THE FINANCIAL STRINGENCY RESPONSIBLE FOR CIVIC TROUBLES

Mayor and Aldermen Give an Account of Their Stewardship Before Public Meeting—The Tightness of Money Held to be Responsible for the Curtailment of Civic Improvements—The Question of New Telephone System Was Discussed—J. D. Blayne Strongly Criticizes the Civic Administration for Mismanagement of Public Works in Progress of Construction.

Saturday's Daily.
The Edmonton Opera House was packed to the doors last night at the municipal meeting called by Mayor Griesbach, at the instance of the City Council, to discuss the civic situation and to hear candidates for the aldermanic vacancy.

On motion, ex-Mayor K. W. Mc Kenzie was appointed chairman. On the platform besides Mayor Griesbach, were Aldermen Manson, Walker, and Picard and J. D. Blayne, candidate for the vacant seat.
J. D. Blayne, the candidate for the vacancy in the Council, was called upon to address the meeting, but when he took the platform he pointed out that he considered it would be fairer were he permitted to address the meeting after the Mayor and Aldermen had given an account of their stewardship. The justice of the claim was acknowledged by Mayor Griesbach, and he therefor opened the speech making, claiming however, the right to reply.

Mayor Griesbach Speaks.
In opening his first referred to the financial stringency. This is a thing of which we are all aware, and as individuals, feel the effect. The same conditions prevail not only in the cities of Canada, but in the United States as well. It is only a few days since the city of New York offered $20,000,000 of bonds for sale and only sold $2,000,000.

Despite these financial difficulties we will do much of the contemplated work. It is hoped, what we can pave all of Jasper, we can pave half while we can't pave three streets with carrolment. The reason for one, and while we can't lay all that sewer extension we can finish the trunk sewer extension in the west this year. We have an over draft now of $450,000 and are offering $500, 000 worth of debentures, the tender of which expires on August 31st, and from the number of inquiries received it is probable there will be a good job.

It was contemplated to spend about one million dollars this year in civic improvements. The amount of money has been curtailed, however, by about one-half, and as a result, about fifty per cent of the people will be dissatisfied in getting the work they expected.

This is a time when the criticism should be of the right kind. The commissioners have done their best and if errors have been made they have been made in good faith. In closing, the Mayor stated that he was here to answer any questions and desired to have an opportunity of making a reply at the close of the meeting.

Alderman Picard.
Ald. Picard said he had come more to hear the civic questions discussed than to speak. The meeting was the result of a motion he had made in the Council. He had seen that it was an interest. Some people seem to think that the City Commissioner and the City Council are responsible for the financial stringency. There has been a great deal of criticism of the commissioners, especially during the past month. The reason for this in great part is that the city government has not been able to grant all the work thought to be done because it has been impossible to finance all the contracts asked for. Who is to blame for this? It is the commissioners. because they thought their credit was unlimited and have, by the passing of every by-law submitted, asked too much. For this reason the speaker had himself voted against some of the works requested. If a teamster overloads a team, and they cannot haul, who is to blame—the teamster or the horses? (laughter and applause). The commissioners have been overloaded and the people themselves, who put the burden upon them are to blame. He did not contend that the city was running on "ball bearings." It hasn't reached that stage yet, but he hoped it soon would. Some people think the commissioners should be changed, but he would ask if the commissioners believed every few months, when will the city end. In private business such changes would not be made and the same rule will apply to municipal affairs. And what makes the application more pertinent to Edmonton is the fact that the city owns its public utilities. For example, the city has entered into a contract for a telephone system.

Some of the audience—Hear, Hear, Ald. Picard—"You may say 'Hear, 'Hear,' but I would ask if the men who cry 'Hear, Hear' own any property and have to pay taxes on it. This, however, was not true.

Money Wasted on Public Works.
The speaker concluded by stating that in the management of the city affair it was necessary to have men of experience and men who had a grasp of the works in progress.

Alderman Manson.
Ald. Manson in opening, stated that it was up to the citizens if they were not satisfied with the work done by the City Hall, to elect new men. The Council were trying to do their best and if their work was not up to what the citizens wished, the citizens themselves were to blame for putting the aldermen there. And with reference to these men, who said they would dismiss the commissioners, they were not in earnest about what they said, they were simply talking "hot air."

