ooughs and cold Warren St., N. Y. List free. Addree ks, Pittsburg, Pa and remarkable ly $65, PIANOS ly $135. Great Washington, N. Y 1. 36 best sell One sample free Detroit, Mich PUBLISHED BY A. W. SMITH. for the Firesid Free. Address Augusta, Main IAM & CO.'s. VOL. XLV. andt St., N.) $100. Summer Evening in the Country. round again, and mayhap ask my par- the place. Then I gave up hope. I doh. For before you are wed you can went home all pale and trembling, and ns or Privileges) stails and Officia ass T. POTFER reet. New York The summer sun is settin The sky is red in the west, world-Import pany in Americ rade continue And over all hangs silence, And a feeling of peace and rest. reals to Y., P. O. Box 1287 ONES The sultry day is over. The light begins to fade, The farmer's weary horses d volume of tone onials for 3c. Ad Mallet Creek, O Are standing in the shade * Novelties The golden light of sunset e by mail on spplication to Shines on the corn-fields round And the breeze, as it passes over, turing Publish Joston, Mass. Makes a sweet rippling sound. of the best in th due. 1V. dings, fences, two on the farm. The ols and churches sat, 2% miles from dress J. O. Harris, j, Ottawa, 118. The range of distant mountains Looks dark against the sky. And right across the river A path of light doth lie. LVE I gazed till my eyes were dazzled At the slowly sinking sun : Till the stars preped out above, Telling the day was done.

Evan and the Squire.

rose and made him a courtesy."

gold in the October sunlight.

grieve. May I come in ?"

fine company

his pr

Evan.

help either.

He was a handsome gentleman, the squire, and the hand from which he pulled the glove shimmered in the sun with pearls and diamonds; and he was bonny to look at with his hair like spun his curls dance over his shoulders, and, said he, "I've spoiled one pretty picture that I could have looked at all day, but I've made another as pretty, so I'll not sat a chair for him, for he was grand-father's landlord; but for all that I felt

He talked away, paying me more compliments than I was used to, for grandmother, who brought me up, always said, "Handsome is as handsome does," and "Beauty is but skin deep." Since I'm telling the story I'll tell the truth. I had done wrong about one thing. Neither of the old folks knew

"And welcome, sir," said I; and I comfortable, for I was not used to

When I courtesied he bowed, making

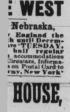

by SETH W.

Headache. ECKER'S BALSAM

SURE CURE ED, WEAK EYES, SORE EYELIDS.

OWERY, N. Y. MAIL FOR 35

Square the City Upsurpassed

N'S

that I wore Evan Locke's ring in my bosom, or that we'd taken a vow to each other beside the hawthorn that grew in the church lane. I never meant ceive, but grannie was old and a love. little hard, and that love of mine was That night I kissed his ring, and such a sweet secret. Besides, money seems to outweight all else when people have struggled all their lives through ribbon and all, from my to make his fortune. her of the fine speeches, but there was he must know I loved him so, a keyhole to the door she came through, And grandma would scaree and I have a guess she heard them. think of. Misfortunes had come upon grandfather; but I didn't foresee that, when 'the half year's rent should come due, not a penny to pay it with would bring your lover to his senses when you will. So I did not fret after Evan's absence, "And for the sake of so false a lad nor quite snub Squire Turner, who liked me more than ever. But one break his heart, and leave me, that have night grandfather came in from a lonely ride, and shutting the door, stood benursed you from a babe, a widow." I looked at her as she sobbed, and I

The state of the second that I could not pay his rent when it wouldn't come. I opened my lips. grandmamma's

I sat spinning at my little wheel, in the sun, for the autumn day was cold, when 1 heard some one whistling, and, of white roses on Christmas eve," cried grannie. "I knew the lass would be looking up, there was young Squire Turner, with his arms folded on the But I put my head on grandfather's houlder and hid my face. The truth gate, looking over. When he caught my eye he laughed and blushed; and 1 must out, I knew. "Wilt have him, and be a rich lady ?" said grandpa. And when he had waited for an answer, I burst out with "No" and a sob together. "She's frightened," said grandmam-ma. "Nay, we must all wed once in our lives, my child." Then grandpa talked to me. He told me how poor they had grown, and how kind the squire was, and I had but to marry him to make my grandparents free from debt and poverty their lives through. If I refused and vexed the squire, heaven only knew what might happen.

