This Week's 'Cello Recital

Preparation for the 'Cello recital to be rendered on the evening of St. George's Day in the Synod Hall by Mr. Bernard Mayers are now complete, and the entertainment promises to be one of extraordinary attraction. Mr. Mayers, who has only recently returned from Canada, has a pleasing programme in store for those who will patronize the recital, and many who have had the opportunity of hearing him perform are of the opinion that the remarkable talent displayed by him ranks equal if not higher than any yet introduced to a St. John's audience. Mr. Mayers possesses an individuality of style which is sure to charm even the most astute critic, and when heard in his favorite number "Valse Triste" or the "Dance of Death" together with several other alluring and beautiful selections, it cannot be doubted but that the recital will be voted one of unique and unusual merit.

Assisting Mr. Mayers are several ladies and gentlemen of no less remarkable musical ability, who will augment the programme with vocal and instrumental selections calculated to suitably complete the evenings entertainment.

The proceeds of the recital will be devoted to a cause which merits the hearty support of every citizen who cherishes the principles of British fair play and who wishes to see the dumb animals of our city, properly and kindly treated. The Society which has elected to proform this philanthropic service is continually seeking support financially from the people that they may extend and improve the service annually confronting it is ever increasing volume, and the valuable assistance proferred by Mr. Mayers and his associates, speaks encouragingly of the spirit of goodwill which exists, and should be an example to others to render all possible aid to a society which works in behalf of creatures which have been provided us for our use and benefit, and which require the constant care and protection of the community.

Tickets for the recital are now on sale, and lovers of good music are advised to select their seats as early as possible in order to avoid disappointment. Announcement of the complete programme will be made in the press in a day or two.

Ladies of St. John's Asked to Approve of Famous Face Cream

Most ladies are already acquainted with Three Flowers Face Powder and Perfume—the two dainty toilet needs so much admired by discriminating women everywhere. To-night, the ladies of St. John's will have an opportunity of sampling the equally charming Three Flowers Face Cream, a sample of which will be presented every lady visiting the Nickel Theatre. Three Flowers, which is the ideal Vanishing Cream, is wonderfully effective in preserving the delicacy of the skin from effects of cold spring winds. In the Three Flowers beauty store on Fifth Avenue, New York, it is the fastest seller of all the Three Flowers Cosmetics. Fastidious American ladies invariably select it and in offering it for the approval of St. John's ladies to-night, the Manufacturers feel they are placing a cosmetic before Newfoundland women that will prove to be just what they had been seeking in a face cream. No woman should miss the pleasure of sampling Three Flowers Cream. During the performance at the Nickel to-night a large Three Flowers Perfume burner will be in use near the stage sending the fragrance of this beautiful odor all over the theatre.—apr20,1i

Wesley Church Notes

The large congregations yesterday had the privilege of hearing Rev. W. Ewart Cockran of Yeovil, Somertsetshire, England, now stationed at Bell Island. The subject in the morning was "Religious Progress." First the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear. (St. Mark 4-28). The preacher urged the duty of consecration and of going forward from the infancy of childhood of faith to the fulness of stature, and vigorous Christian manhood, to press on to the goal of sanctification. As we go to a physician to seek advice for gaining physical strength, so we must go to the Great Physican to help us gain spiritual strength. Reflection is the path to reformation, seek the assistance of the Holy Spirit, hold the vessel, your soul, under the spring of life, until it is filled and overflows with the spirit of Christ. The exhortation was very earnest to go on from strength to strength by the grace of God, until the pinnacle of glory should be reached. At the evening service the text was "That Night was Belshazzar the King of the Chaldeans Slain." The word picturing of the scene in the banqueting hall, it grandeur, the spreadables for the feast, the fanfare of trumpets, the procession of military and the royal court, the handsome wives of the King, dressed in long graceful foids of rustling silks was all told with such eloquence and vividness that the hearers were gripped and then the Kings impiety by desecrating the secred vessels. It was not sufficient for them to sink to the low level of a drunken crowd, but to wave with unsteady hands the Chalices made sacred in the holy temple and in drunken revelry praise their gods of gold, silver or stone, was horrifying in the extreme, but something happened. As the King turned his eyes to the wall, just there on the plaster he saw the finger of a hand, writing. It was no delusion. The King was white and trembling, and out of the shadow in the dome by the chandelier, was the handwriting that told the doom of Belshazzar. The explanation of the writing by Daniel was told, with the appeal of the prophet, "And thou knewest all this," yet thou hast not humbled thy heart. And men today, said the speaker, have their warnings, but do not heed them, nor alter their living, and repent of their sins. They look around and see how sin has dragged down others by over indulgence, and later they have to stand aghast with terror. Something happens. God has spoken. We shall be spiritually bankrupt, if we avoid the call of Christ and must expect the same verdict from a just God. A serious impression rested on the large audience.

The Easter Anthems were repeated by request and well rendered, the soloists, Mrs. Boone and Mrs. W. Vey and choir all are to be highly complimented on their efforts. Bell Island through Mr. Godden, and Portugal Cove Churches, through Mr. Coffen, 'phoned in that they had heard every word splendidly and those in the city with receiving sets thoroughly enjoyed the whole service

"Gaiety" Hall Dance

The Dance in aid of the C.C.C. Hall debt, takes place in the "Gaiety" Hall to-night,, and no doubt there will be a large attendance. As the four previous dances, held for the same object, for which Charles Foster and his Orchestra and the Arlie Marks Company Orchestra rendered the music, proved so successful, we are confident that to-night's dance will prove no exception to the rule, as Mrs. Jardine's Orchestra will render the very latest dance music.

Not Love as You See it in the Movies

Rather a section of life. Nothing glossed over in this picture. It is "real" in a sense that has never before been made clear. Erich Von Stroheim decided that his picturization of Frank Norris's classic "McTague" had to dent the crust of sentimentality which colors so many motion pictures. He had to give his film a third dimension, put flesh and blood into the characters. It took him two long years to do it—but he has made the silent drama more eloquent than a spoken play. By all means see "Greed."