Dealing with the telephone system, he outlined his trip east about a month ago, to inspect the telephone system of Winnipeg, Chicago and other places. He said he was after examination, fully satisfied that the system in this city was not up to what was made by two Canadians! (applause). Why now is there such a rush in the city to get the telephone system now in the hands of the eleventh hour, when the city had already received a telegram that part of the plant shipped to the west were on the way to install it. Was it because a certain enterprising citizen had had the exclusive right here to install the telephone system and did not care to give it up?

Alderman Walker.
Ald. Walker was the next speaker.
His record, he said, had come out pretty well in the press and otherwise. There had been considerable criticism of the telephone system and other questions. The plant had been promised last spring, but it was not yet in the hands of the contractor.
He said he had gone to the telephone system and the financial situation in his return he made a statement that the telephone goods would be sore by the middle of the last of July. Last night Council meeting, in answer to a question, he had received no satisfaction as to when part of the plant would be shipped. All he knew was that the contractor had received that he saw at the city offices. Citizens could look at that and if they did not get the right kind of answer it was not satisfactory to him. The contract had not been kept by the company, and the resolution he moved at the last meeting of the Council and to which he still adhered was that the company had not kept the contract. He said he was sorry that the city was in such a like basis. All he wanted was a telephone system, and he wanted it quickly. Hundreds of people are waiting for the telephone system and he didn't care what system we got, but we want a good one and we want it quick. In his private opinion the Lorimer system was merely an experiment and it would not be satisfactory. He had been told that "big cars can't be choosers," but he had been told that Edmonton has as good a credit as any city in the west, and that such a credit was no trouble to get necessary goods. So far as "big cars" in the sense of the speaker was concerned, he knew nothing of that.
All he wished to do was to give the city the work thought to be done and this he would ever do.

Candidate J. D. Blayne.
Candidate J. D. Blayne referred to the large audience and the allusion of Ald. Picard to the city being a wagon and the Council and Commissioners as the horses. "And as I thought to myself while he was speaking, perhaps it was the horses with the long ears to which he referred."

The Financial Stringency.
Discussing the financial stringency the speaker pointed out that "while there was something in the question of a scarcity of money, in the case of individuals, some men at the present time in private business are in road circumstances, while others are financially embarrassed. So might it be with cities. He would not say the Council and Commissioners are not good men from a financial standpoint, but leave the audience to draw their own conclusions.

It was humiliating to the citizens to be told as some city officials had told them that we are on the verge of poverty. It had been said on the platform that the people themselves were to blame, but should a Council pass measures for public works when funds could not be found to finance them? But we are told that these works could have been done if the Council had not been so stupid. This,
however, was not true.

Works Cost Double Price.
We have been getting things for the city in almost every instance that are not worth half what has been paid for them. It has been said we are on the verge of poverty and can't pay for the telephone system, but included with the six hundred thousand dollars which it is said are sold, is the sixty thousand for the phone system. Also included in these debentures is the one hundred thousand for the G. T. T. which is not yet due. Surely with these sums in hand we can't yet be on the verge of poverty.

Bungling on the Sewers.
Discussing the installation of the sewers the speaker pointed out that no steps, such as water flushing, were being taken to make right joints, and he asserted that there were few tight joints in the system. No caulk has been used in the joints, and the Ald. Manson—"You were a paid officer of the city and why didn't you report this?"

Commissioners Not Competent.
The commissioners are not all to blame for this trouble for they don't know the difference. It is natural that a man in a law office should not know all about public works. (Applause and hisses).

Commissioners Exceed Duties.
The commissioners, in his opinion, had exceeded their duties. The citizen had voted upon certain streets for a street car line and these streets the Council had also endorsed. But this did not suit the commissioners, so they put off the work, apparently, till another Council was elected.

As a result, men were employed on McDougal avenue to do paving amid the greatest difficulties. And what was the reason brought in for the failure of the work being done on Nanay avenue? Because the trenches had to be filled again before the work could be done!

instance is the Isolation Hospital. In this, money had been lost to the city, it had to take over the work and is not yet completed. A third instance is the Telephone building, which drags slowly on with loss to the city, as there was no guarantee behind the contract. Had there been a guarantee behind this contract the city would have been protected, instead of now having it on their hands. But this is not all. Paving contracts, have been given out without a guarantee. On Jasper avenue eighty per cent was paid when the city did not get twenty per cent value. But this was not the result of a lesson, but Nanay avenue was done likewise.