"She'll never ruin her poor grandpapa," sobbed grandmamma. Ah! it was hard to bear-bitter hard; but now there was no hope for it.

took the ring from my bosom and laid it n my palm, and told them it was Evan Locke's, and that I had plighted ny troth to him. And grandmamma called me a deceitful wench, and grandfather looked as though his heart would break. Oh, I would have done anything for them-anything but give up my true prayed heaven that he might love me always. In the morning it was gone, ribbon and all, from my neck. I looked to turn a penny, and they knew Evan for it high and low, but found no sign was a poor struggling surgeon. I thought I'd wait a while until I could sweeten the news with the fact that he'd begun to make his forture. (What do you mean?" wid I to make his fortune. Grannie came in from the dairy five minutes after the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell her of the five model in the squire was gone, and he model in the squire was gone, and heard he had been there. I didn't tell he had provoked, when I spoke it that And grandma would scarcely look at ad I have a guess she heard them. That night we had something else to sighed and moaned, and talked of the work-house. And I thought I should die of grief among them. One day grandma said to me, "It seems that your sweetheart is not over seems that your sweetheart is not over seems that your sweetheart is not over eyes bright, and led me into a little room and seated me. "Agatha, my love, I hope no mischance brings you here," he began. But I stopped him.

E VARIAS SUMENDUM EST OPTIMUM. - Cic.

SAINT ANDREWS, NEW BRUNSWICK, JULY 24, 1878.

said "Not you. The offense-the guilthad fainted. I would have thanked heaven for forgetfulness just them, but I could do was to sob and think he I opened my lips. grandmamma's hand covered them. grandpa drew me to him.. "Thou art you.g, lass," he said "and they are right who call thee pretty. Say, could'st thou like the squire well enough to wed him ?" "Eh ?" cried grandma. "Sure you're not wandering ?" "Squire Turner asked me for this has hould his wife, and that is our Agatha." it wouldn't come. The next day Squire Turner was in the parlor as my accepted lover. How pleased he was, and how the color came of the house was aglow, and only I sad. But I couldn't forget Evan—Evan whom I had loved so—sailing away from me without a word. I suppose they all saw I looked sad. The squire talked of my health, and would make me ride with him over the moors for strength. The old folks said nothing. They knew I die," t wouldn't come. The next day Squire Turner was in came to me. I went back to the first moors for strength. The old folks said nothing. They knew I die." Then, as I looked all the rich color what ailed me; only our little Scotch maid seemed to think there was aught faded out of the squire's face, and I saw the sight we seldom see more than once in a lifetime --- a strong young man in At last he arose and came to me.

> I had not grieved him, he gave me his arm and saw me across the moor, and at the gate paused and whispered: ""Be at rest, Agatha. The Canadian before that night when I told grannie that I would never wed him. Eh ! but he was fit to be a king-the prayed to be taken from the world; "for grandest, kindest, best of living men; who rode away with the break of the I spoke the words aloud, and then morrow and never stopped till he reach-ed Liverpool and found Evan Locke just started up in affright, for there at my side was an elfish little figure, and l ready to set foot upon the Golden George, and told him a tale that made his heart heard a cry that at first I scarce thought earthly. Yet it was but Scotch Jennie, who had followed me. light and sent him back to me, but our young squire ? Heaven bless him ! And who was it that sent our grand-"Why do ye call for your true love now?" she said; "ye sent him fra ye for father the deed of gift that made cottage his own, and who spoke a kind "How dare you follow and watch word to the gentry for young Dr. Locke that helped him into practice ? Still no one but Squire Turner, whom we'taught But she caught my sleeve. "Dinna be vexed," she said. "Just bide a wee, and answer what I speer. our children to pray for every night. For we were married and in a few years It's for love of you, for I've seen ye had boys and girls at our knees; and waste like the snaw wreath in the sur when the eldest was nigh two, the thing came our squire, with the bonniest lady that ever blushed beside him, and the hall had a mistress at last-and water level, iron pillars were substituted for brick. The level at the shores is betress who loved the squire as I loved

