ESPIONAGE SYSTEM PLAYING

REPORT OF THE GERMAN

ARMY'S OPERATIONS ON AISNE

Kaiser's Troops Depending Largely On Spies

—Have Invented Some Ingenious Plans for

Signalling Information Concerning Enemy's

Operations—Eye Witness Sends Graphic

Account Of Battle Of Aisne.

London, Sept. 28 (9.05 p.m.)—The official press bureau issued tonight a descriptive account of the operations of the British force in France and the French armies in immediate touch with it, communicated by an eye-witness present at the headquarters of Field Marshal Sir John French. This account supplements that issued September 24 from General Headquarters.

"September 25, 1914—For four days there has been a comparative lull all along our front. This has been accompanied by a spell of fine weather, though the nights are now much colder.
One cannot have everything, however, and one evil result of the sunshine has been the release of flies, which were torpid during the wet days.

"Advantage has been taken of the arrival of the reinforcements to relieve by fresh troops the men who have been on the firing line for some time. Several units, therefore, have received their baptism of fire during the week.

"Since the last letter left General Headquarters, evidence has been received which points to the fact that during counter attacks on the night of Sunday, the 20th, the German infantry fired into each other as the result of an attempt to carry out the dangerous expedient of a converging advance in the dark.

Long Range Bombardment By

Germans

"Opposite one point of our position a considerable massing of hostile forces was observed before dark, and some hours later a furious fusillade was heard in front of our line, though no bullets came over our trenches.

"This narrative begins with Sept.
21, and covers only two days. On Monday, the 21st, there was but little rain and the weather took a turn for the better, which has been maintained. The action was practically confined to the artillery, our guns at one point shelling and driving away the enemy, who were endeavoring to construct a redoubt. The Germans, however, expended a large number of shells in a long range bombardment of a village.

"Reconnoitering parties sent out during the night of 21-22 discovered some deserted trenches, and in them, or near them, in the woods, over a hundred dead and wounded were picked up. A number of rifles, ammunition and equipment were also found.
There were other signs that the Germans' forces had withdrawn some distance.

"Tuesday, 22nd, was also fine, with less wind, and was one of the most uneventful days that has passed since we reached the Aisne—uneventful, for the British. There was less artillery work on either side, the Germans, nevertheless, giving another village a taste of the 'Jack Johnsons.'

Enemy's Dead Litter Ground Along

Fighting Line

"The spot thus honored was not far from the ridge where some of the most severe close fighting in which we have taken part has occurred. All over this 'No Man's Land' between the lines, the bodies of German infantry are still lying in heaps where they have fallen at different times.
"Espionage plays so large a part in the conduct of the war by the Germans that it is difficult to avoid further reference to the subject. They have evidently never forgotten the saying of Frederick the Great: 'When Marshal Soult goes to war he is followed by a hundred spies; when I take the field I am preceded by a hundred spies.'

"Indeed, until about twenty years ago, there was a paragraph in their field service regulations directing that the service of 'protection in the field' —outposts and advanced guards—should always be supplemented by a system of espionage.

Ingenious Methods of Signalling.

"Though such instructions are no longer made public, the Germans, as is well known, still carry them into effect. Apart from the more elaborate arrangements which were made in peace time for obtaining information by paid agents, some of the methods which are being employed for the collection or conveyance of intelligence are as follows:

"Men in plain clothes signal to the German lines from points in the hands of the enemy by means of colored lights at night and puffs of smoke from chimneys by day. Pseudo laborers working in the fields between the armies have been detected conveying information, and persons in plain clothes have acted as advanced scouts to the German cavalry when advancing.

"German officers and soldiers in plain clothes, or in French or British uniforms, have remained in localities evacuated by the Germans, in order to furnish them with intelligence.
Used Hands of Clock to Send Information.

"One spy of this kind was found by our troops hidden in a church tower.
His presence was only discovered through the erratic movements of the hands of the church clock which he was using to signal to his friends by means of an improvised semaphore code. Had this man not been seized it is probable he would have signalled to the German artillery at the time of their arrival the exact location of the headquarters and staff. A high explosive shell would then have mysteriously dropped on the building.

