

N. S. MAN SHOT WHILE SLEEPING.

How Colin M. Kelly Met Death in the Yukon.

Halifax, N. S., Mar. 12.—The body of Colin M. Kelly, of Halifax, who was killed about fifty miles from Dawson a few weeks ago arrived Monday night on the C. P. R. Some facts of the tragedy are given in the following letter received from C. W. Cash, superintendent of the Royal mail service on the White Pass and Yukon route, dated February 12th, 1913: "Your brother's remains arrived here from Dawson by stage, and I am shipping the body with a escort by tomorrow's train to Skagway. Relative to the death of your brother. The first information I received was in the form of a telegram from our Dawson agent on the 29th ult., to the effect that the north bound stage had just arrived and that the driver had reported the death of the roadhouse keeper, his wife and your brother, and that the appearances indicated a double murder and suicide. W. F. Smith, the roadhouse man. The Dawson police started immediately for the scene of the tragedy, and the verdict of the coroner's jury was simply that Smith fired rifle shots resulting in the death of his wife and your brother, and then suicided."

SEES REDUCTION IN LUMBER TARIFF

One result of the change in the administration of the United States is likely to be a reduction in the tariff on imported lumber, according to W. H. Riddell, of the Riddell Robbins Lumber Company of Boston, who, with his partner, W. C. B. Robbins, is in St. John today. Mr. Riddell looks for a substantial reduction in the tariff generally and believes that lumber will be one of the commodities affected.

The probable effect of the reduction, in his opinion, will be to give a larger profit to be split between the wholesaler and the retailer. Mr. Riddell has found lumbering conditions in both Maine and New Brunswick good, and regards this as an excellent year for the lumbermen.
