Seventh Annual Meeting.

The Annual Meeting of the Corporation of this Institution was held on Monday, November the 19th, in the Library of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. W. B. McMurrich presiding.

After the Meeting had been opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Pearson, letters of regret were read from His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, His Worship the Mayor, Mr. O. A. Howland, M.P.P., and others: the Secretary was then called upon to read the report as follows:

The year ending September, the 30th, 1894, has been marked by no special effort in the work of the Convalescent Home, since the building of the new wing for men, the papering and painting of the old house, and the construction of a main sewer to connect with the city sewer on Bathurst street, south of the C. P. R. track. We have, in a manner, rested on our oars, feeling that there was no occasion for further outlay at present, as every department of the Home was in excellent working order.

We have accommodation for forty-eight patients, viz.: twenty-five women, and twenty-three men; the wards are light, airy, and well ventilated; and the south and west verandahs afford a delightful place for exercise at all seasons of the year. In addition to this, we have accommodation for private patients, consisting of three bed-rooms, bath-room and a sitting-room, together with verandahs for their special use
