

OUTSIDE CENTRES

They are Crowding the Collegiate for Honors in Advanced Work.

In an interview with a Planet representative, Inspector Park gave some interesting information in regard to the number of pupils who tried the departmental examinations at the different centres.

At the C. C. I., fifty pupils wrote on part one junior leaving, or junior matriculation. Of these 32 were from the C. C. I., and 18 from outside points.

Twenty-four tried the part two, junior leaving examinations. All of these were from the C. C. I.

Three tried the part one, senior leaving only, and one wrote on the whole senior leaving examination and four wrote on honor matriculation. One pupil Chas. D. Farquharson, wrote on the scholarship examination.

Twelve students wrote on the commercial diploma examinations.

At Wallaceburg 26 wrote on the part one junior leaving and junior matriculation. Nine wrote on the junior leaving examination part two, and three wrote on the matriculation examination, part 2.

At Dresden 25 wrote on part 1, jr. leaving.

At Tilbury 20 wrote on part one junior leaving.

At Merlin, 12 wrote on this examination, and at Wheatley nine wrote.

ORIENTAL SPLENDOR

Slowly he raised his hand, and his movement had all the ease and freedom of a polished Parisian. As he pointed a shapely hand, the diamond on his finger sparkled in the brilliant electric lights, and gracefully the gentleman continued, with his gestures, all was a scene of dainty colors and bright interior furnishings. From the introduction you might think that this was the description of a ball-room scene at the Waldorf Astoria, New York—but it isn't. It is merely a pen picture of what transpired in the store of The 2 T's the other day when one of the firm, was exhibiting his finely appointed gentlemen's furnishing business to a party of Americans who had come up to the city of Chatham, and incidentally the explaining the merits of the only Black and White front in the world.

A splendid new front was put in the store this spring. Above the plate glass Luxfer prism lights have been inserted. These made the store just as bright inside as out. The windows, too, have been all filled with beveled mirrors. One of the fine arts of successful advertising which The 2 T's have down to a science, is window dressing. Their splendid new show cases, made by John Piggott & Sons, are all electric lighted. The establishment has also been fitted throughout with guarded oak shelving, and new shelving of the same material. The floor has been tiled and a metallic ceiling constructed.

The 2 T's, Trudell and Tobey, are sole agents for the Mousch shirts. These garments are made by the largest shirt factory in New York. This firm purchase all their fine underwear in Saxony, Germany. The two proprietors are going to take turns about, one going over every year and the 2 T's intend in future to make all their large purchase of fine underwear and socks, after inspecting the stocks in factories in Germany.

The 2 T's sell the fine American hats which are the best on earth.

A large department of the store is devoted to the Slater shoe in all sizes, but in only two prices. "The only objection we have to the Slater shoe," said Mr. Trudell, "is that they wear so long that people don't come back often enough. Imagine wearing shoes for a year and longer."

New Method Clothing is specially adapted for all. The firm pride themselves on their beautiful triplicate mirror. This mirror shows the customer from any desired standpoint. The 2 T's feel so proud of the fit of their clothing, that they want their customers to see how the New Method clothing fits from every standpoint. To hold up the New Method trousers or any other trousers, the firm sells the Harris suspender, made by the greatest suspender factory in the world, and sold only by the 2 T's.

Local Briefs

Thomas Lailay spent yesterday in Detroit.

J. A. Stevenson, of London, was in the city today.

Miss Patterson, of St. Thomas, is visiting Mrs. Dan. Bardwell, Edgar street.

Fred G. Morley was the guest of Archie Park, Beverly Lodge, Erieau on Wednesday.

Miss Call, of Folkeville, Mich., is the guest of her uncle, Wm. McKenzie, Park avenue, west.

Duncan McKenzie was in the city yesterday, and took a new Park Bros. traction engine to his home at Mitchell's Bay.

Miss Cruickshank, John Blewett, and Mrs. Blewett and daughter Hazel are the guests of Mrs. W. W. Snider, Emma Street.