"These," said the speaker, "are one of the causes of the financial stringency."
One of the audience—"Can you suggest a remedy?"
"If I could not devise a remedy, I would never again stand on a public platform." Another instance of mismanagement was the White Construction Co. contract. They, however, won't drop their work for there is a guarantee behind it, and this the hard earned money of the citizens will go to pay.

Works Cost Double Price.

of poverty.

Discussing the installation of the
being taken to make right joints, and
Ald. Manson—"You were a paid of-

know all about public works. (Applause and hisses).

The commissioners, in his opinion,
had exceeded their duties. The citi-

work could be done!

Appeals to Electors.
In closing the speaker offered himself as a candidate and requested the votes of the citizens if they thought he would do some measure of justice to their wishes.

A. H. Allan Asks Questions.
A. H. Allan rose, and, at the request of the audience, took the platform. He then proceeded to ask the Mayor some questions.
Mr. Allan: "What was the amount of the overdraft on local improvement debentures at the end of 1906?" The Mayor: "The overdraft at the end of December, 1906, on local improvement debentures was $855,000." Mr. Allan, continuing, inquired why these debentures were not sold early in the year when the debenture market was good. This, he said, was the whole crux of the financial stringency.

Debentures should be sold in the year in which the local improvements covered by the debentures are finished. In view of the Mayor's statement, he did not see that the financial situation was a bad one, as the stringency would soon verify its-self.

Electors Ask Questions.
An elector inquired why water mains were laid down on a street one week and taken up the next and laid on a second street.

The Mayor stated that his answer to this question was that he didn't know.

The same gentleman criticized the manner of the assessment and proceeded to ask a number of other questions, but the Mayor suggested that the interrogator come to his office next morning, and he would try to find out for him.

Another question followed, but the Mayor turned the laugh on the gentleman in the audience by stating that he was not a "walking encyclopedia." (Laughter).

Mr. McLean took the platform and inquired why the city had passed a by-law to purchase "turline steam engines," and also asserted that the profits from the purchase of the engines would be used for the purchase of the telephone system. The engineer was the most expensive the city had ever used. Where did the engineer and where did the council get the information on which to base their judgment?

The Mayor Replies.
The Mayor replied that he was not a lawyer and did not know as much as the elector about public works. Mr.
Blayne compared a corporation to an individual, but they are much different. The former never dies, can issue debentures which the future can pay. This individual cannot do so. The Mayor asserted that debentures were no losses on the contract to which Mr. Blayne referred. The speaker had never learned of sewer pipes being flushed with water. This might be done elsewhere, but it was not done here. With reference to the trunk sewer, the work was done in the high ground when it could and on the low ground when water conditions made it possible.
Speaking of the paving on McDougal avenue, the Mayor asserted that the upper part had been done on petitions from the ratepayers, as provided for in the by-law. The credit of a city was based upon the ratio of its indebtedness to its resources. In this connection, by the city charter, Edmonton has a long distance to go.
Referring to the telephone system, he said the big difficulty was that we couldn't get the money, not because our credit was not good, but because the banks have not the money.

Alderman Walker at this point made more clear his previous reference to this subject and said he was very glad Mr. Blayne had referred to the fact that the debentures sold was the $60,000 for the telephone plant.

The Mayor further said he had when the contract was awarded voted against the Lorimer automatic but the council prevailed. Now a contract has been executed, and the City would support, not because he was in favor of the Lorimer, but because a contract was a contract, and the credit of the city was at stake.

Referring more particularly to the resignation of Mr. Morrison, the Mayor read extracts from the exclusive interview in the Bulletin in which Mr. Morrison severely criticized the Lorimer system, and he asserted that Mr. Morrison had a different view last December. To prove he read a quotation from the last year's Journal, concluding his speech by a covert reference to the late city official's taking a position with a rival automatic telephone company.

Two Men at Soo Quarrel Over Haircut and Barber is now Dead.
Sault Ste Marie, Ont., August 16.— Edward Hynes, a barber here, became involved in a dispute with Thomas Ryan, a blacksmith, in the shop of the Windsor Hotel over a hair cut last night. On a challenge from Ryan the two men went outside to settle the differences.

