GOSSIP.

At the closing out sale of the Clydesdale stud of Col. Robt. Holloway, Alexis, Ill., last month, the highest price, $1,100, was paid by Robert Davies, Toronto, for the seven-year-old mare, Lady Superior 9704, by Cedric. Mr. Davies also bought the stallion colt, Rockwood 11078, by MacAra, for $925, and the mare Her Ain Sel at $700. Graham Bros., Claremont, also bought, at $850, the mare St. Cuthbert's Maggie 3327. There were only 30 head in the sale, the remnant of this historic stud, principally aged mares, fillies and colts, which were taken at good prices.

An almost incredible story comes from Illinois. It is that a wealthy farmer, whose name and address is given, recently lost, in a most peculiar manner, a drove of fifty fine-blooded hogs. The story is vouched for by any number of his neighbors.

Some time ago Mr. McFarland lost his voice, and was unable to call his drove of hogs, in which he took great pride, but he bridged over the difficulty by training them to respond at feeding time to the sound of his pounding on a board. In time they became thoroughly accustomed to this call, and whenever they heard the sound they would race toward it as if their life depended upon getting there first. Running short of corn a few days ago, Mr. McFarland thought to economize by putting the hogs in a woods pasture, where they could shift for themselves. Unfortunately, the pasture was full of dead trees, and, in consequence, woodpeckers were correspondingly thick.

He had scarcely turned his back on the hogs, after turning them into the pasture, till an old redhead on the far side of the woods began drumming on a tree. Being hungry for corn and recognizing in it the old familiar call, the hogs, with one accord, raced for that locality. They had no more than arrived at the locality indicated and discovered that there was no corn in sight, than they heard the call gain, but far away in another direction. Away the hogs raced again, only to be once more disappointed, and once more to hear the call from afar off.

The day was rather warm, and those hogs chased the woodpeckers back and forth across the field till the last one dropped dead from heat and exhaustion.
