Canada's Big Problems.

A very ambitious programme has been mapped out for the conference of the Dominion Boards of Trade, which opened yesterday in Toronto. This enterprising body proposes to handle twenty large questions in two days. These are: Canadian copyright, Canadian insolvency law, commercial depot in London (England), Consular agencies, defense, duty on lead, establishment of customs union with sister colonies, fast steamship service, importation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain, metric system, mineral resources of Canada, newspaper postage between Canada and Great Britain, postal and telegraph communication, railway commission, steamship service for exclusive trade between Great Britain and her colonies, steamship service from Canadian ports, state cable from Canada to Australia, shipbuliding in Canada, trade relations within the empire, trade relations between the colonies.

There is no discourtesy suggesting that the conference has undertaken too much by far. Unless it drops a large portion of the programme, it can only skim over the surface and pronounce on every question in a most perfunctory way, which would rob the proceedings of any weight or authority. The two questions of defense and Imperial trade relations are important enough to occupy the undivided attention of such a body. These are problems on which there are marked differences of opinion, and they should be discussed from every point of view, so that the conclusions may represent the sober judgment of the business community, especially as the deliberations are supposed to be a guide to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the London confer-

Premier of Canada has already laid down his own views. The Premier of Australia has taken the same ground. Sir Wilfrid holds that it is premature to discuss any scheme of Imperial defense. A uniform plan is impracticable foot the bill. owing to the varying conditions throughout the Empire. The first duty of Canada should be to strengthen her own defenses, and develop her own resources, instead of contributing to a common war fund, to be expended under the direction of a central organization. Canada has already added immeasurably to the military resources communications is a donation to Im- British market. perial defense.

On the trade question the conference yesterday declared in favor of an inter-Imperial preference, and requested When people enjoy good government, Sir Wilfrid Laurier to press for the and everything is running along appointment of a joint British and colonial royal commission to consider the best means of bringing it The economic conditions about. have been entirely changed since Sir Wilfrid's visit to England in 1897. At that time Britain imposed no tariff on products which could be supplied by the colonies, and it would have been impolite and impertinent on Canada's part to ask the British to overturn provision that the Transvaal shall their fiscal system and tax themselves for the benefit of the colonies, by put- probably means the exemption of farm ting a duty on foreign imports. Great Britain can now grant a preference and at the same time lighten, not increase, her burden of ernment will accede to or even conknown, but there is no derogation of gers the reputation of all the Canadian dignity on Canada's part in putting it products. forward. That a large body of opinion in Great Britain will be strongly opposed to it is a fact we may as well recognize in advance.

A Public Outrage.

The City Council is not showing itself In a favorable light by refusing one business firm privileges which it has granted to another.

The Sifton Company seeks permission to string wires across the public streets for the transmission of electrical power, having contracted to supply several manufacturers. The request is opposed by the London Electric Company, who demand a virtual monopoly of the distribution of electricity in the city. The city solicitor, whose legal opinion has been asked for, informs the Council that it has the power to grant the Sifton Company's request: yet in the face of this, the majority of the aldermen refuse the application. The conduct of the City Council, or at least of the majority of the members, appears to be a public outrage. Surely the users of electrical power in the city are entitled to the benefit of competition. What right have the aldermen to put them in the power of a monopoly? The people are entitled to an explanation from the City Council. It looks as if the influence of a powerful corporation has been exerted only too successfully for the public interests.

Grateful to Her Heroes.

The British Government has lost no time in recognizing Lord Kitchener's services. The ink on the peace treaty is hardly dry before it votes him an earldom and the princely sum of $250,-10. For his conquest of the Soudan he received four years ago a peerage and a grant of $150,000.

Ingratitude to her military heroes is a charge that cannot be laid at England's door. History is full of examples of this national virtue. Blenheim Castle was the country's gift to the great Marlborough, and still stands; as magnificent memorial of public favor. Nelson, for the battle of St. Vincent, received a pension for life of $5,000; for the battle of the Nile $10,-000 a year for life; for the Naples expedition a dukedom and $15,000 a year for life, and had he survived Trafalgar his rewards would have known no bounds. His relatives, after his death, were granted sums aggregating nearly a million dollars. The Duke of Wellington was given £200,000 and a marquisate for his Peninsular campaign of 1812. In 1814 for his series of brilliant victories over the French he received a dukedom and £10,000 a year for life. His share of the prize money after Waterloo was £60,000, and in 1817 the nation presented him with an estate costing £263,000. Coming down to later days, Lord Wolseley has received for his several campaigns money rewards aggregating $200,000, to say nothing of a peerage and decorations galore. Lord Roberts, for his work in South Africa, was made an earl and received $500,000 in cash. These are only a few cases, taken at ran-

It is said that republics are ungrateful. Certainly the United States does not stand comparison with Great Britain in its treatment of martial heroes. Grant, for crushing the rebellion, was given a gold medal and a vote of thanks, though afterwards elected president. He died a poor man. Dewey who destroyed Spain's naval power in the East, was presented with a sword of honor, and a loving-cup. His prize money amounted to about $30,000. Sampson and Schley had to fight in the courts for their share.

