

The Farmers' Market

WINNIPEG MARKET LETTER

Office of The Grain Growers' Grain Company Limited, June 24, 1912

Wheat.—The past week has seen a change from cool unseasonable weather to intensely hot weather with its attendant drought, and while a week ago it was considered the new crop was backward and needed forcing, in the last three or four days the forcing has been extreme with heat unprecedented at this time of the year. The market in consequence is exceedingly nervous, and now for the first time it may be said the new crop has become a factor in the situation, and will become more and more a guide to markets. October wheat to-day, Monday, has advanced sharply and with slightly smaller receipts than had been anticipated, our cash wheat has moved up rapidly for the higher grades. If we have a few more days of as the market is very nervous. It might be remarked here, however, that wheat is considerably higher than the average of several years past. Now the winter wheat crop in the United States has been seriously damaged, having lacked moisture when it needed it for growth, and getting too much rain while it should be present time. There is a good outward movement from the Lake Territory, and while stocks there are while prices may be forced much higher if drought sets in still values are real good at the present time, here, prices might take a turn and decline quite sharply if better weather comes.

Oats.—A very good demand for oats, but receipts are dropping off a little, and the grading is disappointing, so that oats should hold their own, or in case of drought do better, for drought always has the effect of making farmers hold their old oats over in case of shortage. It looks as if prices will rule very good throughout the summer for our oats. The oat crop in the United States seems to be coming along quite satisfactorily.

Barley.—This grain is picking up a little, but the demand should be better, and once the farmers arrange to keep frozen barley out of the 3 barley grade, they will get a great deal more for their high class 3 barley. Feed barley and No. 4 barley are quite safe at the present time as a feeding proposition, and if oats go up at all, we expect to see barley do better.

Flax.—There has been a little reaction from the high prices prevailing the middle of last week, and the edge is off the market for the time being, but it looks as if all our old crop flax will be wanted at prices between $2.00 and $2.10 for 1 Manitoba, this being the most prevalent contract grade. Farmers will make no mistake to pick up their little lots of flax and bag them, and ship them on top of other grain, thus getting terminal prices less freight and commission.

LIVERPOOL MARKET
 Liverpool, June 24.—The market opened under pressure unchanged to 1/4 lower. The 3/4rmer American cables were offset here by the sale of a cargo arrived off coast at 7 1/2d. lower than Saturday's prices.
 Following the opening there was some covering by shorts on the smaller world's shipments than expected, less favorable reports from France with Paris opening very firm and a renewal of the French demand and unfavorable reports from the crop here. The market was comparatively dull but the undertone firm and at 1.30 p.m. unchanged from Saturday with prominent covering in October.
 Corn opened unchanged and later September advanced 1/4 with the undertone steady. The lower closing at Buenos Ayres and the continued pressure of Plate offers and the heavy world's shipments were offset here by small speculative offers and the fact that the bulk of the world's shipments went to the continent.

Liverpool, June 22.—John Rogers & Co. state to-day that there were only some Canadian steers for sale in the Birkenhead market and prices as last quoted, 16 to 16 1/2 cents per pound, were well maintained.

Cattle
 The past week has been unusually quiet in the cattle market, the receipts being lighter than for a long time. Very few cars were brought in since Saturday. Prices remain unchanged from a week ago. Choice fat cattle are a scarcity, the demand far exceeding the supply in sight. The bulk of the cattle received here been grass fed and they are poor in finish. There is no doubt about choice grain fed animals commanding top prices for all that can be offered. In the poorly finished grades a decline may be in store, although up to the present all the cattle on sale have brought satisfactory prices.
Hogs
 The receipts in hogs during the past few days have been average in number, about 2,500 for the week. But the quality has been below par. Hog values have been weak for the past week or ten days with the result that choice ones are quoted from $8.50 to $9.75, a drop of 25 cents. The packers are paying particular attention these days to quality and finish, and the cutting on roughs and stags is heavy. No further decline, however, is expected, at least for the present.
Sheep and Lambs
 Heavy consignments of sheep arrived on Saturday and Monday, bringing the week's total receipts to nearly a thousand. But these were shipped direct to the packers. Prices are firm at last week's level, choice yearlings $7.00 and best killing sheep $5.50 to $6.00.

Country Produce
Butter
 A two-cent reduction on every grade of butter went into force last week and at the rate the supply is being received further decreases may be expected. Fancy dairy is now commanding 22 cents, No. 1 dairy 19, and good round lots 17 cents. The season thus far has been favorable for a good supply of butter and the quantities now being offered bear out this statement. Good dairy butter is coming in at a faster rate than the local market can consume, with the result that a supply is accumulating in the hands of the dealers. They are preparing to ship East and South, but say they cannot realize more than 18 cents in either direction, hence their quotations are on the down grade.
Eggs
 Eggs maintain a steady figure at 19 cents, the same as quoted last week. While little trouble is being experienced to get all required for local consumption at this figure, there does not appear to be any surplus, and most dealers think the rock bottom price has been reached for some time at least.
Potatoes
 The decline in the price of old potatoes from 65 to 55 cents is explained by the fact that most of the dealers are loaded up with all they can take and are not buying. Still the old tubers are coming in to those dealers who will take them so that the likelihood is the price will drop another notch. Last year at this time, it is interesting to note, old potatoes commanded 85 cents. New potatoes are coming in from the South, but the price, $2.25 a bushel, is still too high to offer effective competition to last season's supply.
Milk and Cream
 Not a change was recorded in the milk and cream prices since a week ago, while almost every other line of produce showed heavy reductions. Sweet cream will continue to bring 25 cents it is thought for some days, while cream for butter-making purposes may hold steady at 20 cents per lb. butter fat. Prices, however, cannot withstand a severe spell of hot weather, such as promises to continue. The grass will be dried up by the blazing sun, as the roots are not in as good a condition to stand a scorching heat as they were last summer. If we have three weeks of hot weather the dealers predict sweeping decreases in quality and prices on milk and cream.
Hay
 A record drop for one week occurred in the hay market the last few days. No. 1 Timothy is worth but $14 as against $15 a week ago, while No. 1 grades of Red Top and Upland are down to $7 & $8 a ton and even with this cut there is little sale. The reason given is that farmers have now time to draw in all the surplus supply remaining from last season, and as the roads are in good shape immense quantities have been hauled into Winnipeg and other centres lately. In consequence the market is overflooded just now, with no immediate prospects of a stiffening price.
