EXTRADITION DISCUSSION.
BERLIN, Feb. 9. The Committee on Foreign Affairs, of the National Assembly will meet to-day to consider the extradition question. It seems improbable that a reply to the Entente demand for the surrender of Germans whose names are contained in the list recently delivered, will be made until a response is received by the German government to its note of January 25. In this note Germany asked the Allies to renounce execution of the extradition article of the Peace Treaty, affirming that it would inevitably cause political and economic troubles, the alternative being proposed that trial of the persons involved be held in Germany, with the participation of Allied representatives.

Obituary.

We regret to chronicle the sudden passing of Mrs. Ann Maria Badcock, wife of Josiah Badcock of Cupids, at the early age of forty-eight years, which took place at her home on Jan. 27th. The deceased was the daughter of Margaret and the late Samuel Dawe of Cupids, where she resided all through her life. Her marriage to Josiah Badcock took place on June 15th, 1898, and her whole life was marked by peace and happiness. To know her was to love her. She possessed the meek and gentle spirit of the Divine Master, as from her childhood she faithfully followed in His footsteps, living in charity with all, entertaining strangers, helping the poor and needy, visiting and administering to those who were sick and brightening the pathway of others by her happy smile and words of advice and counsel. She also identified herself with the different departments of work in connection with the Methodist Church, and took an active part in the social life of the community. During the last few months she was confined to her home through failing health, and the whole settlement was shocked at the news of her sudden passing. The esteem in which she was held was evidenced by the numerous expressions of regret and offers of deepest sympathy from all classes and creeds of the community, and by the long concourse of friends who followed the remains to the church, where an impressive and solemn sermon was preached by the Rev. Wm. Swan, taking his text from I Samuel, 20th chapter, and the latter part of the 18th verse, "And thou shalt be missed, because thy seat will be empty." The service was continued at the cemetery, where just as the golden sun was sinking in the west, she was calmly laid to rest in the family plot, and it was concluded with the singing of that well known hymn, "Safe in the arms of Jesus." She is survived by her husband, her widowed mother, and an only sister, Mrs. E. H. Hunt, of Caledonia, Nova Scotia, to whom the deepest sympathy is extended.—Com.

HALIFAX, N.S., Feb. 9. The second officer and five men of the Oronian lost their lives while endeavoring to take off members of the crew of the Bradboyne, which was abandoned in the Atlantic, according to radio advices reaching here to-day. Last night twenty-five members of the crew of the Bradboyne were reported safe aboard the Oronian and Monmouth. No particulars are at hand as to the fate of the remaining members of the crew or the circumstances under which the steamer was abandoned.

LYNCHING IN U. S. A.

Two women were among those wounded by the troops.

THE BERKSHIRE HOUSE FIRE.

WILL AND WON'T.
BELFAST, Feb. 9. This movement was general throughout Ireland, outside Ulster. The men, however, still refuse to take out permits, asserting that the

Appreciates Telegram.
Dear Sir,—It is with great interest that I look through the columns of the Evening Telegram, and read so keenly the many items and articles from the pens of your numerous contributors, especially Mr. H. F. Shortis. I have noted all that he says concerning the laying of the Atlantic Cable, and can remember distinctly, although but a little child of six years at the time, when my father and mother with a great many neighbors and friends made a trip to Heart's Content to see the Great Eastern, and notwithstanding that this occurred fifty three years ago, it comes before my memory very vividly.

I was also greatly interested in "From Out the Starred Past," reproducing the letters of Mr. W. Kelton, having heard my parents speak of him many and many a time. (For the benefit of our esteemed correspondent, we have the pleasure of informing him that the continuation of the Kelton letters will shortly commence.—Ed.) The name of Mr. Shortis is very familiar to me.

