

MR. SAMPSON'S PHILOSOPHY 7

cold-frame, and lay there motionless—a huddle of soiled claret cloth and a wisp of draggled lace, one long leg in a muddy riding-boot trailing across the edge. And the scent of crushed violets wrapped him like a garment as he lay.