The City Council asks for legal advice and then ignores it. The people

From remarks which Sir Michael Hicks-Beach dropped yesterday, it is inferred that the British Government intend to make the interest on the war debt a charge, to some extent, on the mineral wealth of the Transvaal. This puts another construction on the peace articles. The not be taxed for the cost of the war,

> The picayune proposal is made to unseat two Liberals, Messrs. Stratton and Pattullo, because ballots were printed (without their knowledge) at the newspaper offices owned by them. The Woodstock Express, which strongly opposed Mr. Pattullo, says that he fought a plucky battle, and that it would be trivial to try to unseat him on a technicality. Mr. Pattullo had over 1,000 majority and Mr. Stratton over 800, so that any attack on their seats could only be for the purpose of annoyance.

Considerable People.

[Boston Transcript.] Hester-People are so queer; I sang at an entertainment the other evening, and if you'll believe it, not a soul had a word to say about my performance.

Age By Vehicles.

[Baltimore Sun.] Mrs. Sylvia Dunham, whose home is in a village near Boston, counts her age by the successive type of vehicles she has seen perfected. She was born in 1800. At five years of age she rode in a stage coach; at 49 she boarded a railway train for the first time; at 99 she rode on an electric car, and at 100 she enjoyed an outing in an automo At the age of 102 years she still attends to her household duties, works in her little garden, and reads an hour every day.

Peace on Piccadilly. [H. F. Gadsby, in Toronto Star.] Hello, Peace! Glad to see you!
Get out of that hack!
But what are you doing
With your hair down on your back And your white robe all dirty And your left eye all black?

Shake hands, my old sweetheart; What are you doing in town?
You came to see Edward Get into his crown? Quite right, to be sure. But, oh, what a gown!

Oh, yes. I catch on. You've been down or You've been down on your luck,
And it's pretty good guessing
You've been in the muck;
But you'll be all right If you keep up your pluck.

THE ORANGEMEN OF THE DOMINION

The Grand Lodge Gathers at Niagara Falls.

TRIBUTE TO LATE G. M. WALLACE

Extracts From Annual Report of Grand Secretary Lockhart-The Growth of the Order.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 4 .- The 73rd annual session of the Grand Lodge of British America convened in the town hall here at 2 o'clock today, the grand master, Dr. Sproule, M.P., presiding. The attendance is one of the largest in the history of the grand lodge.

The grand master's address referred in feeling terms to the death of the late grand master, N. Clarke Wallace, also to the happy termination of the war in South Africa. Special mention was made of the coming coronation of Edward VII. The Orange Mutual Insurance was also dealt with.

PROGRESS OF THE ORDER. Grand Secretary W. M. Lockhart's report says that 29 primary lodge warrants had been issued during the year, eight of which were in Ontario. lodge has been organized at Dawson City. A new provincial grand lodge had been organized for the Northwest Territories. One county lodge had been formed for Rainy River. Two district lodges had been organized—for Cape Breton, N. S., and for Queen's county, P. E. I. Four new lodges of Orange Young Britons had been organized, including one in Toronto and another is Toronto Junction. Five Royal Scarlet dispensations had been issued in Newfoundland. Three ladies' lodges were organized. Eleven primary and one county lodge had been incorporated. The membership of the grand lodge had increased by over 5,000, of which over 2,000 were for Ontario.

MATTERS TO BE OPPOSED. While looking forward to the federation of the British Empire, the lodge is urged to unite to oppose all attempts to alter the coronation oath; to open the throne of Great Britain to a Romanist; to repeal the rights of the act of settlement: to open diplomatic relations with the Vatican; to give increased political power to the Roman Catholic Church or any other.

LEGISLATION FAVORED. And to support legislation for maintaining Protestant supremacy in every branch of the constitution and life of the empire: for the inspection of convents and monastic institutions; and for the adequate protection of their inmates and the inspection of every institution receiving government grants

the Irish Nationalists and their visit to Canada: "Since last we met Nationalist members of the British House of Commons appoint a master of the motors, since have been in this country, whose mission was not for the promotion of the best interests of the empire, and who were well received by certain members of our commons, and, it is said, that even the prime minister of this Dominion was too assiduous in his attention to these enemies of the empire. If evidence were wanting of their disloyal sentiments, it is afforded in the cheering of these same gentlemen and their Nationalist supporters in the British House of Commons when it was "What announced that disaster met British should not as loyal citizens remain silent, but should in the very strongest possible manner enter our protest against the recognition of such men. We rejoice to know that while these Nationalists assume to represent Ireland, they do not by any means represent the loyal people of that country, and that there are even among their co-religionists many who are truly loyal, of which they have given evidence in the struggle in South Africa." DEATHS. The report mourns the death of nearly 100 brethren during the year, among them the M. W. G. M. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, "who was known as a sturdy and valiant defender of our principles, and who was ready to forsake any position which would interfere with him in his duty to the association. * * * We will miss him at our annual meetings, but his memory will long be cherished among the Orangemen of the empire, having, as he did, occupied the position of presi-dent of the Imperial Grand Orange Council. A home for the aged and infirm would, in my opinion, be the best memorial that could be erected to his memory. I am quite sure no better monument could be erected."