"Women spies have also been caught; secret agents have been found at the railroads observing trains

ST. JOHN RAILWAY CO. BILLS

CITY FOR $15,580 DAMAGES

For Property Destroyed During Riot—Mayor Frink

Declares He Would Fight to Highest Court in Empire Before Paying—Other Matters Before Council.

The city commissioners yesterday decided to pay $15,580 for the military services rendered the city at the time of the street railway riot, but the bill of the St. John Railway Company for $15,580 for damage done during the street railway riot was ordered filed after His Worship had strongly condemned the action of the railway company in presenting such a bill.

His Worship referred to the meeting between city officials and railway officials during the strike and the attitude of Hugh H. McLean and his fellow directors when they refused to provide in any way for Mr. Ramsey, when they knew and as Colonel Mc-Lean had said that when Mr. Ramsey was provided for the trouble would end. His Worship referred to the humiliation brought to the city by this stand and spoke of the action of Colonel McLean and other railway officials who went about the streets and among the people at the time of the trouble. His Worship thought this the most extraordinary account ever offered to the city and as far as he was concerned he would fight any suit brought by the St. John Railway to the last court of appeal in the Empire before paying it.

The original bill submitted by the military authorities had been $2,704.25 but this had been revised.

The commissioners of public works asked that the contracts for the paying of Queen Square be not carried out this year but that the work lay over until next year.

The commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands and Mayor Frink were authorized to have a recreation room fitted up for the soldiers at Partridge Island.

Those present at the meeting were Mayor Frink, Commissioner of Harbors, Ferries and Public Lands, Mr.
Potts, Wignmore and McLean with the common clerk.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved.

Leases Renewed.

On recommendation of the Commissioner of Harbors, Ferries and Public Lands the following leases were ordered renewed: Lot 270, Brooks ward to Ezekiel McLeod for seven years from November 1st next at $9.60 per annum, being an increase of 20 per cent.

Lot No. 537 and 538, Queens ward, to George A. Law and Jennie Jenkins for seven years from May 1, 1193 at $8.00 per year, being an increase of 20 per cent.; lots No. 459, 460 and 461, Brooks ward to Theodore A. Lockhart for seven years from November 1, at $16 per annum being an advance of 20 per cent.

Mr. Mooney who has the contract for the paying in Main street, at Paradise Row was present and commended the work.

WHEN WAR BROKE OUT

London, Sept. 28.—Mrs. R. Forrest Ogilvy of Montreal who was in the Black Forest of Germany when the war broke out, has returned to England after experiencing many difficulties. With her two young sons, she was detained in a gymnasium for a fortnight. She failed to get a passport in time from the British consul before his departure, but succeeded in getting one through the American consul at the Hague. She came back by a private boat, routing Rotterdam after many delays. She sails for Montreal by the Misanable next week.

Lyric Again Has

BANNER PROGRAMME

A fine programme of entertainment has been provided by the Lyric management for this week. The Davis Sisters, who were here last season, when their clever work created a favorable impression, again faced a St.
John audience last night at the popular Charlotte street house. They pleased the many present with their fascinating character songs and novelty dances, the costumes being particularly admired. The Davis Sisters are dainty maidens whose work should be seen by those who were unable to be present at the Lyric last evening.
They will repeat their performance this and tomorrow evening.

The picture feature is the Than-ouser production entitled 'The Golden Cross.' It is a play of 'eye old times,' in two parts, in which Miss Maud Fealy figures as the star artist.
Beautiful scenes are depicted in this fine example of up-to-date motion pic-tography and the story itself is one of unusual interest. The play, indeed, has been styled by competent critics as a 'beauty play,' and the term seems appropriate enough.

Lyric patrons were much pleased with the programme provided yesterday and the management are again to be congratulated on their successful efforts in the way of presenting a good form of entertainment entirely free from any objectionable features.