The Japanese assassing who recently murdered the Minister Okubo (the Emperor's favorite minister) were a curious set of murderers. According to the But I stopped him. "Not your love, Squire Turner," I said. "I thank you for thinking so well of me, but even after all that has passed, I—" L could say no more. He took my L could say no more. "Have I offended you, Agatha ?" he day a letter was found signed on the outside by a fictitious name, but within by two of the assassins, Shimada and Ch kan jo," which may be translated "A letter on the murder of the traitor," and its contents were substantially as fol-lows: "We are about to assassinate Okubo for five reasons : First, he is selfish and tyrannical, preferring des potism to liberty; secondly, he consider Japanese Assassins.

Asimilar

and uses the law as his plaything, and is very arbitrary and proud; thirdly, he employs the public money in a foolish and extravagant manner, fourthly, he will not admit patriots to a share in the government, thus exciting rebellion; fifthly he does not know how to sustain the national dignity in dealings with other governments." This document which covered thirteen pages of manuscript, and which was clothed with scholarly language, was handed in to the police by the proprietors of the paper when its character was discovered. In the mean time the six assasins had met Okubo cut him to pieces, washed their hands a a neighboring spring, and proceeded to the palace, where they proclaimed the deed and gave themselves up to justice. The mikado of Japan spared no effort to do honor to the remains of his mur dered adviser. The prince imperial bowed humbly before the inanimate body, and the seven sons of Okubo, one after another, down to the little one of four, laid bundles of green, bound with white ribbon, before the casket. fate of the assassins is not known, as torture has not been abolished, t ed, their punishment was no doubt terrible A Bridge Two Miles Long.

bnt

The railway bridge across the Tay at Dundee (Scotland) is over two mile long. Including the extension on the northern shore, the exact length is 10,-612 feet—that is to say, it is longer than the Victoria bridge, Montreal, and Britannia tubular bridge taken together. This great length is taken in eighty-five spans of varying width. There are longer viaducts over marshes and meadows, but there is no bridge of the same length over a running stream. The greatest difficulty which the engineers encountered arose from the varying character of the bed of the river. Near the shore, the rocky bed was easily reached, and on it piers were built of brick throughout.

tween seventy and eighty feet above the sea; in the middle it is 130 feet above

Ammonia in the Kitchen

The pantry shelves are getting grimy,

Items of Interest.

NO. 30.

$2.50 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

Head man-The phrenologist. The muscles of the human jaw exert rce of 584 pounds.

The only people who really enjoy health are the doctors. There is a sad lack of work aboring classes in Italy. Texas is larger than Fran an 40,000 square miles. Lost at sea-the boy who now his alphabet past B.

An ordinary gas flame requ auch air as nine persons.

How to make a match safead of the match in water.

The light of lightning, and its reflec tions, will penetrate through a distant of from 150 to 200 miles.

It was an American belle, just ba from Europe who said of Switterlan "Pretty place, but it struck me the were too many lakes and too few you

It is said that following many voca ions has ruined the life of many a man Following none has ruined a great

A heavy dew is regarded as the pre cursor of rain, because its formation i dicates that the air is saturated wi noisture.

Before paper came into use letter were written on wooden tablets, made from boc or beech wood, and hence is derived the word book.

When a man is deeply, madly, irre vocably in love, even the air seems fil with imps of sugar, while the shingle on the house that contains his Dulcine look like sheets of molasses taffy.

A wonderful thing is seed — The one thing deathless forever The one thing changeless—utterly true Forever old and forever new, And fickle and faithless never.

Plant blessings, and blessings will bloom

Yon can sow to-day-to-morrow The blossom that proves what sort of the seed—the seed you sow.

