BRNEDICTION FROM A SICK CHILD A worker in a Manchester slum told once of how a whole family was complete 15 tranaformed by the presence of a de formed child. The father was a navvy the lads were course and uncouth; but there was born into the home a crippled chlid, and that deformed baby became the polnt upon which the love of the whole familly centered. The man nursed and petted hio child of an evening ; the boy made playthings, and ahowed their effection for her in all sorts of pleasant - ways The mother tept the mindom clear, the ber child, pillowed on the table, migbt look out on the court ; and tre visitor look out on the court; a and tre visito deolared that she witneased an absolate tranaformation, an elevating and refiolog process, which went right through the bousehold.
In old days there were angels who came and took men by the hand, and led them way from the citr of cestruction. W aee no white.winged angels now. But yet men are thus led. $A$ hand io put in thelra men are thus led. A hand ia put in theira Which leads them forth gently towards calm and bright land, so that they look no a little child' r .-SHan Marner.

' THE ANCHOR HOLDS

S. E. Glipin, kindly sends the poem ukked for by J. S. Maxwell, and accom panies it $\boldsymbol{\text { ith }}$ the following note
J. W. Bengough happened to be in the memorial service of the General Conference when the ohituary notice of Mr. © if. kills, * student of Vietoris College was reed. If wan stated that pis las words were 'Till the boys the enchor holds.' Mr, Bengoggh ceught the besut! fal thonght and bence the poem
'Tell the thoys the anchor tiolth)
These the eorde he whispered clear.
While wt guthered at the bedside
Tell the bors the aucher belid
Teit the boys he nucher bolde in death's have of ploom and terrol By thee stande thy rleen Lord. Choras:
Qlorinus bope in death's dark passage Jeens' ar repgth thy form enfolds. Tell the hoya the snctior holda,
Tell the bnys the anchor holds Pree salvation through the blood, This the safety of the annl
In the middt of Jordan's flood,
No van fable is onr faijn,
Peaceful rides the little batgu
On the swelling tdd-s of death
'Tell the boys the anchor holds And a smile of rapture dee Lighted up the bappy foce
Tell the boys the auchror hold.
so the words for evermore
Seem to echo faint and sweet
From the far off heavenly store

"IT TAKES TWO."

A lod of seventeen was telling an older Iriend, recently, of an experience he had had that dav. As the apprentice of a carpenter, he had been sent to a asloon to take the measures for a new counter. It was very bold weather, and he arrived with hio teeth fairly cbattering in his head, for his coat was thin. The asioonkeeper fmmediately mixed a hot drink and puahed it over the connter to bim "It'll cost you nothing," he , sidd; "drink It down, and you'll soan stop shivering, my boy."
"He meant it kindly, too, and didn't think any harm," sald the, apprentice, as he told the atory. "That's what mane it harder to push it back, and I didn't want "It must have been a blg temptation,", said the friend. "That saloon-keeper might have started you on the road to ruln.
'Well," replided the lad, frankly, "I'd rather have had it than some other kinds. You see, it iakes two to make a temptation There's no saloon-keeper and no cold weather can make me drink when I don't want to The temptation I'm afraid of is the one that $I$ 'm ready for hefore it comes, by hankering sitter it. I don't take much credit to myself for refueing that drink; and, if I had taken it, why, I wouldn't have put all the blame on the saloos. keeper, as some folks do. It taken two, every time, to make a nuccessful temptation."
It was an quention. Temptation io not all at matter of outward happening, but also of inne readiness. No outsider can be reapons"He for our sins ns we are responiole of the tempitation. The other side-the personal alde-we must anuwer for, and po excnse will save us. "It takes two, and one of the two is always our own re aponalble self.-Exchange.

ONLY A YEAR.

The following poem has been kindly aent by a correspondent, M. A. M., in answer to a request from I. H. N. The anthor is Harriet Beecher Stowe.
One year ago-a ringing voice.
A clear blue eye,
And elustering enrls of sunny hair
Too fair to die
Only a year-no voice, no smile.
No glance of eye
Fair, but to die.
Fair, but to die.
One year agn-what loves, what schemes Came into life:
What joyons hopes, what high resolves, What generous atrife.
The silent picture on the wall
The burial stone,
Of all that beanty, life and joy
Remain alone. Remain alone.
One year-one year, ove little year And yet the even fow of life Moves calmly on.
The grave grows green, the flowers bloom Ahir,
No sorrowing tint of deaf or apray Says he is dead
No pause or hush of merry birda,
Tells us sing above.
The form we love.
Where bast thou been this year beloved?
What -istine fats thon seen
What wisions falf, what glo
Where hast thou been?
The vell ! the vell $t$ so thin, so strong.
The mystic sell when
That we mavaee?
Not dead, not sleepling, not even gone, But present still ;
Of God's sweet will.
Lord of the llviug and the dead, Our Saviour dear;
e lag in silence at thy feet,
This sad, sad year.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.
Few People Know How Useful it is in Pre servin ${ }_{6}$ Health and Beauty
Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.
Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drog at all, hat simply aboorbs the gases and im. all, hut simply absorbs the gases aniliminteatines and carrles them ont of the system.
Charcoal sweetrns the breath after amoking drinking or after earing onions and other odorous vegetablen.
Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion. It white's the teeth rad further acta as a natural and eminently safe cathartic safe cathartic
locts in the stomac, and gases which colfecte the month and throst from the polson of catarrh.
All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probsbly the best char coal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Loz-Dges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antigeptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting liz:nges, the charcoal being mixed with hovey.
The dally use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, aweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their rontinued use, but on the con. from their rontinue
trary, great benefit
benefits of chasciant in speaking of the benefits of charconl, says: "I advise soffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, morith and throat I also be. lieve the liver is greatly: benefited by the daily use $n$ them; they cost but twentyfive cents a boz at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, coal in Stwart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."