Some twenty-five or thirty years ago an esteemed friend of mine made quick and prosperous voyages in a schooner called the Queen Victoria. One in particular is worthy of mention, when he made the record trip all through her life. Her marriage to Josiah Badcock took place on June 15th, 1898, and her whole life was marked by peace and happiness. To know her was to love her. She possessed the meek and gentle spirit of the Divine Master, as from her childhood she faithfully followed in His footsteps, living in charity with all, entertaining strangers, helping the poor and needy, visiting and administering to those who were sick and brightening the pathway of others by her happy smile and words of advice and counsel. In an early January issue of the Evening Telegram there was a most interesting and touching account of an "Unsolved Sea Mystery"—the loss of S. S. Lion. What a memorable time that 6th of January 1882 is to the writer, he having escaped being on that ill-fated ship by but a hairs breath, as one might say, and often the words of the Psalmist "What is man that thou art mindful of him," come to me. Well do I remember that splendid night of January 6th when the steamer Lion left St. John's for Trinity and was never heard of afterwards, and well do I also remember the Christmas festival in the old schoolroom at St. John's on the night of January 6th where two of our beloved pupil teachers spent their last night on earth, both of them having booked passed by the Lion, Miss Watkinson to go to Trinity teaching, and Jimmie Grant going to spend a few days with friends. Then the Rev. H. Foster and his fair young bride, bound to Trinity where the former was to preach the word of life, and while father, mother and sisters were even celebrating the wedding of their daughter and sister, the house of joy was turned into a house of mourning. The aged father did not recover from the stroke of the fatal news of the loss of the ship and her passengers. The strain was too great, and a broken heart set the spirit free of its earthly tenement, and parent and child met in the Paradise of God. The news of the disaster did not reach many homes in and about Trinity for some days, and when the worst was known, there was heard a sound of weeping and lamentation; "Rachel mourning for her children and would not be comforted because they were not."

Wedding Bells.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the R. C. Cathedral, on Thursday evening, Feb. 5th at 8 p.m., when Miss Josephine Connolly and Mr. Wm. O'Toole were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Fr. McDermott. The bride was neatly attired in a dress of cream voile, with hat to match, and was assisted by her sister, Miss May Connolly, who wore a dress of pale blue satin, with black picture hat, while Mr. John Bennett ably supported the groom. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to Wood's Restaurant, where a sumptuous supper was partaken of. They left by the Portia for their future home at Renewes. We wish Mr. and Mrs. O'Toole many years of happy wedded life. The presents received were numerous and costly.

At the Majestic.
The Majestic Theatre was filled with continual laughter yesterday, when the William Fox film comedy, "Be a Little Sport," with Albert Ray and Elhior Fair, was presented here for the first time. Those who attended the first showing must have spread the news rapidly, for the theatre was crowded all day long. The story is side-splitting in its humorous situations, and Ray and Miss Fair both do very clever work. Ray as a comedian is making rapid strides toward the front rank of screen players, and Miss Fair is not only beautiful but has fine dramatic talent. Together they made situation after situation go over to shouts of laughter.

If Mr. Fox continues to pick this kind of story for these young stars, theatre goers will have cause to bless him.

Tartar on Teeth Shows You Leave the Film

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to show you its effects. See coupon.

Remove the Film
Film is the basis of tartar. It is the source of discolored teeth and decay. In brushing teeth you leave a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Your tooth paste cannot dissolve it. Most tooth troubles are now traced to that clinging film. That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So the one great object in cleaning teeth should be to end that film. Dental science, after years of searching has found a way to do that. For home use the way is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. The results are known. Convincing, clinical and laboratory tests have proved them beyond question. Leading dentists everywhere now advocate its use.

A 10-Day Test Supplied
We now send a 10-Day Tube to anyone who asks. Thus we are starting countless people toward cleaner, safer teeth. Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object is to dissolve the film, then to day by day combat it. The way seems simple, but pepsin must be activated. The usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. It is the invention of a harmless activating method which makes pepsin possible. That, with other Pepsodent ingredients, is doing now what was never done before. Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears. Read the book we send you. Learn the reason for these things. Then judge for yourself if you want your teeth kept in that way always. Cut out the coupon now.

A Benefactor of the Race
Lord Lister, the "father of antiseptic surgery," the famous doctor who made surgery safe, died on February 10, 1912, at Walmer, in his eighty-second year. Before the Listerian methods of antiseptic surgery were adopted, nearly fifty per cent. of surgical operations proved fatal owing to blood poisoning. It has been graphically said of Lord Lister that he saved more lives than Napoleon destroyed in his wars. Joseph Lister's parents were Quakers, and he was educated at the Quaker school at Tottenham, and afterwards studied medicine and surgery at University College, London. It was not until 1860, when he was Regius Professor of Surgery in the University of Glasgow that he devised this new system. When he began his experiments, he intended the word "antiseptic" as indicating the avoidance of putrefactive changes. Carbolic acid, which had previously been used in bandaging, was selected by him as the agent and he gradually worked out the details of his system. Not only was every thing used in operations disinfected, but he introduced the carbolic spray during the actual operations, and, by an ingeniously devised carbolic gauze he protected the wounds from further infection. The Listerian bandage, as it was called, was both applied and changed under a continuous carbolic spray, and honours were showered on the famous surgeon.
