

delighted at the new and pretty inventions in work-boxes, housewife cases, pin-cushions, and every thing else which can assist the ingenuity of a notable little girl; while my darling Harriet, who so much loves reading, will be equally pleased with the number of juvenile libraries, to be seen in all directions. There is, I think, the largest collection of story books, at No. 382, and Mrs. Frazer is famous for a choice assortment of those which are best suited to the improvement, as well as amusement, of young people. Your cousins Charlotte and Jane, on whom we are to call in our way, and who have often been at the Bazaar, will soon shew you Mrs. Frazer's counter." The happy party were in due time set down at the corner of Soho Square, and great was the wonder of the two novices at first entering the spacious rooms, and viewing the dazzling display around them. The prospect too, of soon becoming possessed of a part of these treasures, was sufficient in itself, to gladden their hearts, and lighten up the countenances of the youthful visitors. The attention of Lucy, a child of eight years old, was naturally drawn to that quarter, where the largest assortment of toys was to be seen, and which never fails to attract the pleased notice even of grown
