LOCAL MARKET.
London, Thursday, Aug. 9.
There was a good-sized crowd in attendance at the market this forenoon. Despite the fact that there was a large crowd of the citizens attending the Irish Benevolent Society's picnic, which helped to decrease the number of buyers, sales were fairly brisk in nearly every line. Prices were fairly well maintained.

Grain—Up to 11 o'clock not a load of oats had appeared on the square. The buyers have quite a number of orders to fill, therefore, there should be a good demand the remainder of the week.

Hay and Straw—There were only 7 loads of hay offered. Prices took a jump, selling at $3.50 to $3.75 per ton. There should be a good demand at Friday's market. Straw was in demand. There was only one load offered, which sold at $5.50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter sold well, and prices were firm for crocks, 20c and 21c; pound rolls sold at 22c by the basket. Eggs were in good demand at 15c per dozen, wholesale; a few choice lots of strictly fresh-laid eggs sold at 17c per dozen.

Vegetables and Roots—There was a nice assortment of vegetables. Sales fairly brisk. The following prices were mostly, frequently paid: Potatoes sold at 25c to 30c per bushel; cabbages sold at 25c to 30c per bushel; beans sold at 20c per peck or 3c per quart; peas were soon sold at 12c to 15c per quart. Other vegetables were plentiful at prices that were unchanged.

Fruit—Red raspberries were offered again today. They will not appear many times again this season. Prices were steady at 8c to 9c per box. Black thimbleberries sold at 8c per box by the crate. A load of wild thimbleberries sold at 7c and 7c for the 10-quart pail. Apples sold at 30c to 50c a bushel.

Poultry—There was not much offered. A few crates of live chickens sold at 60c to 70c per pair. They were as a rule a nice lot. No change in prices of ducks or old fowl.

Butcher's Meat—An average supply for a Thursday. Sales were fair and the following prices prevailed: Beef sold at $5 to $7 per cwt. Mutton, $6 to $8 per cwt. Veal was in demand at $3 to $3.50 per cwt. mostly at $3 to $3.50. Lamb, $5 to $6 per cwt.

Dressed Hogs—Prices went half a dollar today. Sales were made at $10 per cwt.

THE ERIN TRAGEDY

Charge Not Likely To Be Pressed
Against Young White.

Guelph, Aug. 8.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Berdina Swackhammer, of Erin, was held at the latter place this afternoon, Coroner Savage presiding.

Mr. Swackhammer, father of the deceased girl, her two brothers, Wesley and Warren, who drove Peter Wilson to Acton after the shooting, and County Constable Lawson, gave evidence as to the circumstances of the tragedy.

Dr. Horn, of Acton, gave medical testimony, and the boy's adopted father spoke of the lad's nature.

The evidence as to how the shooting occurred tended largely towards the accidental theory. Of course, there were no eye-witnesses of the affair, except Peter Wilson, in whose hands the gun was when it was discharged. He did not testify.

Stanley Swackhammer denied that any angry words passed between the boy and his father. Of course, there were no eye-witnesses of the affair, except Peter Wilson, in whose hands the gun was when it was discharged. He did not testify.

NEW PROVINCE GIVES BIG CROP

Saskatchewan Is Just Showing What It Can Do.

Lipton, Sask., Aug. 8.—This is a new district on the C. P. R. Kirkfield-Edmonton line, which last year produced 78,000 bushels of good wheat. This year another elevator is being built, and it is confidently predicted that 100,000 bushels of wheat will be marketed. This is an illustration of what is happening all over Saskatchewan, and gives an idea of what the province will do in the wheat-producing line when it gets down to real work.

I drove up today from Qu'Appelle, on the old trail, to Humboldt, and Prince Albert, which was traversed in 1885 by the boys who came out from the east to suppress the rebellion, and for years before that by the trains of Red River trading carts. The boys of 1885 would find fine wheat fields waving on the old camp grounds.

Mr. Lewis Rosevear, the manager of the Lipton lumber yards, was not satisfied I had seen enough of the country in my 32-mile drive, and after supper, drove me out 12 miles to the north to see "some real wheat fields." I saw a few. Three years ago there was just a tent at Lipton, and two years ago in October only one roof on the now thriving village, which boasts a hotel that would disgrace any town in the east. It will thus be seen that the district is so new not much can be expected in the way of wheat records. A few miles north we saw about 100 acres of wheat, which was light and could not be expected to do better than eighteen bushels to the acre. A mile or so further on my friend pointed out a field of 40 or more acres, which he said last year yielded 52 bushels per acre. This year it is also a sight to gladden the eyes. The grain stands up straight and thick, as high as the barbed wire fence around the field, and so level that one could walk the top of it.

