BLACKWOODS MAGAZINE. AND THE BRITISH REVIEWS.

L. SCOTT & CO, NEW YORK, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals;

The London Quarterly (Conservative). The Edinburgh Review (Whig).

The North British Review (Free Church). The Westminster Review (Liberal).

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

THE Subscriber having bought out the Drug establishment and business of Mr. F. W. Brown of which he has been the manager for eighteen mouths, intends to carry it on, on his own account. From nearly four years experience of the business he feels confident that he can afford to the public satisfaction, both as to the quality of the goods which he will keep for sale, and in his own personal attention to the making up of prescriptions, and to the general wasts of customers.

On commencing business for himself he feels that his success must depend upon strict attention to the demands of the business, and to the quality of the goods he keeps; and he trusts that in both these respects the management of his shop will be such to insure a fair share of the public confidence and patronage.

He will keep constantly on hand a full stock of DRUGS & MEDICINES. The present critical state of European affairs will render these publication unusually interesting the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and the excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look to the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well established literary, scientific, and theological character, we arge them upon the conderation of the reading public.