A few minutes afterwards a number of men followed them out and ran across Hynes' dead body lying in an alleyway in the rear of the hotel.
The only mark on the body was a discoloration under the right eye.
Corner McClurg will open an inquest this morning. Ryan has been placed under arrest. The dead man resided here for several months, and formerly resided in the Michigan Soo.

EDWARD BLAKE ARRIVES.
Montreal, August 16.—Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., arrived in Montreal today from England, and leaves tonight for Toronto on the private car, Alberta. Mr. Blake, as a result of his recent stroke of paralysis, is unable to walk, but his son, Mr. Samuel Blake, who is travelling with him, states he hopes that the recovery of the voyage will, and mentally he is active as ever. Mr. Blake will take up his parliament residence in Toronto. He has not yet resigned his seat in the British House.

Are Cutting Wheat in South

Harvesting General in Southern Part of the Province. Weather is Ideal and Spring Wheat has Ripened Well During Last

Bulletin Special.
Lethbridge, Aug. 16.—The past three days have been ideal harvest weather in the south country, and cutting is general at many points. The spring grain has ripened well during the last week, and will be ready as soon as the farmers are finished with the fall wheat. Threshing will commence at Lethbridge on Monday next. The yield is estimated from 25 to 35 bushels.

Through Line to the West.
Sarnia, August 16.—That the C.P.R. is coming to Sarnia may be set down as an assured fact by Sarnians. The line is to be extended from London first, and eventually also from Stratford. This would give the C.P.R. a fast through line from Central and Eastern Ontario to the west.
A line of boats from Sarnia to Port William would be put on, and passengers and freight from all eastern points would be brought by Sarnia instead of taken over the long haul by way of the North Shore, which is kept busy with the east bound products of the Northwest. A crossing of the river would also be established over and connections made with a line to Chicago.

Accuses Road of Overcharges.
Washington, Aug. 16.—An action was instituted today before the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Nebraska State Railway Commission against the Union Pacific company, alleging that the rate of the defendant on coal shipped from Rock Springs, Wyoming, to Nebraska points were excessive and unjust. The commission is asked to fix a minimum rate on such shipments and will be laid to the people of Nebraska.

BONAPARTE GIVES DECISIVE REPLY

To Wall Street Charge of Favoritism and Prejudiced Legal Action.
Baltimore, August 16.—The News today prints an interview given to its Washington representative by Attorney-general Bonaparte, which constitutes a reply to the charge of Wall street that the attorney-general has been treating the industrial and financial enterprises of the country with flippancy. The interview is really a statement carefully prepared by Mr. Bonaparte himself. In part he says:

"I cannot understand how any sensible person could be so foolish as to charge me with favoritism or prejudice in the handling of business by remarks that have been attributed to me. I should say that business ought to have laws strictly and im-partially enforced. If this is done everybody knows what he can do and what he cannot, and everybody has a fair and no favorites. The department of justice proposed to do precisely this and nothing more."
"It is required by law to enforce certain penal statutes which are certain forms of crimes against the United States and also to provide civil remedies for such illegal actions.
The department, since it has been at its head, has never taken proceedings to enforce the law without a very careful preliminary investigation to determine whether there was good reason to believe that the laws had been violated. Moreover, it has consistently and frequently overlooked merely formal violations of law or offences attended with trivial consequences and has invariably refused to intervene in such cases when there was any reason to suspect that its intervention was desired to further private ends.

"If the ground of complaint against the department is that it proposes to punish prominent and wealthy men or corporations having vast amounts of capital and engaged in very extensive business, when these are known to have been willful and persistent lawbreakers on a great scale and with grave injury to the purposes of the law, I must admit that these complaints are well founded. That is precisely what the department of justice is trying to do, and while I remain its very unworthy head, will continue to do, so far as it can."

Centenarian Died Yesterday.
Port Maitland, Vt., Aug. 16.—Patrick Conway died here today, aged 100.
He was in good health and had preserved all his mental faculties up to the time of his death.

Charles Auclair, of Quebec, Dead.
Quebec, August 16.—Charles Au-clair, the well known manufacturer of this city, died suddenly today.
