

Allan E. Gotlieb, (Canada), lawyer and civil servant, is currently Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs. Mr. Gotlieb, 50, is a native of Winnipeg. He has been Deputy Minister of Manpower and Immigration (1973-1977), and Deputy Minister of Communications (1968-1973), and had served in a number of senior posts in the Department of External Affairs prior to his appointment as Under-Secretary. Mr. Gotlieb is the author of two books, Disarmament and International Law and Canadian Treaty-Making, and has written and lectured widely on law and international relations.

Louis H. Lorrain, (Canada), 58, labour representative, was born in Kenogami, Quebec. Mr. Lorrain is presently President of the Canadian Paperworkers Union, and has been involved in the pulp and paper industry in Canada for almost 40 years. A member of both the McGill University Board of Governors and Senate, Mr. Lorrain was among the prominent Canadians honoured with the Centennial Medal in 1967.

Hadj Mokhtar Louhibi, (Algeria), 48, agricultural economist, is currently President and Chairman of the Algerian Interprofessional Grains Board. Mr. Louhibi has served with a number of international and Algerian organizations concerned with agricultural development, among them the Study Group on Grains of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN (as First Vice-President), and the Algerian National Institute of Agricultural Research (as Administrator).

The Honourable Rex Nettleford, O.M., (Jamaica), educator, is appointed to the IDRC Board of Governors for a second term. Mr. Nettleford, presently Professor of Extramural Studies, and Director of Studies, Trade Union Institute of the University of the West Indies, has been in the forefront of cultural development in Jamaica and the Caribbean. He has been Chairman of the Institute of Jamaica, and Cultural Advisor to the Prime Minister of Jamaica.

Jamil Nishtar, (Pakistan), development economist, is currently President of the National Bank of Pakistan. Mr. Nishtar is also head of the newly-established Pakistan Agricultural Supplies and Services Corporation, and has been Head of the Agricultural Credit Department of the Pakistan State Bank. Mr. Nishtar's particular professional interests lie with the problems of rural development.

John B. Stewart, (Canada), 54, is a political scientist and former Member of Parliament (Antigonish-Guysborough, NS). Mr. Stewart, who holds a doctorate in political science from Columbia University, was Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State for External Affairs, the Minister of Public Works, and the Secretary of State during his term in Parliament. He has written and lectured on politics and political philosophy at Columbia, Acadia, and St. Francis Xavier Universities.