CORRESPONDENCE

UNSIGHTLY

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Dear Sir.—There has been given through the columns of the press considerable publicity as to the desirability of attracting the tourist business to our town.

Wolfville has in many ways responded nobly and almost everyone who visits our town goes away loud in its praise.
A month or more ago some letters appeared in your valuable paper advocating the proposed road from Highland Avenue to Gaspereau Avenue and urging as one of the chief reasons the beautiful view to be obtained from such a road and the attraction it would be to tourists.

A few days ago a visitor to our town was shown over the route of the proposed street and while charmed with the distant view was utterly disgusted with the foreground of the picture. He could not understand why the people of the neighbourhood and the citizens of the town as a whole should allow these unsightly piles of old lumber to remain undisturbed throughout the tourist season. As he truly quoted, "Where every prospect pleases and only man is vile".

I understand that a petition to the Town Council is now being circulated. May I ask for its favorable consideration.

E. PERCY BROWN

MORE INFORMATION WANTED

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN.
Dear Mr. Editor.—I am flattered by the reply by the Town Manager to my letter of the 3rd inst. in your columns—all the more so because a busy man like Mr. Stairs could hardly be expected to reply to anonymous communications. A further reference to my letter, I think, will indicate that such a concession on the part of the manager was not contemplated. No one presumed that the specifications for the sidewalk had been prepared without full consideration, and the work has progressed sufficiently to demonstrate pretty well as to the policy regarding excavations. It was not necessary that the time of a busy man should be occupied in re-stating in words what had already been made apparent in action.

What was hoped for was that some of the citizens whose judgment on such matters should, because of past experience, be of value, and who have not hesitated in criticizing the present method of work, might state fully their grounds for so doing.

Wolfville is only beginning to lay concrete sidewalks which will eventually be extended to other parts of the town. I understand that in some sections soil conditions are far more favorable than in others. Because of the excellent drainage facilities which Main Street is claimed to possess such work here, it is said, might be done at much less cost than in some parts of the town where the soil is of an entirely different character.

Experience, although a good teacher, is often an expensive one, as past operations here may well testify.

RANDOM COMMENT

Although the authorities of the Baptist church, so far as we know, have made no formal protest, it must be a source of annoyance that their grounds are made to serve as a thoroughfare for pedestrians. The saving in energy that is made by climbing the steps and crossing over the lawn, in place of keeping the sidewalk provided for the purpose and turning the corner cannot be very great, while the otherwise well kept grounds are sadly disfigured by the unnecessary and thoughtless trespass. A proper recognition of what is owing to the community would induce a very different attitude from what is lamentably but too commonly shown in relation to this and other public or semi-public institutions.

At the opening of a recent Sunday service the minister stated that while the front chairs were no more "penitent seats" than those in the rear they might be easily so considered. It is noticeable that Wolfville churchgoers display no inclination to crowd into the front seats. They are of a more retiring character and are not likely to experience the shame of being asked to occupy a more lowly place. The best seats—the front ones—are always reserved for strangers, and those who reach church after the services begin are not obliged as formerly to occupy the back row.

The interdenominational Sunday-school picnic is an institution of which Wolfville apparently has a monopoly among Nova Scotia towns. It has been held for three successive years with most favorable results and may prove a step towards what some citizens would like to see—a community Sunday School. At any rate the idea is a good one, and those who are responsible for its introduction and continuance are deserving of public thanks. Its success denotes a cordiality and fraternal spirit among the members of the different denominations which did not always exist in Wolfville and is unknown in some communities even now.

PHIL.

The first concert of the season by the Wolfville Band was much enjoyed last Thursday evening. A new bandstand was recently erected on the vacant lot between the telephone exchange and the store of Waterbury Co. Ltd., and the music was heard to much better advantage than last year. Another concert will be given tonight when it is expected that a large number will gather from the surrounding country to hear it.

DENTISTS IN SESSION

Nova Scotia Dental Association Holds Successful Convention.

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Nova Scotia Dental Association and Provincial Dental Board opened at eleven o'clock on Tuesday morning at the Science Building of Acadia University. This is the first time in recent years that the meeting has been held outside of Halifax. There was a good attendance of representatives of the profession from various parts of the province, and Dr. G. N. Stultz, of Halifax, the president of the association, who by the way is a former resident of Wolfville, was in the chair.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Dr. J. Stanley Bagnall, and the president's address, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Warren C. Oxner, Halifax; 1st Vice President, Dr. J. T. Roach, Wolfville; 2nd Vice President, Dr. J. Melanson, Yarmouth; Secretary, Dr. J. S. Bagnall, Halifax.

The afternoon session opened with the reading of reports of committees. Dr. Faulkner, of Halifax, read the report of the Provincial Dental Board. There were 204 names on the dental register at the beginning of the year. During the year, 52 names had been removed, by request, for nonpayment of dues and various other causes, while 23 were added.

Recommendations were made which, after some discussion, were approved. One that called for considerable discussion was to the effect that the board should no longer consider the examinations of Dalhousie University sufficient to admit a student to practise in Nova Scotia and, in lieu of this, the board should conduct its own examinations. More than an hour's heated discussion brought little agreement on this matter, but, finally, it was decided to accept this recommendation. Accordingly the entire report was accepted.

The report of the representative to the Dominion Dental Council of Canada, which was read by Dr. G. K. Thomson, was most interesting and profitable. Dr. Thomson also presented the report of the oral hygiene education committee.

