PRESBYTERY TO TAKE UP MACKAY RESOLUTION

Sunday School Periodical Declared Too Costly—No Money to Buy Lansdowne Park.

HAMILTON, March 7.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Hamilton Presbytery to-day, a baker's dozen of members held a private session at noon and signed the names to the resolution sent out by Rev. Dr. Mackay of Vancouver, favoring union on a working basis of the Methodist churches, but opposed to organized or corporate union. The resolution set out that in the United States a similar course governed the work of the churches to prevent overlapping, but such faith was kept separate and apart from the union. The resolution will be brought up at next meeting of the presbytery, which will be held at St. Catharines next month, with a request for consideration, and that it be reported to the general assembly. Of forty presbyteries that have voted on the basis of organic union, thirty have favored it. The annual report of last year's conference showed a fairly good growth all thru.

Too Costly.
The Sunday school report referred to the small number of schools purchasing the official paper of the assembly. Several ministers replied that the periodical was far too costly, and it was decided to ask the synodical committee, which will meet soon at Woodstock, to ask the assembly to reduce prices. Rev. D. R. Drummond, Rev. S. H. Gray and Capt. James H. Hardy, Geo. H. Milne, E. Black and J. Richardson were elected commissioners to attend the general assembly. The presbytery agreed to the transfer of Rev. W. S. Wright Staines to Chalmers Church, Elora, at a salary of $800 a year and free manse.

Because the parks board had no money to buy Lansdowne Park to add it to the city's chain of parks, it made no objection to Richard Press opening a survey there. The works committee to-night approved Press' plans of four-way. He will build 75 houses on the property. The Grand Trunk have been given permission to double track a portion of the old N. & N. W. right of way on the east end streets, under conditions that will safeguard the city. A subcommittee was appointed to select the style of wagon for the collection of garbage and to consider the advisability of compelling the citizens to use a standard can.

The board of control will be asked to put a price on the sandwiches as several requests from prospective purchasers have been received.

Hotel Hanrahan, corner Barton and Catharine-streets, Hart House, converted into a hotel and easily reached from all parts of the city. Erected in 1906. Modern and strictly first-class American plan. Rates $1.50 to $2 per day. Thos. Hanrahan, proprietor. Phone 1165.

50 Cents Put an Organ in Your Home

The old fame of Heinzman & Co., 192-195-197 Yonge-street, Toronto, are clearing their warehouses of the best used organs at prices ranging from $25 to $65 each, sold on payments of only fifty cents a week.

VETERANS' PARADE AT MASSEY HALL.

The veterans of Toronto, wearing medals and bearing banners, will parade outside Massey Hall to-morrow night for the anti-reciprocity meeting, and will march to their reserved seats in the front, just before 8 o'clock. They will give a picturesque touch to the demonstration in favor of a united Canada within the British Empire.

In view of the veterans occupying the front seats on the main floor, ladies and their escorts will have the whole of the first gallery at their disposal until ten minutes to eight.

A unique feature of the meeting will be a huge map of Canada and the United States, which will indicate the effect on the interprovincial and east and west trade of Canada, of the diversion of traffic to north and south channels. The map will be on the wall behind the platform, the centre of a huge display of Canadian flags.

Nature's Cure For a Cough

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is the Most Largely Imitated Medicine in the Country.

What to give the children for croup and colds is the problem mothers now have to solve. Most of them finally decide on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and make it a rule to always have some in the house.

In this medicine are linseed, turpentine and other well-known ingredients of unmistakable value in the cure of colds. It is pleasant to take, so much so that children delight to use it.

So generally is this great medicine used that several imitations have been put on the market. All alike in name only. They are not made from the same formula, do they bear the name of Dr. Chase.

You know what you can expect from the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, but you cannot put much faith in an imitation which sells on the reputation of the article it imitates.

On every bottle of the genuine will be found the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author. This is for your protection and for the protection of your children. Be sure to get the genuine, even if it costs a few cents more. 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CATTO'S MILLINERY OPENING

Many Delightful Creations on View—Fine Mantle Display.

