

THE following discourses were preached, as the title page intimates, after the death of CHRISTIANA, the author's first born, and a singularly interesting and engaging child who was taken from him on the 27th July last, aged nearly two years. They have been rewritten and somewhat condensed, partly as an agreeable solace to the hours of sadness, and partly that in this form he might be able to present them as a testimonial of esteem to the many friends who have manifested their sympathy with him, not without a hope that the few flowers he has been scattering on the grave of one beloved, may yield a balm to some wounded spirit, and attract some wandering heart to her God and her Saviour.

GREEN HILL, September, 1854.

2 KING

THE att
Providenc
means of p
scriptures o
the work of
while the in doings of t
which it w
wise, and w
the loving k
But espec
serve careful
he has the s
becomes him,
only to endea
that are passi
any striking
attention of th ing or reproof
and intended
When the
"bear the rod
sation is inten
we approve no
affairs, and his ment, yet to en
pulpit, is only d