"But during the summer of 1899 we were told that their lordships the biccops, had held a mysterious reunion at St. John, N. B., with a view. to give coadjutors to Mgr. Rogers and Mgr. Sweney, with the right of succession. But as we had been requested to await at least the death of one of the bishops I would not, as far as I was concerned, believe in the rumor The walls, however, had ears, and sometimes tongues also, and later on we were given to understand that the bishops had reconsidered the nomination of successors to Mgr. Roberts and Mgr. Smeeney, who were still alive, and that the two Dignissimi, most wor thy were Vrishmen, but that in order to cover up appearances they had submitted the name of an Acadian priest, one out of six, as a disguise. "They had, in a word, played upon our good faith and we were beaten. We also heard at a subsequent period that their lordships the bishops had been notified by a letter from the cardinal prefect of the propaganda, that Rome had decided to establish a permanent apostolic delegation in Canada and that his excellency Mgr. Falconio was the first titulary. This therefore, explained why the meeting of bishops at St. John had been surrounded with so much mystery and why they had precipitated matters so as to have everything arranged before the arrival of Mgr. Falconio. We went to see him as soon as he landed. but it was too late. The conservatism of the two coadjutors took place in St. John Feb. 11, 1900, and, as it will be remembered, not a single Acadian priest or layman was present, the result being that instead of having five bishops, strangers to our nationality, we then had seven. There was mourning throughout the whole Acadian land, shared in by the executive of our society."
