Explaining the Game.

"Would you like to attend the baseball game this afternoon?" asked the city girl of her country cousin who was visiting her.

"Indeed I would," was the reply. "I never saw a game in my life. How is it played?"

"I'll explain it to you," said the fair hostess. "You see it is a game in which grace and skill predominate.
The thrower—or pitcher—a dear little fellow, stands in the middle of the block and throws a ball at another who stands on one corner with a huge cane in his hands. The thrower tries to hit the cane and the other young man tries to swing the cane so that it will be impossible for the thrower to hit it with the ball. Some of the knockers can't get their canes out of the way quick enough and when they get hit they have to drop the cane and play bat around the block but most of the darlings can stand there and never get their canes hit once. The handsome fellow who wears a silver-plated toilet case and stands just behind the knocker is called the catcher.
He is just too delightfully brave for anything. We girls just dote on the catcher; he's so awfully cute and heroic."

LIGHTS FOR NESTS.

Some Peculiar Habits Practised in the World of Songdom.

The Baya Bird li his its Nest by Sticking Fire Flies on its Sides With Clay or Soft Mud

Many birds suspend their nests from the branches of trees, one of the most curious nests of that kind being that of the bay bird of India. It is hung from the branch, with its opening at the bottom, and hangs like an inverted bottle, secure from the approach of tree snakes and other reptiles. The most curious thing about the bay bird is that it is said to light up its nest by sticking fireflies on its sides with clay or soft mud. There seems to be little doubt of the fact.

Dr. Buchanan says: "At night each of the habitations is lighted up by a firefly stuck in the top with a piece of clay. The nest consists of two rooms.
Sometimes there are three or four fire-flies, and their blaze in the little cells dazzles the eyes of these birds."

Perhaps other animals are scared off by the bay bird's electric light, since a writer in Nature records this curious observation: "I have been informed on safe authority that the Indian bottle bird protects his nest at night by sticking several of these glow beetles around the entrance by means of clay, and only a few days back an intimate friend of my own was watching three rats on a roof rather of his bungalow.
When a glow fly lodged very close to them, the rats immediately scampered off."—Our Dumb Animals.

Broken Commandments.
The brilliant young preacher, when he makes his parochial calls, endeavors to cultivate an acquaintance with the development of the younger minds, thus after a fashion keeping tab upon his Sunday school teachers.

The other afternoon, while he was waiting in the drawing room of a beautiful Cass avenue residence for the delayed appearance of Elsie's mamma, he was entertained by the little daughter herself. Taking her upon his lap, he began a review of the church lessons that had been given to the little maid of 5.

"Can you tell me, Elsie, how many commandments there are?"
"Yes, sir; seven or eight."

"Oh, no, dear; there are ten."

"Yes, I know there used to be, but I heard papa tell mamma yesterday that he had broken two or three of them at least, and that would leave only seven or eight, you know."—Detroit Free Press.

The Sex of Ships.
The word "ship" is masculine in French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese and possesses no sex in Teutonics and Scandinavian. Perhaps it would not be an error to trace the custom of feminizing ships back to the Greeks, who called them by feminine names, probably out of deference to Athena, goddess of the sea. But the English speaking sailor assigns no such reasons. The ship to him is always a lady, even though she be a man-of-war. She possesses a waist, collar, stays, laces, bonnets, ties, ribbons, chains, watches and dozens of other distinctly feminine attributes.—Collier's Weekly.

Gold.
Twenty-four carat gold is all gold; 22 carat gold has 22 parts of gold, 1 of silver and 1 of copper; 18 carat gold has 18 parts of pure gold and 3 parts each of silver and copper in its composition; 12 carat gold is half gold, the remainder being made up of 3 parts of silver and 8 parts of copper.

"The blood is the life." Science has never gone beyond that simple statement of scripture. But it has illustrated that simple statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge.
When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. No one can be well balanced in mind and body whose blood is impure. No one can live the blood is pure. Foul blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the blood is pure, body and brain are alike healthy and life becomes a daily happiness.

THE CAUSE REMOVED.
In curing disease it's only a waste of time to treat the symptoms. The medicine must reach the cause. Mer-rill's System Tonic does this. It purifies the blood, builds up the system, strengthens the nerves and is the only positive cure known for Constipation, Dyspepsia, Nerve Troubles, Kidney Diseases—all diseases when it is taken. Cures in weeks' treatment for 50c. Sold at the Central Drug

HE GOT THE JOB.

Won it Because of his Experience on the Fur Road in Alaska.

He Related his Former Troubles in Full to the General Manager.

This railroad story comes from Texas.
It is said that a big, rawboned, rough looking fellow walked into the office of a certain railroad general manager, and after passing a crude sort of greeting, said:

"I want to get a job."
"At what—railroad work?" asked the general manager.