The stalks are thick and the heads large and maturing well. It is good for 45 bushels per acre. The next farm opposite boasts an exactly similar field of about 25 acres, and another of perhaps 100 acres. Other fields are adding to the list, and the average of the district is not far from 40 bushels per acre. The average of the district is not far from 40 bushels per acre. The average of the district is not far from 40 bushels per acre.

The management are particularly anxious that the exhibition of 1906 should be a grand success, not only for their standpoint in the matter of large attendance, which means financial success, but also that those who exhibit and all who patronize it should be satisfied and ready to come again next year.

PAINTED AND TARRED
Rough Treatment Handed Out to an Offending Member.

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 9.—At East Syracuse tonight a crowd of fifty men went to the house of Frank L. Rice, a railway employee, and found Edward Connors, another railway man, whose attentions to Mrs. Rice the villagers have for some time objected to.

Connors was hiding in a bathroom, and was dragged into the street, stripped of his clothes, and painted from head to foot with green paint in lieu of tar. A coat of feathers was then added.

The crowd threatened the same punishment for Mrs. Rice, but she begged on her knees for mercy and promised to leave the village. After being released, Connors returned to the Rice house, and, securing a gun, threatened to shoot anyone who approached.

For several days Connors and the Rice woman have been receiving warnings and orders to leave the village, but paid no attention to them; the woman's husband is absent from home on business.

WILL STAY IN FRANCE
Equitable Life Company to Conform to the New Insurance Law.

Paris, Aug. 8.—Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, gave out the following statement today:

"After the most deliberate consideration it has been decided that the Equitable shall apply for registration under the new insurance laws of France, make the necessary deposits with the Government, and continue doing business here. I am thoroughly convinced of the most friendly disposition on the part of the French authorities towards the American companies, and that they desire to have us remain. The new laws of France are no more stringent than the new American statutes. Although we don't like the retroactive features, we shall comply with them. Our society already owns a valuable realty in Paris, so it will be no hardship for us to comply with the requirement to invest in French securities."

The statement says that the rapid business development in the United States offers French investors exceptional opportunities to secure selected American securities as being sound and yielding larger returns than investments anywhere else in the world.

The Emir of Afghanistan recently discovered that three of the muffs of his court had been grafted and also had ordered them buried alive and was done without delay.

THE EVANS MILLIONS

The Heirs of Napoleon's Friend Demanded an Accounting.

New York, Aug. 9.—The fight over the $5,000,000 estate of the late Dr. Thomas W. Evans, the famous American dentist of Paris, and friend of Napoleon III., who died in that city on Nov. 14, 1871, has been resurrected. Frederic R. Couderc applied to Justice Giechert in the supreme court yesterday for an order to compel the executor and trustees to permit an inspection of all the records in Evans' hands with the estate he is permitted to make copies of all vouchers, and for an instruction by the court that no books or inventories shall be destroyed.

The heirs are anxious to know what has become of the $4,000,000 delivered to the French executors. Nine years have elapsed since Dr. Evans' death.

Under his will $250,000 was left outright to relatives, between $100,000 and $200,000 for a tomb, and the residuary estate was to go to the city of Philadelphia for a museum containing the treasures gathered by Dr. Evans. This estate is estimated to consist of more than $4,000,000 in real and personal property in France; more than $1,000,000 in the state of New York and upward of $100,000 in Philadelphia.

The heirs objected to the provision which gave the French executors only $250,000 and brought suit to break the will. A compromise was reached whereby they were to receive an additional $500,000, and this agreement was ratified by the courts. On account of this agreement $100,000 has been paid, together with most of the specific bequests, but the heirs are clamoring for the other $700,000. The city of Philadelphia is anxious to establish the museum.

NUMEROUS ENTRIES FOR THE FAIR
Exhibitors Securing Space in All the Departments—The Programme.

Programmes for the Western Fair will soon be issued, which will give full information of the speed events and daily performance before the grand stands. Any person by calling at the secretary's office, may have one, or more, mailed along with the prize list, to any address they wish.

With the coming of the King's horses, and the extraordinary list of attractions promised this year, many of which are entirely new and novel, and the splendid opportunity which the regular service plan will afford the patrons of the Fair, there should certainly be a grand rally this year. Inquiry at the general offices reveals the fact that a large number of entries have been received in all departments, and those wishing space should apply at once.

The building this year promises special interest in the butter-making competitions, and the machinery and transportation building will be filled with exhibits, not only attractive, but of unusual interest to the farming community.

The management are particularly anxious that the exhibition of 1906 should be a grand success, not only for their standpoint in the matter of large attendance, which means financial success, but also that those who exhibit and all who patronize it should be satisfied and ready to come again next year.
