

MISCELLANEOUS.

A MEDICAL JOKER.—The dead are never sick. Consequently all diseases may be classified as affections of the liver.

He who receives a good turn, should never forget it—who does one, should never remember it.

There are some men whose opposition can be reckoned upon against everything that has not emanated from themselves.

Tom Hood says nothing spoils a holiday like a Sunday coat or a new pair of boots. To have time set easy, your garments must not set the example.

Value the friendship of him who stands by you in the storm; swarms of insects will surround you in the sunshine.

"I would have you to know, sir, that my name is Frances, and not Frank." "Ah, yes, miss, but you have the franking privilege."

A teacher of vocal music asked an old lady if her grandson had any ear for music. "We all," said the old woman, "I really don't know. Won't you take the candle and see?"

It is vain to stick your finger in the water, and, pulling it out, look for a hole; and equally vain to suppose that, however large a space you occupy, the world will miss you when you die.

There is this difference between happiness and wisdom: that while the former is the happiest man really is so, but that the latter, the wisest is generally the poorest fool.

"Dolls, the portrait painter," says that everything should be in a picture. For instance, means warms, and wedding notes on "foolproof."

A pebble dropped into the centre of a pond stirs its water to the farthest shore; so a single thought dropped into the mind may stir its waters to the very shores of eternity.

"Can you tell," asked a blooming lass of a sailor once, "what shipwreck more passengers than the Great Eastern?" "Well, madam, really I don't think I can." "Why, it is courtship," replied the maiden, with a conscious blush.

Take the seed of thought and immerse it in the waters of Christianity till it germinate, and you have the young twig of happiness, which may grow and blossom on earth and will bear fruit in eternity.

THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE.—The eccentric but brilliant John Randolph once rose up suddenly in his seat in the House of Representatives, and screamed out at the top of his voice, "Mr. Speaker! Mr. Speaker! I have discovered the philosopher's stone. It is—pay as you go!"

That every day has its pains and sorrows is universally experienced, and almost universally confessed; but let us not attend only to mournful truths; if we look impartially about us we shall find that every day has likewise its pleasures and its joys.

Let no man be so proud to work. Let no man be ashamed of a hard fist or a sun-burnt countenance. Let him be ashamed only of ignorance and sloth. Let no man be ashamed of poverty. Let him only be ashamed of dishonesty and idleness.

"If you marry," said a Roman consul to his son, "let it be to a woman who has judgment and industry enough to cook a meal of victuals for you; taste enough to dress neatly; pride enough to wash before breakfast, and sense enough to hold her tongue."

ARITHMETICAL.—Any number of figures you may wish to multiply by five will give the same result if divided by two, a much quicker operation; but you must remember to annex a cipher to the answer when there is no remainder, and when there is a remainder, annex a five to the answer.

The venerable lady of a celebrated physician one day casting her eye out of the window, observed her husband in the funeral procession of one of his patients, at which she exclaimed, "I do wish my husband would keep away from such processions; it appears too much like a tailor carrying home his work."

WHAT MAKES THE GENTLEMAN.—It takes four things to make a thorough gentleman. You must be a gentleman in your principles, a gentleman in your tastes, a gentleman in your person, and a gentleman in your manners. No man who does not combine these qualities can be justly termed a true gentleman.

A young country editor was very desirous of gaining the good graces of the new vicar, and in describing his first entrance into church, wrote thus: "He is a most venerable sample of antiquity." But to his astonishment, and the amusement of all the inhabitants, it came out the next morning in type, "He is a most miserable sample of antiquity."

RECIPE FOR A HAPPY HOME.—Six things are requisite to create a "happy home." Integrity must be the architect, and tidiness the upholsterer. It must be warmed by affection, and lightened up with cheerfulness, and industry must be the ventilator, renewing the atmosphere and bringing in fresh salubrity day by day; while over all, as a protecting canopy and glory, nothing will suffice except a blessing from above.

Newspaper people are proverbially temperate as well as virtuous. We believe one of the craft did get "lightly slighted" a few days ago, and the following is a sample of his paper the next day: "Yesterday morning at four o'clock P.M., a small man, named Jones, or Brown, or Smith, with a head in the hole of his trousers, committed arson by swallowing a dose of suicide. The verdict of the inquest returned a jury that the deceased came to the facts in accordance with his death. He leaves a child and six small wives to lament the end of his untimely loss."

Judge Kent, son of the late celebrated Chancellor Kent, died at his residence at Fishkill on Saturday. He was appointed Judge of the Circuit Court by Governor Seward, and filled that office with eminent learning and great satisfaction; but resigning, he became Professor of Law in Cambridge University. He held this place, however, but a short time, preferring his old home in New York. Here he was then consulted as a lawyer in important cases, reopening business, and forming new legal connections. In 1856 he voted for Fremont, and in 1860 surprised his friends by accepting the nomination of a Bell and Everett elector on the Union ticket.

A New South of Divorce.—Not long since a native of the Fijee Islands presented himself to a missionary and humbly begged to receive the rites of baptism. "But," objected the priest, "you are a heathen, and you have several wives." "Only two," "That is too many." "Good! I will get rid of one of them." Keep the one that you have lived the longest with." "No, I prefer the other, she is younger." "As you please." Eight days afterwards the converted savage returned to the priest, with his face radiant with innocent joy. "Now, father, said he, you can baptize me." "You have only one wife now?" "Only one on my word." And he pointed to quite a pleasant-looking young woman who accompanied him. "And what has become of the others?" asked the priest. "O, late lost!"

The post who tried to render a piece of poor prose into rhyme did all he could to "make what was bad—worse."

A very fine specimen of the American lynx was killed close to Glen Monday last, in the neighbourhood of Groff's old mill.

The gentleman so often spoken of in novels who riveted people with his gaze, has now obtained employment at a boiler manufacturing.

An Eastern editor is delighted at having nearly been called "honey" by the gal he loves, because she saluted him at their last meeting as "Old Beeswax!"

A very valuable mare belonging to Mr. Daves, of Lachine, while crossing from Pointe Claire, on Thursday, broke through the ice and was drowned.

It is ascertained that Floyd, ex-Secretary of War, distributed 100,000 stands of arms in the South during the past year, and sold $100,000 worth of muskets, which cost $14 each, at $2 50, independent of the sale at Watervliet, which has attracted recent comment. Col. Craig of the Ordnance Department has been ordered away for refusing to countenance these transactions, and of equally doubtful character.

The Rev. Henry Johnson, D.D., rector of St. Mark's Church, New York, died at his residence, that city, on Saturday, in the sixty-fifth year of his age. His father, Dr. Johnson, was an officer of the British army, and at the end of the last century settled in New York. The deceased was one of his six sons, among whom are well known Charles Johnson, the classical scholar, and John Johnson, the lawyer.

Rev. Rowland Hill and the Captain.—Once when I was returning from Ireland (says Rowland Hill) I found myself annoyed by the reproachful conduct of the captain and mate, who were both badly given to the scandalous habit of swearing. First, the captain swore at the mate; then the mate swore at the captain; then they swore at the wind; when I called to them with a strong voice for fair play. "Stop! stop!" said I. "If you please, gentlemen, let us have fair play; it's my turn now." "At what is it your turn, pray?" said the captain. "At swearing," replied I. Well! they waited and waited, until their patience was exhausted, and then wanted me to make haste and take my turn. I told them, however, that I had a right to take my own time, and swear at my convenience. To this the captain replied with a laugh: "Perhaps you don't mean to take your turn?" "I mean to," I answered; "but I do, as soon as I can find the good of doing so." My friends, I did not hear another oath on the voyage.