The Journal's printers are None but the with great care. with great care, show profession are suf-fered to manipulate the lead that preerves the pure gems of thought ripple from the æsthetic departmen lesterday a sad-eyed person made hi appearance and politely requested the foreman for a job. "You may go t work," said the foreman, " but if you d not prove satisfactory you may expec summary dismissal." "Very said the man, "I can stand a sur dismissal at this season of the year This shocked the foreman, but wrong. Once she said to me : "What ails ye, miss? Your eye is dull and your cheek is pale, and you braw grand lover canne make ye smile; ye are na that ill, either." "My little Agatha never loved me," he said. "Ah, me ! The news is bad-I thought she did. This comes of "Gin ye'd tell me your all, I might tell you a cure," she said. vanity. "Many a higher and a fairer have But there was no cure for me in this hearts to give," I said. "Mine was world, and I couldn't open my heart to simple Jennie. So the days rolled by, gone ere you saw me." And then, kind and gentle as though and I was close on my marriage eve, and grannie and Dorothy Plume were busy with my wedding robes. I wished it was my shrcud they were working at.

ship Golden George has not sailed yet." I liked him better than I had ever done And one night the pain in my heart grew too great, and I went ont among the purple heather on the moor, and

S ON & CTRAC ES ALE CO. INCE I-FAT harmiess. It acts eventing its being cordance with di-m from two to five The second structure in the second structure in the second structure in the second structure is none express, upon re NE CO., s, Buffalo, N. F

LINE for Quint cent NEDY ORLD EVER ISEASES. and receipt of price stan STREES, NEW I up the maders of 27

Original issues in Poor Condition Best copy available

All this time Evan Looke and I had you. "Why not ?" said I. een as fond as ever of each other, and "Where has he been this month he came as often as before to talk with grandpa on the winter nights; and still back ?" every little while our young landlord, Squire Tarner, would drop in and sit in his lazy way watching me knit or spin. Once or twice he was flushed with wine, and over bold, for he tried to kiss me. grandma. But, squire or no, I boxed his ears for maybe." "Where?" said I. ins, and no softer than I could

She went to the kitchen door and L could not help his coming, nor help beckoned in a woman who sat thereseeing him when he came, and I did not deserve that Evan should be angry with Dame Coombs, who had come over with eggs. "I heard you rightly," she said.

me. But he was. Eh, so high and mighty, and spoke as though one like "You told me Evan Locke and his the squire could mean no good by commother were making ready for a voy age," "They're going to Canada. My sor ing to so poor a place as the schoolmas

He made me angry, and I spoke up. "For that matter, the squire would e glad to have me promise to marry things. The old lady dreads the new be glad to have me promise to marry "May be you like him better," said '' May be you like him better," said '' Ann. '' I told you so," said grandmother. '' I don't say that," replied I. '' But '' I don't believe it," said I. him," said I. "He thinks more of me than you do just now."

bad temper and jealousy scarce make be over fond of another. I pray I may "They've sold the house, and gone to never have a husband who will scold

For he had been scolding me. There was no other name for it. Well, Evan was wroth with me and I with him—not heart deep, though, I thought—and I, did not see him for more than a week, I was troubled much, though. I knew he would come

"What do you mean ?" said I.

"No, I'm well enough," said I.

She looked at me wistfully.

there knelt down under the stars sake o' the young squire."

now can I live without Evan ?" I said.

instead.

"I'll speak gin I lose my place," said mistress to "I rode with the Jennie. young Do tor Locke's place passed the moor, and there she lighted and gave him a ring, and what she said I know not, but it turned him the tint o' death, and said he: 'There's na a drop o' tru bluid in a woman 'gin she is false.' And he turned to the wall and covered his you !

And had I wings on my feet I could not have come to the cottage door back ?' "Busy, doubtless," said I, with a smile, though I thought my heart would intert bling and white, and I said: "Oh, don't tell me, you have cheated me and robbed tell me, bling and white, and I said: "Oh, don't tell me, you have cheated me and robbed bling and white, and I said: "Oh, don't tell me, you have cheated me and robbed spaces thereof. —Theodore Parker. "Perhaps you know all about it," maid me of my true love by a lie. Did you rrandma. "You are going with him, naybe." may be able to be able t You I've loved and honored my life long—I'd rather die than think it."

She turned scarlet. "True love?" said she. " von've hu one love now-Squire Turner. "You have done it!" I cried. "It's written on your face." And she looked down and fell to weep-

"My own true love was breaking his hearty" she said. "My husband and I heart," she said. "My husband did it to have loved for fifty years. I did it to save him. Could I let a girl's fancy, worth nothing, stand in my way, and see him a beggar in his old age? Oh girl, girl!"