Appropriately after the triumphant great society event, the automobile show, comes the spring millinery opening, with its vista of spring, Easter, and, and soon also the arms of society's delights, the races. Never has the millinery display quite attained the zenith of style, variety and beauty exhibited this season. This is especially the case with the artistic millinery combination of color, material and design expressed in the array at the extensive and fashionable show rooms of John Catto & Son.

Becoming indeed, were declared to be the many hats tried on by ostentatious of this leading millinery establishment. True brilliant, emerald green, also topped sherry green, forms a leading shade.

The finest straw is employed this year in place of the coarse, Tagal brand is prominently used with exquisite effect in making the stylish hats. White and black will be a combination largely in evidence.

Among the most admired hats shown are: A large French sailor, pearl white Tagal brand; has a pretty choux of wings and deep fringe of straight black straw fibers around the crown; another shape is charming, of black fine straw, with a very deep "glare" of the face, lined with black velvet; above this towers a magnificent black ostrich feather, rising out of a panache of uncurled white ostrich plumes.

One of the small shapes (and there are many of these this season) was a French one of white Tagal brand, lined with black velvet, with a huge choux of rose pink ribbon; a "Victoria Poke," charming for motoring; was all pale coral pink, with touch of black, an embroidered black crown, from which depended the long black silk ties, with tiny bunches of pink rosettes at the side.

The helmet shape, a favorite for outing, white and black, and one of burnt straw, being arranged with black swath and pink roses with the brim faced to the forehead.

The mantle department vies in interest and attractiveness with that of the millinery show-rooms. It includes John Catto & Son show among many other samples of rare elegance, a garment of the softest pastel shade of green, lined with shot peacock silk, kimono sleeves, and the trimming of handsome raised passementerie in black, with large square collar. There was one of grey-blue, with a touch of black, a soft-draped sash band at the high waist-line; the black silk ones are useful and handsome in three beautiful shapes of fall skirts, kimono sleeves and soft pleated hood flat on the shoulders. The tussore and pale almond cloth are lovely for races, motoring, etc. One black and entirely velvet in chiffon, giving a soft, rich look; and one green was charming with the black embroidery "shawl collar" and sensible sleeves.

C.N.R. HEADS GO WEST PLANNING NEW LINES

Sir William Mackenzie and Party Leave For Winnipeg on Business Trip.

Sir William Mackenzie and a number of prominent Canadian Northern officials, including H. H. McLeod, general manager; George H. Shaw, general passenger and traffic manager; H. H. Sturges, executive agent; J. H. Phippen, chief counsel, left Toronto at 6 o'clock last night by special C. N. R. train for Winnipeg. Local superintendents, Mr. McLeod, accompanied the party as far as Sudbury.

Mr. McLeod, in speaking to The World, said: "We have not yet decided what lines will be built in the west this year, but we expect by the time we reach Winnipeg that we will have decided our whole construction program for 1911."

Sir William Mackenzie stated that his trip was a purely business one and that he expected to be back in Toronto in a week.

A SERVICE OF PRAISE.
To-night the choir of Trinity Methodist Church, under the direction of A. L. E. Davies, will give their voice of praise. The principal work to be sung "Two Harvests," by Dr. Tozer, is an interesting composition consisting of many beautiful choruses and solo for mezzo soprano, tenor and baritone. The choir will also sing a number of "A Cappella" compositions. The soloists of the evening will be Mrs. Alma Sanderson, soprano; Miss Willie Heaton, soprano; Miss Alice Kirby, contralto; T. Young, tenor, and Rhond Jamison, baritone. Miss Aada Twoby will preside at the organ.

THROWN FROM WAGON.
Thru the breaking of the front axle of his wagon, Alex. Burkman, 16 Phoenix-street, a driver for Young & Co., 87 Stafford-street, was severely injured last evening at Queen and Dundas-streets. He was pitched forward out of a load of lumber. The lumber shot out on the horse's back, and horse and lumber tumbled on top of him. His back and hip were injured and the police ambulance took him home.

