

|                                                                                              | PAGE |                                                                                                                  | PAGE |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| The Herring ( Clupea harengus ) ... ..                                                | 169  | Brighton ... ..                                                                                                  | 232  |
| Herring Fishing ... ..                                                                       | 172  | Discovering the Samphire on the Rock ... ..                                                                      | 233  |
| The Pilchard ( Clupea pilchardus ) ... ..                                             | 173  | The last of the Grosser Kurfürst ... ..                                                                   | 237  |
| The Cod ( Morhua vulgaris ) ... ..                                                    | 176  | Dover ... ..                                                                                                     | 240  |
| The Mackerel ( Scomber scombrus ) ... ..                                              | 176  | Ramsgate ... ..                                                                                                  | 241  |
| Fishing for Tunny off the Coast of Provence ... ..                                           | 177  | The Gulf Stream Light Vessel on the Goodwin Sands ... ..                                                         | 244  |
| Fishing for Sword-fish ... ..                                                                | 180  | Harwich ... ..                                                                                                   | 248  |
| The Northern Whale ( Balina mysticetus ) ... ..                                       | 181  | Yarmouth ... ..                                                                                                  | 249  |
| Cutting up the Whale ... ..                                                                  | 184  | Scarborough ... ..                                                                                               | 253  |
| The Great Sea-serpent when first seen from H.M.S. Dedalus . ... .. To face page       | 186  | Captain Boyton attacked by a Dog-fish in the Straits of Messina ... .. To face page                              | 262  |
| Head of Sea Serpent ... ..                                                                   | 189  | Early Swimming ... ..                                                                                            | 257  |
| On the Sea-shore: Calm and Storm ... ..                                                      | 192  | Diving ... ..                                                                                                    | 261  |
| Sea Anemones ... ..                                                                          | 196  | Captain Webb. ( From a Photograph by Albert Fradette ) ... ..                                             | 265  |
| Delesseria ... ..                                                                            | 200  | Captain Webb's Arrival at Calais ... ..                                                                          | 268  |
| Laminaria ... ..                                                                             | 200  | The Home for Aged Merchant Seamen, Belvedere, Kent ... ..                                                        | 273  |
| Bladder Wrack ( Fucus vesiculosus ) ... ..                                            | 201  | Greenwich Hospital ... ..                                                                                        | 276  |
| Ulva ... ..                                                                                  | 201  | Greenwich Pensioners ... ..                                                                                      | 277  |
| Pholades in a Block of Gneiss ... ..                                                         | 204  | The Great Equatorial Telescope in the Dome, Greenwich Observatory ... ..                                         | 281  |
| Spinous Cockle ( Cardium edule ) ... ..                                               | 204  | Collision of the Bywell Castle and the Princess Alice ... ..                                       | 284  |
| The Weaver-fish ( Trachinus communis ) ... ..                                         | 205  | Trinity House, London ... ..                                                                                     | 288  |
| The Devil's Frying Pan, Coast of Cornwall. ... .. To face page                               | 207  | The Siren Fog-horn, for Warning Ships off the Coast ... .. To face page                                          | 289  |
| The Lizard Light ... ..                                                                      | 208  | The Storm ... ..                                                                                                 | 292  |
| The Loggan Stone ... ..                                                                      | 208  | After the Storm ... ..                                                                                           | 293  |
| The Botallack Mine, Cornwall ... ..                                                          | 209  | "He sinks into thy depths with bubbling groan,Without a grave, unknelled, uncoffined,and unknown" ... .. | 296  |
| Looe ... ..                                                                                  | 212  | "Deep on her side the reeling vessel lies" ... ..                                                                | 297  |
| View on the Cornish Coast ... ..                                                             | 217  | "At daybreak, on the bleak sea beach,A fisherman stood aghast," ... ..                                       | 300  |
| Rocket Line Thrown to a Wreck near Penzance ... ..                                           | 220  | "Three Fishermen sailed away to the West" ... ..                                                                 | 301  |
| Life-boat Going to a Wreck on Doom Bar, Padstow ... ..                                       | 221  |                                                                                                                  |      |
| Wreck of a Steamship near Lizard Point ... ..                                                | 224  |                                                                                                                  |      |
| The König Wilhelm entering Portsmouth Harbour after the Collision ... .. To face page | 239  |                                                                                                                  |      |
| Southampton ... ..                                                                           | 225  |                                                                                                                  |      |
| H.M.S. Eurydice on her Beam-ends just after the Squall ... ..                         | 228  |                                                                                                                  |      |