stopped in front of the hall and played the National Anthem, and the crowd then dispersed. The demonstration at Fredericton was a grand affair, not less than 1500 members of the order joining in the procession. Elder Garrity of this city delivered an address in Orange Hall, and G. M. John Pickard, M. P., and M. McKonagie, made speeches. Tea was served in the hall, and at about 6 o'clock the party left for their homes. The St. Stephen representatives, to the number of 300, parted from their St. John brethren at the Junction. The day was as fine as could be desired, and the trip was in every way thoroughly enjoyable.

Board of Trade.

The Board met at 11 o'clock this forenoon to discuss the Reciprocity Treaty. There was an excellent representation of the Board.

The President, in a short speech, explained its different phases, but expressed no opinion on the varied interests concerned in the Treaty. Had he any ideas on the subject? He asked for the Board whether the Minister of Customs would be prepared to arrange the tariff and duties on English machinery to suit the new order of things? Unless their delegate could give some idea of his views as a manufacturer, he would not be inclined to entrust the interests of the class to him.

Mr. James Harris thought that there should be reciprocity in agricultural products. He considered that a large sum was given up under the fishery clause. Whether it was too much or not he would not say, but thought that the advantages were on the side of the Americans. He also spoke of the coasting trade, which required careful consideration. The proposed Reciprocity Treaty would completely destroy the manufacturing interests of the country. All that he, by the industry and labor of nearly half a century, had been able to secure to himself, would be thrown away. It would be ruinous to his business, especially as competition had reduced the price of nearly all their goods to almost cost. The patent rights in the United States would prevent us from sending any of our manufactured goods to that country. The iron and other manufacturing interests of this place, though not large, amounted to about $1,500,000, while the lumber interest was about $3,000,000. The one and a half million did not include any of Mr. Donville's operations. Mr. Harris's speech was very practical and comprehensive, and is entitled to great weight.

Mr. W. C. Watson moved the following resolution: "That the Board approve of the general principle of Reciprocity, as laid down in the basis of the Treaty, the details of which have lately been arranged by Hon. G. Brown and others, and in relation that the concessions made therein to the United States are unfair to the Dominion."

Mr. Donville seconded the resolution, though not entirely approving of it. Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits. He would not see new cases projected were started he would like to see old ones completed. The Dominion Government should be just to us before being generous to a foreign power. The Bait Verte Canal had been promised by the terms of Union, would be arranged another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to meet duties while the products of a foreign and unfriendly nation were admitted free.

Mr. Watson declined to alter his motion.

Mr. Boyd would like to know what was the hidden hand that designed and brought about this Reciprocity Treaty. The Americans abrogated the old Reciprocity Treaty, and he considered it unjust and unmanly in the Dominion Government taking the initiative in arranging another. He wanted to see one account settled before another was commenced, and he wanted to see the great Fishery question settled on its own merits.

Mr. Donville wanted the motion so altered as to add a section saying it was an unpractical idea for the mother country to have to