LAURIER DETERMINED TO FORCE RECIPROCITY

"policy which is therein involved has met with the approbation, nay with the enthusiastic approbation, of a majority of the Canadian people." (Liberal cheers and opposition cries of No, No.) In answer to the cries of protest Sir Wilfrid said he would not stop to discuss the merits of the respective opinions on the point. No word of his would change the views of the opposition, and in that they would persevere until the evening of the next polling day. He was well aware that the policy of the government had not been universally accepted, and that an organization had been created in Toronto and Montreal for the purpose of fighting the agreement. These people were acting within their rights and he would not underestimate the importance of the movement. He did not think there was any cause for alarm. Many of the objections to the agreement lacked force and appositeness; others were worthy of consideration, but from inferior strength but from the circumstance that they were inspired by a strange misconception as to what would be the result and consequence of the policy involved.

Surprised at Objections.

"The wonder to me," said Sir Wilfrid, "is that there should be any objections at all. Who can deny that we have now reached a stage in our relations with our neighbors which all parties in this house have been seeking for the last forty years? Who can deny that, if, forty years ago or even fourteen years ago, when we took office, it had been possible to obtain such an abatement in the American tariffs as is embodied in this agreement, there would have been rejoicing in this country?" He declared that the relations between Canada and the United States were a blot upon our common civilization, and contended that when Sir John Macdonald introduced the motion, in 1878 he did so as a measure to securing reciprocity. In 1881 we now had it, and yet men doubted and hesitated. The agreement was contended as unfair and hostile, and men told us, "Stop, proceed no further, let the injustice remain, let the hostility remain, because treason, injustice, and hostility to the Canadian confederation depends for its existence."

The premier dealt with the statement, made by Mr. Foster, that the Conservative party had bade good-bye to reciprocity.

That Feeling Of Fulness

Disappears in Five Minutes After Taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

A Trial Package Sent Free on Request.

All of the unpleasant sensations attendant upon eating too heartily are instantly relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. Like sticking a pin into a rubber balloon. The reason is simple and easy to understand.

Inflation Of The Stomach From Undigested Food Quickly Relieved By A Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When you take food into a stomach that is tired and over-taxed the gastric juices do not form fast enough to digest it properly. As the food becomes sour and at once begins to throw off gases. Your stomach becomes inflated just as surely as if you attached a toy balloon to a gas jet. Then the gases and foul odors issue forth and pollute your breath making you an object of nausea to your friends. Your tongue quickly becomes coated and you can taste the foulness that is within you.

Now all this condition is changed almost instantly by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. This little digester gets busy at once—supplies all the digestive juices that are lacking, kills the bacteria, and opens up the clogged stomach and bowels. It also sweetens and refreshes the mucous lining of the stomach and bowels and restores peace and contentment.

to reciprocity in 1881. He had thought that when the Conservative government went out of office in 1896 they were in favor of reciprocity.

Foster's Trips to Washington. Mr. Foster's trips to Washington in 1891 and 1892, while in 1894 Sir John Thompson, then premier, had stated that Canada was willing to reciprocate with the United States in trade matters.

More than that, he said, Mr. Foster himself in 1894, when a charge was made by Mr. Charlton that the Conservative government was insincere in its efforts to obtain reciprocity, stated that the change of Mr. Charlton was likely to bring about that he was perfectly sincere in his desire to have reciprocity with the United States.

Denying the charge that the Liberals had abandoned reciprocity in 1897, Sir Wilfrid explained that his remarks on the return of the joint high commission from Washington, that further advances towards reciprocity would have to come from the American capital, were influenced by the rebuke that Canada had received. It was consistent with Canadian dignity to take that position, which, however, he declared, did not involve any change of policy in that regard on the part of the Liberal government.

