The Fogo Lads Are Not Shirkers

(To the Editor of Mail and Advocate.)
Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks concerning our brave lads of Fogo who have enlisted, and to give their names:—Arthur J. Simms, Geo. Snow, William Snow, Ambrose Tornivalle, Arthur Tornivalle, Hubert Forsey, William M. Woodbridge, Thomas S. Woodbridge, Thomas Willis, John Willis, George Bignell, George Coates, John Simms, Frank Hart, Charles Hart, John Brett, Thomas Hodge, Arthur Purchase, Tobiah Purchase, Frederick Randell, Sydney Randell, John Sergeant, Edmund Brown, Joseph Farewell, Lenard Miller, Lenard Bandedell. These brave lads are gone to fight for King and Country, and to protect home and parents and friends while other young men are at home walking the streets and saying, "I am not going to fight before so-and-so goes," or "I am not going until I am forced." Don't say this young man, but say, "I am not going to stay at home while my brothers are fighting for me; I am going to enlist and show that I am not a shirker." These young men that are staying at home will not heed their country's call to put down the enemy. But when the other lads come home in their suits of navy blue and khaki brown and wearing the V.C.'s they will feel ashamed. Some of these brave lads I have mentioned have given their precious life for King and Country. These are:—William M. Woodbridge, brother of Thos. S. Woodbridge; George Coates, Joseph Farewell and Edmond Brown. Those brave lads did not fear death for they knew they were fighting for the right. Now, in closing, I hope that more young men will gather up courage, and enlist.
Fogo. B. W.

That Talking Word.
Husband (testily)—"Oh, if—if it! You remind me of what the fellow who got lost in the woods said to his companion."
Wife—"Well, what did he say?"
Husband—"He said: 'Now if we had some ham we'd have ham and eggs, if we had some eggs.'"

Broadening.
Young Girl—"Yes, I feel an intense longing to do something for others."
Friend—"Just whom do you mean by others?"
Young Girl—"Well, I suppose almost anybody outside of my immediate family."

Herring Neck's Patriotism.

Come all young men of Newfoundland and listen unto me. Of eight young men of Herring Neck Who are fighting on the sea.
The first young man to answer, The Motherland's great call, His name is Chesley Kearley, And he is fighting for us all.

A Church of England teacher, When from England shores afar, He heard his country's need of him, For her sake he went to war.

The next young man to volunteer, From "Too-Good-Arm" he came, A little place in Herring Neck, Darius Hurley is his name.

He is his parents only son, And they thought it hard to part From him who was the dearest, Of a fond mother's heart.

But we all hope we'll meet again, When this great war is o'er, And peace will reign within our hearts, And we'll meet to part no more.

Then Patrick Woodford said "I'll be A soldier from the Bight, And go over to fair Flanders, And fight for what is right."

"And now," said Moses Burton, To Philip Blandford, brave, "Let's go and show that we're not slow, For our King and Country save."

So three more men in Herring Neck Said, "we will not be slow, Through fire and smoke, and shot and shell, Unto the war we'll go."

There names are Eric Woodford, And Chesley Miles, likewise, And then with Oliver H. Bat, They all are plucky boys.

Each of their help is useful, For to put the Germans down, And to go and fight for England, And her King who wears the crown.

So come young men, be British, Don't fill a coward's grave; But be one of those sailors boys, Who are both bold and brave.

"A LOVER OF PATRIOTISM,"
Herring Neck, May 24, 1916.

Newspapers for Our Navy Lads

(Editor Mail and Advocate)
Dear Sir,—I beg to enclose, herewith, a copy of a letter from the Chairman of the "Newspapers for the Fleet Committee" of the London Chamber of Commerce, addressed to the St. John's Board of Trade, and am instructed by the Council of this Board to state that they will be extremely grateful if you will give publicity to the fact that a subscription list is being started in the Board of Trade Rooms, and that donations towards the object referred to in the accompanying pamphlet will be gladly received by the Secretary of this Board and forwarded to the Treasurer of the "Newspapers for the Fleet Committee" in London.
The object is clearly one, that, despite all other calls, for assistance should, and I feel sure it will, appeal to all Newfoundlanders, especially in view of the numbers of their own sailors now serving with the British Navy.
You will no doubt be able to condense the matter contained in the accompanying letter and pamphlet sufficiently to make the object of the fund clear to the public by a short reference.
Thanking you in anticipation,
Yours very truly,
ERNEST A. PAYN,
Secretary-Treasurer.
Oxford Court,
& 97 Cannon St.,
London, E.C.
May 5, 1916.

