

The death of His Grace the Duke of Argyle, for sixty years an honorary member of the Society, called forth at the May meeting an expression of deep regret, and an appropriate resolution was engrossed, signed and forwarded to Inverary Castle.

The Society has also to deplore the loss of its late President, Lieut.-Col. Cosby ; of William Christie, one of its most generous supporters, and Alexander Cromar, T. M. Burnside, Alexander Gemmell, William Grindly, J. F. Kirk, John Laidlaw, Duncan McIntosh, Campbell Mackenzie, George S. Morrice, Thomas Armstrong.

At the October meeting His Grace the Duke of Argyle was elected an honorary member, and at the same meeting Mr. William Thomson, who for fifty years had been a resident member in good standing, was also elected an honorary member of the Society.

The proprietors of The Weekly Scotsman, Edinburgh, and William Ramsay, Esq., of Bowlands, have again favored the Society with boxes of heather from Scottish hills, for which the thanks of the Society are due.

The total number of members on the roll, as amended, is two hundred and seventy-six.

Honorary Members.....	11
Life Members.....	15
Resident Members.....	234
Members elected in 1900.....	16
	—
	276