"Yes."
"What can you do?"
"Anything. Been railroading all my life."

"Where did you work last?"
"With the Fur road in Alaska."
"Fur road? What road is that?"

"Well, I tell you. A few years ago I was working in this country, and the gold fever in the Yukon district broke out. I knew I couldn't be much worse off there than I was here, so I started out. I didn't have much money, and when I got to Dawson City I was pretty close to the cloth and had to go to work and get a job with this road I was telling you about. They promised me $100 a month, and at the end of the first 30 days, when I went to the paymaster's office, they pitched me out ten skins. I made a 'holler,' but when I noticed that all the others were being paid in the same coin I took the skins and started down the street. At the first winehop I struck I stopped to take a drink, and when I swallowed I pitched over one of these skins. The barkeeper looked at me rather funny and said, 'Here, is that the smallest you've got?' I told him yes, and he pitched the skin over to a porter and told him to go out and get it changed.
The porter was gone an hour, and when he returned he counted me out 408 little skins, and I had to hire an express to get my salary down to the boarding house."

"Here," broke in the general manager.
"Go down yonder in the yards and tell the yardmaster I said give you a job."

And he got the job.—Memphis Scim-lar.

Washington Streets.
Said a Washington man: "While the naming of the streets in Washington is simple and easy to follow to residents, the stranger it is most confusing, owing to the way in which the avenues cut diagonally across the numbered and lettered streets and these streets calmly move a half a block away before again taking up their line of march. If a stranger, say, was going up Fifteenth street, where he got to K, through the street, swings there slightly to the right and proceeds on a different angle, he would undoubtedly continue all the way to the end of the street, and in Fifteenth street, whereas he is really going to the north, while the real Fifteenth street is half a block northward.
That's as plain as I can make it, and about the only thing it really seems to explain is how very confusing our streets really are."

Two Opinions.
Curiously enough, both the advertisements appeared in a daily paper on the same day:
Lost—A lady's purse, seal brown in color, inlaid gold ornamentation, gold clasp, gold and enamel medallion on side, and containing a small sum of money.
Reward by returning purse to Mrs. A. H. H.
Found—A lady's purse, brown, with brass trimmings, initials A. H. H. Contains one tram ticket, two pennies, nineteen samples of material, recipe for making furniture polish, list of toilet preparations, five corn plaster and a box of lip salve. Owner can have the same by applying to B. W. street—London Answers.

Hard to Decide.
Smithers—I am going to have my picture taken by a good deal depends upon the pose, don't you know. Now, what kind of a position do you think would be the best for me?
Brownrigg—Well, I don't know. I was going to say with your back to the camera, but then your hair is rather thin behind.—Boston Transcript.

able Boarder.

body's best girl ever wore a suit that cheap."—Indianapolis Journal.

For His Wife's Sake.
"Don't let Henrietta hear you allude to her as my better half," said Mr. Meekton behind his hand to the friend who had come to dinner.
"I understand. The expression is a trifle commonplace, not to say piebelian."

"Isn't that. But I wish you'd choose another fraction. It would annoy Henrietta vastly to have you think she was less than four-fifths, at the lowest calculation."—Washington

AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Robert B. Mantell will be at the Grand Opera House Saturday evening, March 17th, presenting his successful romantic drama, "The Dagger and the Cross." Probably no player of our country stands in greater favor than Robert Mantell. Since his advent as a star, he has been a continuous producer of those scholarly works which make the theatre a temple of art and education. Not only is he himself an able stage manager and sincere student, but he surrounds himself with actors of acknowledged ability; his mountings are finished and correct, and his ensemble of presentations perfect. He carries a large equipment and costumes his plays with marked taste and fidelity. Shakespeare, of course, is his great master; but, acknowledgeing the ability of the modern writers, he selects from the best, Dumas, d'Ennery and Sardou are his favorite authors; their works have received conscientious care and have never been better presented in this country. The events with which the Dagger and the Cross is concerned are romantic in the highest degree, and are given the setting of England in 1666, a place and time having the picturesque character calculated to touch the imagination and stir the blood. The company which Manager Hanley has engaged to support his star is said to be the strongest with which he has ever been surrounded.

Seven-ten Years of Torture.
"I had a bad cough for seventeen years," writes Mrs. Sam'l Hamilton, of Lawville, Tenn. "No doctor or Discovery for Consumption, which did me more good than all other medicine I ever used. It is truly a grand cure for stubborn Coughs, Colds and Throat and Lung troubles." Positively cures Consumption, Pneumonia, Grip, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever and Whooping Cough. Price 50c. and $1.
