Look! Read! Realize.

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, or the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor.

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!
We study the business! We know what suits a young man

On 279 Special Trains. C. G. Railways

Up to March 1st 757,400 Troops have travelled over Government Railways.

Thousands arrive each week at Halifax and are sent forward to Dispersal Areas.

Since the war began in 1914 up to March 1st, when S.S. Belgic disembarked her returned soldier passengers at Halifax 757,400 troops have been carried on special trains over the Canadian Government Railways.

The first train which carried troops over the Government Railways the year was declared was numbered one and all special troop trains to and from Halifax since that time have been numbered consecutively. The last train from the Belgic was on Saturday No. 1279. Each train averages about twelve cars with an average of 50 men to a car, which figures up a total of 757,400 men carried. Of course in addition to this thousands of soldiers have journeyed between Montreal and Halifax by regular trains during the past four years.

The movement of troops back to Canada is now approaching its greatest activity. Last Sunday 5000 arrived at Halifax by the transports Lapland and Belgic and fifteen special trains were despatched westward inside of fourteen hours.

S. S. Megantic with soldiers and dependants arrived Wednesday and S.S. Adriatic is due Sunday. The movement of returning men is to be kept up actively all summer.

Culture Of The Heart

The cultivation of tenderness of heart, which is pre-eminently a womanly virtue, is greatly neglected in our day, although it is as important as, and should go hand in hand with, purely mental culture. A woman who possesses merely mental culture has left the better side of her nature undeveloped.

Can you conceive a womanly ideal in which the innate disposition to make others happy is lacking? Has not the Creator implanted in woman, as one of His noblest gifts, this desire to do good and dispense charity? What does it mean to make others happy, to do good and dispense charity? Generally this question associates itself more or less with distribution of money. Many estimable people, however, are deprived on their earthly pilgrimage of the excess "baggage" of worldly wealth; are they, therefore, unable to minister to their fellowmen?

The Lord has perhaps, for prudent reasons, denied you temporal goods, but has given you freely treasures of heart and mind. Why not share these with your rich, but in this respect poor, brother? Sacrifice an occasional evening, though it mean quitting the cozy family circle. Visit the young woman whose whole treasure in life, her husband, has just been buried. Let her know how intensely you share her sorrow and that you understand its magnitude. If you succeed in awakening in her the thought of resignation, you will have accomplished more than if you had relieved the material needs of a poor person.

God has given you a joyous, cheerful disposition. Let it radiate joy to your ill friend, who, removed from the pleasures of life, is confined to her sick bed. Are you less rewarded by the smile which lights up the sufferer's face than by the thanks of hungry ones whom you have given to eat? In your neighborhood lives an old friend of your mother's. She is mourning the aberrations of a beloved son. Give her an hour and comfort her, persuading her that the prodigal son will return penitent and reformed. You may then liken yourself to the good samaritan who has poured oil and wine on her wounds.

The daughter of a friend of yours who died an early death is in boarding school or orphanage. The father has such long hours in the workshop that he cannot devote much time to the child. He has placed her in safe hands. But what do the drooping lips of the child tell you? What do you read in those wistful eyes? Go and satisfy the child's yearning for motherly sympathy. Talk to her of her departed mother, you know her.

Among your acquaintances is an elderly unmarried lady, whom some call a cross old maid. She is generally shunned. Of her it is said: "She has had many misfortunes and her embitterment can be easily accounted for—but why should we give her an opportunity to use her sharp tongue on us?" Owing to such treatment she naturally becomes more embittered. Why not try to stimulate the more amiable side of her nature by doing her a favor or showing her some attention? To place jingling coins in the hands of a needy one is a privilege denied you, but you might give this spiritually impoverished person the gold of a noble heart. If you restore her confidence in mankind you have given her a rich gift, indeed.

You know a widow who has seen better days. Death of her husband and breadwinner brought family privations. Perhaps you alone perceive the poverty which they are concealing from the world. Go to one of your well-to-do friends and plead their cause and be the medium for dispensing charity in a tasteful manner. Is this work of charity less deserving than if you had given from your own well-filled purse? Is it not a false position to take

Head Ached So Bad HAD TO GO TO BED.

When the liver becomes sluggish and inactive it does not manufacture enough bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste matter from the system, hence the bowels become clogged, up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and is followed by sick and bilious headaches, water brash, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, and painful internal, bleeding or protruding piles.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile so that it acts properly on the bowels, and a sure the sluggish liver into activity.

Mrs. E. Bainbridge, Amherst, N.B., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing you of the good I received by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for headache. I was so bad I had to go to bed, and could not sit up. A friend told me about your wonderful medicine, and two pills have made me as well as I can be."

what used to be the viceregal palace, but which now flies the standard of the new nation, suggested at once the French adjective, "chic." More than that, this new capital was brilliant with uniforms, Russian, Georgian, Armenian, British, and most picturesque of all, the Circassian costume, with its broad-shouldered, wash-waisted coat, high, heel-less boots, and astrakhan cap. One marvelled at the load of weapons that completed it; in sword rattling and clanking; with the wearer's stride, a brace of pistols, a pair of daggers, and a collection of what looked like enormous fountain pens hung across the Circassian bosom, but what turned out to be hollow tubes intended to be loaded with powder and shot. One must add stiff mustaches and a close-shaven skull to picture this Georgian in all his glory on the Golovinski prospect of his national capital. Clothing for civilians is scarce and expensive in Tiflis, but the cast-off uniforms of military officers are for sale, and many a citizen in need of a new suit had bought himself an old uniform.

Owing to the difficulties of railroad from the shortage of coal and from the reduction of the railroad force and equipment, many diocesan pilgrimages to Lourdes, in fulfillment of the vows made during the war, will have to be postponed.

"You claim there are microbes in kisses?" she asked the young doctor.

"There are," he said.

"What disease do they bring?" she asked.

"Palpitation of the heart."

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford says:—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box."

"So you think you are becoming near-sighted, do you?" said the optician.

"Yes I do," replied the tired business man.

"Because I can't see a dollar go near as far as I used to."

Tiflis Not Typical Of The East

Mr. Melville Chater, recording impressions in the National Geographical Magazine, admits that he was surprised when he arrived in Tiflis, the capital of the new Georgian Republic. He had expected a city more suggestive of the East, as the Western mind pictures it; but the Golovinsky prospect, the main thoroughfare through the heart of the city, stretched before him as handsome a bit of modern metropolitanism as can be found anywhere, and its restaurants, shops, opera, and
