PROGRAMME ADVERTISING.

The following is clipped from the Shoe and Leather Journal, Toronto, for the month of January: "According to the degree of prominence of a business man in a community are demands made upon him for advertising in programmes and other transient publica-tions. These hold-ups are planned by the thoughtless committee of a bazar, church concert, lodge entertainment, or something of the kind, and each mem-ber counts on so many friends that vould not dare refuse the request of a good customer to take space. The merchants' advertisements appearing in one of these useless publications is only the means of causing demands to be made upon him for other similar schemes. To flatly refuse the request of the canvasser would be only to offend the latter, whose trade would be lost, and who would also, no doubt, influence other trade away from the store. The easiest, most sensible and most profitable plan in a case of this kind, would be to make a cash contribution of the amount or half the amount asked for space, explaining, if thought advisable, why it would be desirable to omit the advertising. In this way, the goodwill of the canvasser. who is usually a person of considerable influence, would be retained. These pestiferous demands are a part of the penalty of being in business, but if diplomatically handled should not be so burdenscane as most retailers com-

TO MR. AND MRS. CARRICK. A presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Carrick was the feature of the Christmas entertainment of the Proudfoot Memorial Chapel Sunday school, West London, Tuesday evening. It was read by Mr. J. S. Brown, the assistant superm tendent and was as follows:

"London, Ont., Jan. 5, 1904.—Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carrick,—We, the teachers, officers, and Bible classes of the Memorial Presbyterian Sabbath school of London, wish to show in some slight manner our high appreciation of your efforts and sucess in the work for London West Presbyterianism, and the cause of Christ generally. We are not unmindful of the fact that you gave up the pleasant work in St Andrew's school in order that you might undertake the more arduous work in this portion of the city. That you have been wonderfully successful, even the most skeptical must admit. You found the work at a low ebb, and you have raised it to a high standard. So far as the decorum of the school is concerned it will suffice to say that you have day we have probably the most orderly school in the Dominion. And time when we turn over a new leaf. The Duke of Rutland has a record of which it would be hard to find a parallel in modern politics. He has lived to see the jubilee of his first entrance into cabinet rank, and celebrated, a few years ago, the fiftieth anniversary of his first cabinet council. He was a cabinet minister before Lord Salisbury entered Parliament, when Lord Rosebery and Mr. Balfour were learning the alphabet, and when Mr. Chamberlain was beginning his business career in his father's screw factory.
