interference and with only slight changes in the usual system of betting. Outwardly there were no signs that a stubborn legislative battle had been waged at Albany for two months to make race track gambling impossible in this state, but to one familiar with the old conditions and one familiar with the old conditions and the state of the stat interference and with only slight changes longs : one familiar with the old conditions and one familiar with the old conditions and methods of New York race tracks, there were apparently many small concessions to the public sentiment against the betting system. Public interest, in fact, was centred almost as strongly in the rumored changes in the betting pavilions as in the betting on the various fields of thorobreds that made up an attractive program.

TOURTH RACE—The Carter Handicap, for 3-year-olds and up, guaranteed cash value $10,000, 7 furlongs:

1. Jack Atkin, 122 (Musgrave), 8 to 1.

2. Red River, 108 (Fairbrother), 30 to 1.

3. Chapultepec, 105 (McDaniel), 5 to 2.

Time 1.274-5. Brookdale Nymph, Meelick, Rifleman, Welbourne, Don Enrique, Oxford, Berkeley, Angelus and Rosimiro also ran.

FIFTH RACE—The Carter Handicap, for 3-year-olds and up, guaranteed cash value $10,000, 7 furlongs:

1. Jack Atkin, 122 (Musgrave), 8 to 1.

2. Red River, 108 (McDaniel), 5 to 2.

changes in the betting pavilions as in the betting on the various fields of thorobreds that made up an attractive program.

Of these fields, the Carter riandicap, with its rich prize of $10,000, was the one big feature. The race went to Jack Atkin, Barney Schreiber's good horse; Red River second and Chapultepec, the favorite, third. Jack Atkin was held at 8 to 1 in the betting, Red River at 30 to 1 and Chapultepec at 5 to 2. Meelick finished fourth and Brookdale Nymph firth, both at 8 to 1. The time was 1.27 4-5 for the seven furiongs, a very creditable performance, conlongs, a very creditable performance, considering the heavy track.

1. The time was 1.27 4-5 for the seven furlongs, a very creditable performance, considering the heavy track.

A more unpropitious day could scarcely be conceived to bring out the thousands of New Yorkers who annually attend the opening of the races. Low, scurrying, grey clouds drizzled a cold moisture over everything, and an east wind drove in an ocean mist that for a while obscured the farthest outlines of the track. In spite of those disagreeable climatic conditions, however, there were 15,000 spectators in the grand stand and on the field when the inaugural scramble of five furlongs went to Pantoufle. Most of these thousands went down to the Long Island course with a feeling of much uncertainty as to what restrictions might hedge about the business of betting. Predictions and rumors of interference that ran the course from the absurd statement that all those betting or taking bets would be arrested, to the more conservative statement that bookmakers would be forced to accept wagers without the comfort and convenience of stools or cash box, were handed about on train and trolley car. As usual, the conservative view proved to be correct. There was betting, almost as much as usual, but there were certain restrictions on both the bettor and the bookie. For instance, no more than 125 books were allowed in the main betting pavilion and 100 in the field. All stools and cash boxes were barred, the bookmakers taking up their stand in two long rows and accepting any paying wagers out of hand. Programs, with the odds marked opposite the horses' names, furnished the only information available to the speculators. No bet of less than $5 was accepted in the main pavillon, while $2 was the minimum wager permissible in the field. These changes had no appreciable effect on the eager bettors. There was plenty of money, apparently, and it was wagered as freely as in previous years.

The entries for the Canadian National Horse Show, to be held on April 29 and 30, May 1 and 2, close on Saturday with the secretary, W. J. Stark, Metropolitan Bank (market branch), East King-street. A large number have already been recived, and undoubtedly every class will be well filled. The quality of horses now available has never been equaled. There will be several horses that have won blue ribbons in the New York Show, and there will be at least two hunters which have won at the International Show in London. Exhibitors can secure certificates entitling them to reduced railway rates for themselves and horses, from the secretary.