And then I fell down at her feet like stone. I knew nothing for an hour of more; but then, when I was better, and they left me with Jennie, I bade her "They we sold the house, and gone to Liverpool to take ship; and yon may find the truth for yourself, if you choose to take the trouble," said Dame Goomba. "I'm no chatterbox, to tell falsehoods about my neighbors." And she went

Words of Wisdom.

the top of the bridge, which carries the Ennui is the ghost of murdered time. He is rich who is poor enough to be

If laughter is the daylight of the soul, smile is its twilight.

vent

er your conduct. when you are convinced you are wrong.

is superior to the prejudices of the world, ask him to carry a parcel for you. the dirt; it is worth more than half a When we are alone we have our Every one looking downward become

"Suppose," said an Iowa lawyer to a witness he was trying to badger recently, "suppose I should tell you that I could A rapid writer dra fetch my hood and cloak and her own, and away I went across the moor in the starhght to where the hall windows were ablaze with light, and asked the hous-keeper to let me see the squire. She stared at me for my boldness—no wonder—but called him. So in a mo-ment he stood before me in his evening dress with his chacks a finhed and his starned down.

presence of mind enough to say. winter your alley at once and go t work." "Yes," answered the villain Further out it was found that the rock suddenly shelved away to a great depth under clay and gravel. There the cylinders, filled with concrete, which "I will fall to immediately." "Sprin then !" yelled the foreman. "I don think you autumn make me"-but b form the foundation, were made of much greater diameter, and, above the highfore he could say the rest he was a sta dank corpse .--- St. Louis Journal.

Chinese Barbers.

The Chinese mode of wearing the hai makes the flowery land the paradise of high-water mark. The platform on barbers, and the Chinese barber has n single line of rails, is only fifteen feet his counterpart the world over. Fro dawn he is in the streets carrying upo his shoulders at either end of a long boo, adorned with an effigy of a chi merical creature, the paraphernalia of craft. Eagerly on the lookout for an one whose poll is not perfectly shave or finger-marks around the door latche and knobs are looking dark and unsightly. For lack of time they are left day after day, for it is hard work to scour all the time, and it wears off the paint, too. The husband keeps his botthe skull under his manipulat tle of oil, or perhaps a large can holds it, he never stints in that, Now sup it, he never stints in that. Now suppose his wife has her bottle of spirits of he passes on to the pigtail, which ammonia to use: she takes her basin of water and a clean cloth, just puts on a greatest care. Useless as it seems few drops of the fluid, and wipes off all us, it really is by no means so. schoolmaster brings it smartly to bea on the fingers of recalcitrant youth, th day's labor, and does not hurt the paint ass driver has no other instrumen wherewith to stimulate his beast, th either. She could put a few drops in her dish water and see how easily the man tired of life employs it as a hangin rope, and lastly the executioner seiz hold of it when he decapitates a man. dishes could be cleaned; a few drops on a sponge would clean all the windows in the sitting-room, making them shine like crystal. It would take the stains off the teaspoons, and a teaspoonful in the mop-pail would do more good than

A rapid writer draws his pen through 300 days 43,200.000.

-The following two sets of week-da rhymes are common in the North of Eng land :-Monday's bairn is fair of face, Tuesday's bairn is full of grace, Wednesday's bairn is full of woe, Thursday's bairn has far to go, Friday's bairn is loving and giving, Saturday's bairn must work for his living, But the bairn that's born on Sunday Is brisk, bonnie, wise and gay.

Week-Day Rhymes.

AGAIN. AGAN. Born on Monday will have health, Born on Tuesday will have wealth, Born on Wednesday will have good luck, Born on Friday will meet with losses, Born on Saturday will do no good, Born on Saturday will do no good, Born on Sunday has nothing particular.

Never relate your misfortunes, and never grieve over what you cannot pre-

Dare to change your mind, confess your error, and alter your conduct, when

If you wish to know whether anybody thoughts to watch; in our families, our temper; and in society, our tongues. impressed with his own greatness, but looking upward, feels his own littleness. Life is the living. The marble palace is not always the bower of love. Every kind word is a flower which will beautify