OR York returned to the charge. The facts are that the Crown has not got the title to the wharf; that the title remains vested in the company; and that this company executed an agreement whereby it gave the Crown the right of way over the wharf and allowed it to levy tolls upon all vessels other than those of the company use the wharf, so that the right to levy tolls does not amount to much.
"It is a sham agreement," says Mr.
Crocket. But what is a sham agreement beside this beautiful example of extreme smoothness?

Papers Wanted Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 22—At the session of the house this afternoon, Deputy Attorney-General Woods was taken to task by Insurgent Leader J.
R. Boyle, for not bringing down all the papers in connection with the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway.
Deputy Woods stated that the papers were private, and should not be brought down, Attorney-General Cross, stated before the House was aware that all the papers had not been brought down, that all the files in his department were open to inspection by the house. Unless the papers are brought down this afternoon, Boyle and Cushing will not deliver their addresses dealing with the Waterways Railway. If they are, Mr. Boyle will speak today, followed by Premier Rutherford. It is not expected that Mr.
Cushing will speak before Thursday or Friday. A question asked by Mr.
Bennett regarding the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern railway and the Great Waterways Co., regarding bond issues and construction of lines was answered evidently satisfactory to the leader of the Opposition.

MEN'S FUR LINED COATS, COON COATS, SHEEP SKIN COATS AT WRECK PRICES.

The above is an exact reproduction of the wreck as seen by the camera the day after we closed the deal with the railway people for nearly $20,000 worth of Canada's best merchandise. IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF. It would take an entire newspaper to describe in words the above calamity as seen here at a glance. We have been looking for an opportunity of this kind and our buyer was fortunate enough to secure these goods from the claims agent. Over two carloads of merchandise, consisting of clothing, furs, shoes, hats, caps, rain coats, gents furnishings and ladies' goods.

Bought at 49c on the Dollar

Our store will be closed the 22nd to 25th to arrange this stock and have it properly marked. The sale commences Saturday morning, Feb. 26th at 8 o'clock and will last for ten days only. Every dollar's worth of regular stock, as well as the salvage will be sold at prices never before approached by any reliable concern any place.
$55,000 worth of the best winter and spring goods is what we have to offer. BEAR IN MIND the goods we are offering are from the best manufacturers and in most instances are as spick and span as when they left the factories. Some are damaged by snow and exposure to the weather.
