Cornell of the use water from an artesian well, It is pure, but very hard and rather constipating. The tea kettle constantly shows a white deposit. A physician sald constant use of this water would hasten old age and hardening of the arteries. Would you advise purchasing a filtering outfit? (Mrs. S. D. H.)

ANSWER—No. If the water is fit to drink, its hardness is of no consequence of a shealth is concerned. Filtering would probably not alter the hardness. There is no reason to imagine that hard water has any such influence upon the Centennial Methodist parsonage on August 23, when Mrs. Ethel Wright.

TRANSMIGRATION.
[Ethel Wolff.]

Do we return according to our rating Over life's highway in another guise-Go limping, overburdened, brokenhearted,
Gaily to pass again with love-lit eyes, or faring onward, coldly self-important, Giving no aid and deaf to each appeal, come back to find a world of feet about us.

And cringe obedient at a master's heel?

What was I once—a vagrant without shelter?

Surely I knew life under an open sky! Gay memories come and go, dim and uncertain,
Of prowling nights with others such as I;
Of streets in the pale dawn, blank-eyed or shuttered, Down which I plodded on my aimless way;
Of bare black countrysides with scanty hedges,
Where I crouched shuddering to wait the day.

Poor little mortals, laughing, fighting, weeping,
Our life's highway to the Styx we go:

Ellen, and Ireland promptly changed its spelling to the delightful and typical Aileen, sometimes called Eileen.

The ballads which Irish talent has devoted to various fair Aileens, with whom "mavourneen" is so euphoniously coupled, would fill volumes. Aileen became almost a national name, and certainly a symbol of national beauty. The number of fair Irish maids who bore the title of Aileen is legion. It is fitting that the pearl, the fairest of gems, should be assigned to Aileen. It will prove a talisman against age and sorrow. For her it is believed to exercise its power to bestow youth, beauty and charm, Monday is her lucky day, and 7 her lucky number. WHAT'S IN A NAME?

rather concealed in mystical phrases or vague suggestions. There is one thing absolutely essential in the instruction of young peopla concerning the truths of life, and that is frankness. You can't deceive a child for long. And when the child finds out that you have misrepresented something of such paramount importance, what will be the child's feeling toward you and all your teachings? Another serious aspect of the problem is the effort of unqualified teachers to impart such knowledge to children coming under their influence, in school or in Sunday school. Unless the teacher has had special training in this branch of pedagogy he or she should not attempt to give such instruction. P. S. DOBSON, M.A., Principal Alma College, St. Thomas R. I.