It was decided that an invitation be extended to the Canadian Dental Society, now in convention at Vancouver, to hold their convention at Halifax in 1926. There was much discussion upon this motion, the arguments in its favor being that it would put Nova Scotia "on the map." A letter from Premier Armstrong endorsing this plan and promising to second the invitation was read.

The sessions were continued Wednesday morning when papers were read by Drs. MacKenzie and Bagnall. Dr. MacKenzie spoke on "Some phases of Dentistry for Children," and Dr. Bagnall on "Recent developments in partial denture prosthesis."

Following these an interesting discussion took place on matters of interest to the convention.

In the afternoon the guests were taken by motor to the Ken-Wo club, where a pleasant afternoon was spent.

REV. H. F. ADAMS KILLED

Rev. H. F. Adams, pastor of the First Baptist church at Clayton, N. J., died under tragic circumstances a few days ago, when he fell down a flight of stairs at the parsonage, fracturing his skull. Specialists were called to attend him but he failed to rally and expired 24 hours after the accident occurred. The deceased was about sixty years of age and is survived by a widow, (a daughter of the late W. S. Hooper of Fredericton), one son Douglas and two daughters, Elizabeth and Jean.

Rev. Mr. Adams was a native of the Old Country and studied for the ministry under the late C. H. Spurgeon. He had held pastorates at Halifax, Truro and Yarmouth. He was an eloquent and forceful preacher and his death will occasion deep regret to his many old friends in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Mr. Adams was well known here having been a resident of Wolfville for several years while his son, Frank, was attending Acadia. The latter was killed several years ago as the result of an explosion in a laboratory in which he was working.

"JEALOUS HUSBANDS" TENSELY DRAMATIC

Seldom does such a gripping and tensely dramatic story reach the screen as "Jealous Husbands", a First National picture, which is the feature at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. It was produced by M. C. Levee and directed by Maurice Tourneur from Mr. Levee's original story. The story revolves about the complications that follow the unfounded jealousy of Ramon Martinez, a wealthy San Francisco exporter. He gives his son to a band of Gypsies after having discovered by the boy's parentage aroused by the discovery of an unadmitted letter in his wife's purse—a letter sent to his sister by an unscrupulous admirer.

A thrilling automobile accident is the means by which his suspicions are proved to be false, and then began the heart-rending task of finding his boy. He travelled over continents and oceans, and when fate seemed to smile a pretender was foisted upon him. But the mother intuitively knew that the youth was not her real son and she solved the problem.

Earle Williams plays the part of Ramon; Jane Novak that of his wife, and Ben Alexander is cast as their son. Others in the supporting company are Don Marion, George Siegmund, Emily Fitzroy, Bull Montana and J. Gunnis Davis.

Judging from the conduct of some of the elders, the age of discretion is childhood.

The Bishop of London

Every year, and sometimes often, an English lady writes to a friend in Halifax asking her to buy and send a package of Moir's Chocolates which she presents to the Bishop of London.

Dainty as their name suggests—Baby Fingers, one of the newer Moir's Biscuits.

The United States Department of Agriculture states that bread is the "most palatable, nutritious, and convenient food for general consumption."

REGAN—CHRISTIE

The home of Mrs. Christina Christie was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday, July 12th, at 3 o'clock, when Evelyn Belle, chief operator of Telephone staff of Wolfville, became the bride of Bernard Revere Regan, son of Mrs. Ella Regan of Wolfville. The bride was charming in gown of white tulle and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations and sweetpeas with maiden hair fern. She was given in marriage by her mother, who wore a beautiful imported gown of grey crepe-de-chene. A beautiful arch of white roses and daisies by Dr. A. C. Chute. The witness, a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Regan, wearing white silk, carrying a basket of sweet peas, was flower girl. Both bride and groom were unattended. The wedding march was played by Miss Ceve Wyman, of Kentville. Mr. Edward Stackhouse added much to the beautiful service by his vocal solo, "The Voice that Breathed o'er Eden."

On the conclusion of the ceremony refreshments were served by Marguerite Christie, assisted by Mrs. A. Phinney, Mrs. Percy Anderson and Miss Lily James, of Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. Regan left on a motor trip to Chester and the south shore. The bride wore a travelling suit of sand, with hat to match. The popularity of bride and groom was shown by the numerous presents received. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring; to the little flower girl, a signet ring; pianist, an amethyst brooch; and soloist, a tie pin. On their return the happy couple will reside at Wolfville.

WELSH—SALSMAN

The Baptist church, Waterville, Hants Co., was the scene of the wedding on Tuesday, July 1st, Rev. R. S. Kinley, of Windsor, officiating, of Lois Ellen Salsman, daughter of Rev. A. W. Salsman, to Frank Corbet Welsh, of Wolfville. Fred Salsman acted as best man, while Mamie Salsman and Jack Carson were ushers. The church was prettily decorated with daisies and juniper. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Fred Salsman. Miss Rose Salsman, sister of the bride, gowned in a peach colored frock of organdy, was bridesmaid. The bride wore a frock of white crepe-de-chine with old lace trimmings, wearing a bridal veil of tulle, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Following the ceremony a reception was held at her father's home after which the happy couple left for Kentville on their way to P. E. I. After a tour of the Maritime Provinces, Mr. and Mrs. Welsh have returned and are residing at Wolfville. The guests from a distance were: Mrs. William Lunn, Tree Mills Plains; Mrs. Welsh, Wolfville; Mrs.