Quinn & Patterson have just received a stock of Fly Oil, which prevents flies from sticking on horses and cattle in the field.

For anything in the harness line or horse furnishings, go to Quinn and Patterson's, they have the best stock of these goods in the city.

Mayor Sulman and Barrister Pike called at this office yesterday morning. The Mayor says that Trustee Heyward's arithmetic is wrong and advises him to get a new one at the Bechive at once, before he makes any more errors.—Growler.

The powder puff may help to hide the ravages of time but it avails little to hide the ravages of disease. When the face is disfigured by eruptions, the treatment must go below the surface to the blood, which is corrupt and impure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disgusting eruptions which are caused by impure blood. It cures scrofulous sores, erysipelas, boils, pimples, eczema, salt-rheum and other eruptive diseases which impure blood breeds and feeds.

"I was troubled with eczema from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet," writes Mrs. Ella Quick, of Cass City, Texas. "I could not walk at times for wear my shoes. Thought there was no help for me—at least the doctor said there was none. I went to see friends at Christmas time and there heard of the good that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery had done for them, and was advised to try it at once. For fear that I might neglect it, my friend sent to the village and got a bottle and made me promise that I would take it. I had been getting worse all the time. I took thirteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and ten vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and used 'Anti-Itching Salve,' which made a complete cure. It was slow, but sure. I was taking the medicine about eight months."

"I would say to all who read this; try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery before wasting time and money."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less inferior medicines. He gains; you lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

THE HOLY CITY.

Jerusalem Still Remains a Great Fortress of Middle Ages.

Jerusalem is literally "beiled upon its own heap." Below the houses, courts and paved streets of the present unkept city are the distinguishable remains of eight older cities—those of Solomon, Nehemiah, Herod, Hadrian, Constantine, Omar, Godfrey, Saladin, Suleiman—writes Walter Williams from the Holy City to his paper in Columbia, Mo.

Jerusalem has been besieged twenty-seven times, a record of vicissitude unparalleled in the history of the world's cities. It has been burned, sacked, razed to the ground, its inhabitants of every faith put to the sword, all the woes uttered by its own prophets against it have come to pass, yet Jerusalem still resembles a great fortress of the middle ages. Seen from the Mount of Olives, its massive gray walls, its flat roofed houses, its mosques and churches with their conspicuous towers and minarets, present a marvellous picture, beautiful, sublime, un fading, from the picture gallery of the mind.

The city itself has narrow, dirty streets. The water supply for its 70,000 people comes in a four inch pipe. The open courts are few and small, and the houses are bunched together with regard for room or cleanliness. Some houses are underground and others on top of the high inclosing walls. The people are fanatical, ignorant, selfish. There is much to detract from the ideal city, but despite all this and more Jerusalem from the Mount of Olives is the same in its essential details, the same in the framework of its setting, the same in fascinating suggestion, as the Jerusalem of which David sang and over which Jesus wept.

Points About a Good Horse.

There are some points which are valuable in horses of every description. The head should be proportionately large and well set on. The lower jaw bones should be sufficiently far apart to enable the head to form an angle with the neck, which gives it free motion and a graceful carriage and prevents it bearing too heavily on the hand. The eye should be large, a little prominent, and the eyelids fine and thin. The ear should be small and erect and quick in motion. The top ear indicates dullness and stubbornness. When too far back, there is a disposition to mischief.

Knowledge and timber should not be much used until they are seasoned.

A man has to be a financier to pass off a hard luck story as collateral for a loan.

would scour their faces with brickbats, but thousands of persons do things infinitely more foolish.

The skin of the face, though delicate, is rhinoceros hide compared with the mucous membrane of the stomach and bowels.

Yet these sensitive organs are constantly scourged with drastic medicines, to their incalculable injury.

IRON-OX TABLETS

A Game of Leapfrog.

