Full consideration must be given to the present conditions of high costs if adequate insurance is to be provided, an adverse operation of the Co-insurance Clause is to be avoided, and a satisfactory adjustment is to be assured in the event of fire.

Buildings erected only a few years ago may very possibly be worth double their original cost to-day. This increased value is insurable and must be insured. A bitter experience awaits the manufacturer who has not considered this necessity and who may have to rebuild after a fire.

To guess at values when insuring is obviously bad business. A leading Insurance Company states "It is a fact that 85 per cent. of manufacturers do not carry enough fire insurance, as compared with their present valuations."

An Appraisal made on the basis of to-day's costs of labour and material is the only sound foundation for correct methods of insurance.

Is essentially the business of the meat packing and produce industry. A preferred stock properly safeguarded and with this industry as security has always been recognized in financial circles with confidence.
