The Queen's birthday will be celebrated in London on May 26, instead of the 24th, Detroit is scheduled for two games here on the 24th, and Saginaw-Bay City follows on the 24th, and Saginaw-Bay City follows on the 24th, and Indianament of the International League sanctions the transfer of the games from the 24th to the 26th Detroit will lose the benefit of the holiday games, and Saginaw-Bay City, after playin Hamilton on the 24th, will get away with another good thing in London. President Hobbs has therefore asked the clubs from the other side playing in Canada on the 24th will remain in the same cities for a game on the 26th. Buffalo plays in Toronto May 23 and 24 (two games), and on May 26 Detroit should be there. The Toronto management will vote for Mr. Hobbs' motion if Buffalo will cancel their game for the 23rd and play it on the following Monday.—[Toronto Mail.

DIAMOND DUST.

Monkey Murphy, of the Brooklyns, did a Buffalos and London's play ball was treated to one of the most closely-contested which lasted for eleven innings, and was full of bright fielding, clear-headed team work and good pitching. For London Maguire did splendidly, only six hits being made off his delivery in the entire game, and but one of these being made in the last four innings. Conway was by no means a puzzle and as far as play went London deserved the game, but the hits were not timely. In the last four innings the Tecumsehs secured four singles and a double, yet the visitors scored and won the game with one hit in the same time. DIAMOND DUST.

Monkey Murphy, of the Brooklyns, did a thing in the game against the New Yorks last week that will not be seen soon again. With the bases full he forced in three runs by bases on balls. The New Yorks made just three hits off him in the last six innings. in the same time.

In the first inning Coghlan got first on In the first inning Coghlan got first on fielders' choice, advanced to second when Burke got his base on balls, and, after stealing third, came home on Roche's only error. Iondon pulled to the front in the second. Wright and Parks were on bases when Maguire, as though not satisfied with pitching well, banged the ball down to the cottage in left field and stood smiling from second bag as the other two men ambled over the home plate.

"Say," said a young lady who sat in the grand stand during the Buffalo-London game, "I'm going to call Andrus 'the spider' all the time now, Nellie." "What on earth would you do that for?" asked her companion. The reporters leaned back to hear the answer, which came in a low whisper, "Because he's death on flies."

the other two men ambled over the home plate.

Nothing happened to change the score until the seventh, when errors by Connor and Oldfield and hits by Doyle, Leighton and Hiland yielded three more runs to London's string. Buffalo was not to be outdone, however, and tied the score through a single by Conway, a double by Pettee, a triple by Andrus, an error by Doyle and a wild pitch by Maguire.

Thus the opposing forces remained until the last half of the eleventh inning, when Buffalo scored with only one man out. Pettee got first on Doyle's fumble; Quinu was retired at second. Conway then made a hit to short, on which Pettee reached third and Quinu was retired at second. Conway then made a hit to short, on which he should have been fielded out at first. Lutenberg, though, fumbled the ball and Conway was safe. Pettee made a run and won the game for the Bisons. The score follows:

The extraordinary score of 700 made by East Melbourne against St. Kilda in the match begun on the former's ground on Feb. 22 and ending March 8, is worthy of special notice, if only because it is, with one exception, the best record of club cricket in Australia. The very best performance of the kind is East Melbourne's 742 against Tasmania in 1879, and this total was beaten in intercolonial matches three years later on the memorable occasion at Sydney when New South Wales scored 775 against Victoria. The highest score ever made in the colonies, and, in fact, in the world, in a match of any importance, is the S03 of the Non-Smokers against the Smokers on the East Melbourne grounds on March 17, 18, 19 and 21, 1887.

FOOTBAIL.

A football match was played at Seaforth Wednesday evening, between the Mitchell club and the Seaforth Hurons, resulting in a victory for the Hurons by five goals to none. The first goal was taken by Seaforth in twenty minutes. The second was more interesting, and was finally won by a near pass from Cresswell to Willis, who cared by a low, straight kick. After half-time Seaforth second their third goal on a shot from Killoran. The forth goal was elso scored by Killoran, and the fifth in a scrimmage in froat of the Mitchell of Inspector's Charges Against THE OAR.

Trident, in the Sydney Mail of March 29, has the following: "Nothing fresh has transpired in reference to the championship. O'Connor has not issued a definite challenge, but it is generally understood that he is preparing for a race. He has been on the river several times in a steamer to see the men in work, but has not yet had a row. The Canadian is a keen observer of the men now in practice, but he has not expressed any opinion as to the relative merits of the men. Stansbury particularly has been THE OAR.
