QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

HORSE CHOKES WHEN EATING HAY.

Horse, now five years old, has occasionally choked when eating hay since he was two years old. It used to occur about once a month, but now he chokes every time he eats hay. He does not choke on grass, and seldom on oats. The choking spells last two or three hours.

A. A.

Ans.—There is either a stricture or a dilatation in the gullet. If a stricture, the bolus of food cannot pass, and if a dilatation, the food lodges in the sack until it becomes full. The result, in either case, must of necessity be choking. As this condition has been existing for three years, and apparently is becoming more marked, nothing can be done, especially if the trouble is in the thoracic portion. If in the region of the neck, it is possible a veterinarian might improve matters by an operation. I would advise feeding him cut hay and rolled oats mixed. Pour boiling water on this, cover the vessel, and let stand for a few hours, then feed in a box with large surface over which spread the food thinly.

Miscellaneous.

SICK COW.

Cow is very thin and dull-looking; seems short of breath, and has a cough. She does not want to eat very much.

C. A. G.

Ans.—The symptoms indicate tuberculosis. You had better have her tested with tuberculin. There is no cure for the disease when once it becomes so well established that the animal shows clinical symptoms.

PROBABLY ECZEMA.

I have a bull calf twelve months old that is very scurfy. Have washed him good with soft water and castile soap, but obtained no results. Can you advise me what to do?

J. S.

Ans.—This is probably eczema. Clip the calf and wash thoroughly with strong warm soap suds. Then wash with a solution of corrosive sublimate 40 grains to the quart, or a five-per-cent. solution of Zenoleum, carbolic acid, or creolin. It is often well to give a little internal treatment in the shape of a purgative. Give Epsom salts and a little ginger.

LEVELLING UNEVEN GROUND.

Am writing to ask you if you could give some good hints on levelling some very knolly ground, as it is impossible to do anything with the crop on it except to cradle it, and the scraper and spade are rather slow methods of levelling it?

L. C. S.

Ans.—Cultivation usually seems to level up what are known as cradle knolls, but it takes time. The scraper might be utilized to some extent, but it must be remembered that the soil is often not very deep, and if scraped off to too great a depth plant growth is hindered. Frequent plowing, cultivating, disking and harrowing, will serve to improve the evenness of surface greatly. The harrow used after plowing is perhaps the best method to follow in the beginning. Sowing peas on fresh-broken new ground, and working the mellow pea stubble down for wheat, is a plan that has the advantage of permitting an easy levelling of the soil, though open to criticism on other grounds. Where feasible, corn is an ideal crop for new ground.

GOSSIP.

The prize Shropshire shearing ram at Ottawa Exhibition, owned by J. R. Kelsey, of Woodville, Ont., and a photo of which was reproduced in our issue of October 5th, was sold by Mr. Kelsey at the show, to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for use in their fine pure-bred flock of Shropshires. This was a very fine yearling, and should do well in this good flock.

Clydesdales! Clydesdales!
Spring Hill Top Notchers

Gentlemen, we wish to remind you that owing to our late importations we won't be showing at any of the fall exhibitions. Our lot comprises fillies and mares, stallions, 3 and 4 years old. They are the ripe cherries every one of them, and must be sold at the lowest possible price to make room for this fall importation. There's no man who ever buys a stallion or mare but who comes back again; why, because we have the goods and back up what we say. We wish to thank every one for their kind patronage in the past. Yours truly,

J. & J. SEMPLE, Milverton, Ont., and La Verne, Minn., U. S. A.