Sir Wilfrid made an attempt to answer the contention by Mr. Foster and Mr. Sifton that the government had received no mandate from the people to enter upon such negotiations. He said he was more than astonished to see Mr. Sifton taking that position. He believed that the conversion of the member for Brandon had not been so gradual as he had indicated in his speech. The Liberal convention in 1893, when the party platform was adopted, Mr. Sifton had agreed to the resolution regarding reciprocity. The premier publicly stated that policy had lain dormant, but he denied having changed his attitude since that time.

Why Consult the People? He declined to accept the argument that because this matter had not been discussed before the people, the government was barred from entering into the agreement. What mandate, he asked, had Lord Elgin in 1854, when he went to Washington to enter into a trade arrangement? What mandate had the government of 1864 to put through parliament the resolution which proposed confederation? Not a word about it had been heard by the people. When Canada assented in 1871 to the Washington treaty of that year, the question was unknown to them.

"In the face of these questions," he added, "it is childish for any man to challenge the right of this government to follow the course it is following."

The cause of the attitude of the opposition, the premier contended, was due to the reciprocity of the year at the present time. If Canada had still been in the position in which the Conservative government had found it in 1896, he had no doubt that the proposed to-day would be received with favor, and the expression would be made that the country was prosperous, they were told by the opposition, "Do not go any further, fold your arms and let the snow melt along the Canadian coast. What are we? Is this Canada or is this China? (Liberal cheers and Conservative jeers). The Chinese have left well behind us for four thousand years, and we are asked to adopt this Chinese policy. But that is not what we should have in mind. We should have in mind to go on, whether our gentlemen of the opposition will follow or not. WE WILL DRAG THEM ON EVEN AGAINST THEIR WILL. This is our policy, we must go on."

An Open Door.

Recognizing that Canadians were above all an agricultural people and that the soil of the country in cereals, vegetables and fruits they could best the world, the premier said that when the door of a nation of ninety millions of people was opened, it was the duty to enter. Instead of this the government was confronted with the opposition. "Let us approach the question from the point of view of common sense."

This remark by Sir Wilfrid carried the house. Both sides cheered vociferously with the opposition applying the sentiment with great enthusiasm.

It amounted to an ovation which lasted for several minutes.

"I am glad," continued Sir Wilfrid, "that my remarks on that point evoke some response from the other side. We will see how far they will go. The premier said he would try to be fair in giving the reasons why the agreement was not accepted at once, but before doing so he would like to observe that the Canadian people at large owed a debt of gratitude to Messrs. Fielding and Paterson for having obtained from our neighbors such an advance in their arrangement, and having obtained it without the sacrifice of Canadian independence. "On, oh," from the opposition. He admitted that the speakers opposed to reciprocity had taken part in the discussion in a fair manner. He also reflected credit upon themselves.

Another Fling at Foster.

He would make an exception, however, in the case of Mr. Foster. The premier for the first time in the discussion referred to the minister of finance, he would have reason to be more proud of his career than he can be.

Then he went over the list of the cabinet, taking them in turn, this one and that one, and at last he came to "my poor humble self," he spoke as follows: "A man of such fine technical mind and business acumen as the right honorable gentleman who leads the government, I never posed as a man of the financial mind and business acumen; but when I see the pretensions put forward by Mr. Foster, I am surprised and I am surprised at my modesty. If I had dabbed in finance and business, I am prepared to admit I should have made a fine mess of it; but I could not be worse than my hon. friends. If, after having posed as a business man and financier, I had nothing to show but a record of failures, I would go and hide myself for very shame, and be very chary of throwing stones into other people's gardens, for fear that they should be returned to me with compound interest."

Better Prices for Farmers.

Sir Wilfrid repeated that the object of the agreement was simply to get better prices for the products of the Canadian farmer. He was surprised that it should receive the treatment it had received on the part of the opponents of the agreement. He said that the four principal objections taken to the agreement by the leader of the opposi-
