Canadian Cheese.

About 12 years ago says Professor Robertson, Canadians adopted a systematic plan of cheesemaking, thus producing a uniform quality, which found favor in the British markets. Of late the taste of the British consumers has changed, and the demand now is for a mild flavored cheese. It is necessary to cater to this demand, if the market is to be retained, and the cheese makers cure their cheese at a low temperature their trade will decrease. The curing room ought to be kept at 61 or 62 degrees F. A warm curing room makes the cheese strong. If the temperature of the curing room goes up to 90 degrees the curing will be weakened in the cheese. There will be awakened in the cheese dormant life, which cannot be easily killed. Some makers have one stove in the curing room, and the result is that the cheese near the stove roasts, while the temperature at a distance from the stove is allowed to go down to 50 or 40 degrees F. Improvement in the curing room is needed and a uniform temperature should be maintained. Double doors and windows should be put on and kept on all summer. The walls and floors should be made tight and close by two thicknesses of building paper and one thickness of tongue-and-groove lumber. An old time to kill the fungus growth. A curing in the cellar, properly ventilated, would make a good curing room, and the cheese would not sweat.

On Thursday afternoon last Mrs. Daniel Davidson died at her home, Hard Island, aged 91 years. Deceased was a native of Glasgow, Scotland, and when young came to this country with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Atkinson. She was a woman of remarkable vitality and an untiring worker, and up to a short time before her death was able to do considerable work for herself and her husband, who has been totally blind for a number of years. She is survived by her husband, three daughters, a son, and a half sister, Mrs. Jane Stack of Athens. The funeral on Saturday was largely attended. Service was conducted in the Methodist church by Rev. E. W. Crane.

Sabbath School Picnic.

Charleston Lake and environments, the scene of so many happy gatherings, supplied all that was necessary for the full enjoyment of two large parties from Athens on Saturday. Early on that day a team conveyed the children and friends of the Anglican and Presbyterian Sabbath schools to the lake, the former to Warren's bay and the latter to Lake View Cottage, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson.

The grounds surrounding Lake View are admirably adapted to secure the enjoyment of such a gathering at that of Saturday. As the view of the lake, and to the west the grounds slope gently through a beautiful grove to a sandy beach. Everything possible was done by teachers and parents that could add to the enjoyment of the children and they had a really good time.

Warren's bay is a favorite with picnic parties. There is an abundance of shade with grassy levels and slopes, broken at intervals with jutting rocks of a variety of forms. At the apex of the bay the water is quite shallow, and here the little ones had a "jolly spend-it" wading, splashing and swimming to their heart's content. The pleasure of all was much enhanced by the kindness of Mr. W. G. Parish, who placed his yacht at the disposal of the party and frequent trips were made among the islands.

Altogether the day was delightful, and it was a treat but supremely happy lot of children that left their respective picnic grounds and rode home in the early twilight of what had been a perfect June day.

A Triplet girl sent a dollar to a smart New Yorker for a "sure cure" for freckles. This is the receipt: "Freckles cured with a pocket knife; soak them over night in salt water; then hang up in the smoke-house in a good strong smoke made of saw dust and slippery elm bark for a week. Freckles thus treated never fail to be thoroughly cured."

An exchange describes an amusing fishing trip. "The Wonderful Hat" Take three pieces of bread (or any other eatable) and three hats. Place the three pieces of bread on a table and hat, and taking the piece of bread that is not touched by the fish, convey the annual excursion over the railway and through the far-famed Thousand Islands to the T. I. on Saturday July 28. This is one of the most delightful trips that can be made on this continent. For particulars, see bills.

Napanee is again to the front with a sensation, this time furnished by the ladies. Two of them, both young ladies, were out in the country one day last week, and for a wager of $1 each one dozen eggs for dinner, besides the usual quantity of pork, potatoes, and other trimmings. They took a nap in the afternoon and were ready for tea with the usual appetite. My! what a swathe that pair would cut at a harvest dinner.

The new fishery regulations of the Ontario government appear in the third page of this issue. The area which the fishery may allow his power to roam is being gradually narrowed down so that he will soon be confined to telling of the size and number of fish that he has taken. Thus are the ancient rights and privileges of anglers being taken away from them without compensation. Apparently, it will soon be contrary to law for a fisherman to carry a cork-screw.

According to the provisions of the Truancy Act it is unlawful for children between the ages of eight and fourteen years to absent themselves from school when not indisposed. The failure of parents to comply with the law is punishable by a heavy fine, and any employing children of school age during school hours is liable to a fine of $20 in each case.

The sparrow has not turned out to be the bird he was cracked up to be. When he was brought to this country he was supposed to be one of the greatest grub and insect eaters ever known, but now when he might be of immense service in destroying the hordes of caterpillars he seems to have lost his appetite for grub of that sort.

An exchange this week contains the following words: "If you want to fight shy of the mosquito, throw a bit of alum—about the size of a marble—into a small bowl of water, and wet the hands and face and any exposed parts highly with it. Not a mosquito will approach it. They hum about a little and disappear."

A fresh counterfeit coin has been put in circulation. It is a fifty-cent Newfoundland coin and is a very excellent imitation. It may be distinguished from the true coin by the fact that it is lighter, has a less ringing tone when sounded, and has also a rather greasy touch when handled. The new counterfeit has in other respects all the features of the original, and is very difficult to detect.

On the eve of her marriage, Miss Ida Hecock, a report of whose nuptials appears in last week's Report, was waited on by Messrs. W. H. Jacob and Dr. Peak, Master and Secretary respectively of the local Orange society, who, in behalf of the lodge, presented her with an address expressing the members' appreciation of her worth and their gratitude for her work in the past. This is one of the most handsome gifts that can be made on this continent. For particulars, see bills.