Napoleon Bonaparte, as is well known, was in the habit of walking with his arms crossed upon his chest and his head slightly bent forward. Isabeau, the painter, was at Malmaison, and he and some of the first consul's aide-de-camp were having a game of leapfrog on the lawn. Isabeau had already jumped over the heads of most of them, when at the turning of a path he espied the last player, who, in the requisite position, seemed to be waiting for the ordeal. Isabeau pursued his course without looking, but took his flight so badly as only to reach the other's shoulder, and both rolled over and over in the sand.

To Isabeau's consternation, his supposed fellow player turned out to be Bonaparte, who got up, frowning at the mouth with anger, and drawing his sword, pounced upon the unfortunate artist. Isabeau, luckily for himself, better at running than at leaping, took to his heels and, jumping the ditches dividing the property from the highroad, got over the wall and never stopped until, breathless, he reached the gates of the Tuilleries.

Isabeau, it was added, went immediately to Mme. Bonaparte's apartments, and she, after having laughed at the mishap, advised him to lie low for a little while.

Cemeteries Where Women Gossip. Friday, the Sabbath of the Moslems when all true believers of the masculine gender make a point of going to church, their wives, sisters, and daughters resort to the cemeteries and wall for the dead. But all their time is not spent in weeping, and sorrow is not the only emotion they display on these occasions. They take with them bunches and garlands of flowers and decorate the graves of their relatives and pray and weep over the dead for a time. Then, when this pious duty is performed, they gather in little groups and have a good time gossiping about the living.

Thus the day of mourning is very popular among the Moslem women. It gives them almost the only opportunity they have of cultivating the acquaintance of their neighbors, because it is not customary to exchange visits as in our country.

Different Kinds of Feet. As to national characteristics in feet, it may be said that the French foot is narrow and long. The Spanish foot is small and elegantly curved—thanks to its Moorish blood—corresponding to the Castilian's pride of being "high in the instep." The Arab's foot is proverbial for its high arch. The Koran says that a stream of water can run under the true Arab's foot without touching it. The foot of the Scotch is high and thick, that of the Irish flat and square, the English short and fleshy. When Athens was in her zenith, the Greek foot was the most perfectly formed and exactly proportioned of that of any of the human race. Swedes, Norwegians and Germans have the largest feet, Americans the smallest. Russian toes are "webbed" to the first joint. Tartarian toes are all the same length.

Queer Coronation Custom. One of the most extraordinary gifts made on the coronation day of Edward I. was that of 500 horses, which had been used by the royal princes and other personages in the procession to Westminster abbey. These horses, all richly caparisoned and harnessed just as they were, were let loose into the very midst of the mob after the benediction in Westminster hall that always succeeded a coronation in those days. The people in the streets were permitted to catch the animals, and to him who caught a horse it and its appointments belonged.

A Momentous Game. "How is your story going to end?" asked the publisher, who had dropped in to see the gifted author.

"That will be decided by the poker game I'm going to play this evening," said the gifted author. "If I win, the story will end with the hero and heroine marrying and everybody happy. If I lose, I shall kill off the hero, send the heroine to a nunnery and fill the last chapter just as full of misery as it can stick."

His Only Chance. Kindly Old Gentleman—Why do you carry that umbrella, little boy? It's not raining.

"No, sir."

"And the sun's not shining?"

"No, sir."

"Then why do you carry it?"

"Well, when it's raining pa wants it, and when the sun's shining ma wants it, and it's only this kinder weather I can get to use it at all."

Winning Her Papa. She—When you go to ask papa, the first thing he will do will be to accuse you of seeking my hand merely to become his son-in-law.

He—Yes? And then—

"And then you must agree with him. He's a lot prouder of himself than he is of me."

The Chief End. "What," inquired the student, "do you regard as the chief end of man?"

"Well," answered the professor, "it depends upon what you want the man for. If you want him to do brain work it's his head, and if you want him to run errands it's his feet."