The Secretary,
St. John's Board of Trade:
Dear Sir,—On behalf of this Committee, which was established by the Chamber shortly after the outbreak of the War, under the authority of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and has since carried the work on in close co-operation with that Department, I venture to invite the support of your Chamber to the work which the Committee is doing in supplying newspapers and periodicals to the men of the Grand Fleet.
Thanks to the generosity of individual members of this chamber and the general public, the Committee have furnished daily supplies to over 400 war vessels, as well as to various units, including mine-sweepers, Naval Hospital Ships and Naval Base Hospitals, representing in all, up to date, about 250,000 packets containing nearly 10,000,000 papers, magazines, periodicals, and books.
There have also been sent writing materials, playing cards, and about 100 gramophones and 14,000 gramophone records.
For your information I enclose a few copies of a reprint from the "Morning Post" in which the work of the Committee is described.
This service has been greatly appreciated by Admiral Sir John Jellicoe and by the Officers and Men of the Fleet, and has also had the gracious approval of Their Majesties the King and Queen, and of Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, who have all subscribed to the Funds of the Committee.
Special mention should be made of the fact that the Committee have been greatly assisted in their operation by the Proprietors of Newspapers and Periodicals, who have most generously provided a large number of free copies. Owing, however, to the restricted import of paper and paper-making material and the consequent rise in prices, the leading newspapers are not able to continue these voluntary supplies. The Committee is, therefore, now obliged to purchase large quantities of newspapers which hitherto have been obtained free of charge.
For this purpose and also to meet the necessary expenses of packing, delivery &c. larger funds are now needed, as, otherwise, supplies on the same scale as hitherto cannot be maintained.
In these circumstances it has occurred to my Committee that Overseas Chambers of Commerce, whose appreciation of the efforts of the Navy will be fully equal to our own, might be willing to co-operate in carrying on the work during the remainder of the War.
It should be mentioned that the London Chamber has provided accommodation for carrying on the work of the Committee, both as to packing rooms and offices, and has kept the Committee's accounts free of charge.
I shall therefore be obliged if you will bring the matter before the governing body of your Chamber, or such individual members as may be disposed to assist us, by forwarding subscriptions to the Honorary Treasurer, Mr. Lionel A. Martin, at this address.
I am, Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
(Sgd.) F. FAITHFULL BEGG,
Chairman of the Committee.

kind of a voyage it will be. The King's from Trinity, the well known fish killers, have done fair to date, having taken about three qts. this morning.
The F. P. U. store is well patronized by the folks around and we hope such success will be kept up all through the coming season.
Friend Orastus Vokey, from Pope's Harbor, who was here on business, paid a visit to the F. P. U. store and had a look at its surroundings, and was quite pleased with it.
An F. P. U. meeting will be held to-night, although quite a number of our friends are gone to St. John's we expect a fair attendance.
We wish President Coaker and the F.P.U. every success.

The schr. Unionist, Capt. Jonathan Miller, left this morning for St. John's taking a general cargo of lumber and fish, etc. She will also bring some goods for the F. P. U. store here.
The schrs. Abednego and Orange Blossom are getting ready for the City and will leave to-night if weather is favorable.
Just a sign of fish is taken from traps and the handliners get a few. Although quite a number of our friends are gone to St. John's we expect a fair attendance.
We wish President Coaker and the F.P.U. every success.

He—One thing is sure, I don't intend to be criticized and censured because I failed to realize your expectations.
She—You misunderstand me completely. All I have done is to express my conviction that you have more than justified my fears.

Another Popular Experienced Business Man Appreciates

DAYTON MONEYWEIGHT SCALES.

MR. HENRY COFFIN, No. 16 New Gower Street, has just received one of the latest style DAYTON MONEYWEIGHT SCALES. Mr. Coffin has made a success of his business by careful attention to every little detail. Coffin's Sausage and Pork is known to be of uniform quality and excellence at all times.
If any-one doubts that Mr. Coffin uses the greatest care in selecting Meats for his Customers, just let some-one try to sell him a Hog that is not of A-One quality, or which has been fed on fish, and see what happens.
Next to the quality of his goods, Mr. Coffin finds that an Absolutely Accurate Scale is the most important. Mr. Coffin's Customers can now be sure of getting carefully selected Pork and Sausage Manufactured with extreme care, and Weighed on the finest Weighing Machine in the World.
Mr. Coffin is planning further improvements to make his Shop up to date in every respect. Thousands of Butchers, and Merchants, have had the same experience as Mr. Coffin, and all agree that a Shop cannot be up to date or run to the best advantage without a Computing Scale of the very best Type.
