The contest at Charleston is proceeding with mined resistance on the other. The Federals ved to have revenge upon that seat and federates would seem to be equally resolved to fight it out to the last, and that if Charleston is taken it shall be only as a mass of smoulderperty utterly, than that it should fall into Federal hands. It is said that the bombardment has been delayed only by some defect in the engines of destruction provided for the conflagration of the doomed city; but that very shortly all will be completed necessary for the work of destruction. The doomed city is the doomed city; but that very shortly all will be completed necessary for the work of destruction. The sound through the Southern States educating their people up to the point of rebellion. At Charleston, the Democratic National Convention, that a pretext of rebellion might exist, was demorable. No effort that ingenuity and vengeance an devise will be left untried in the struggle.— The descriptions furnished of the, so called, ing from five hundred to one thousand bullets each have been sent to Morris Island, to be transferred thence into the rebellious city in a manner not very pleasing to the enemy. These shells are fired with time fuses, and have very destructive of life. The celebrated three hundred pound Parrott gun which Gen. Gillmore thas, weighs twenty-seven thousand pounds. It took two thousand men nine nights to get the monster into position, the drag teams breaking down seven nights in succession, the enemy shelling the party all the while, and men being killed nightly. Nothing was done with it by day, the gun being covered with bushes te conceal it from the enemy's fire. The diameter of the bore is ten inches, and the shell that goes out of it is as high has a flour barrel, weighs three hundred pounds, and contains seventeen pounds of mortar powder. The execution of one of these shells on Sumter is considered equal to three 200-pound shells.

But two of these immense rifled guns have been mads, although twenty more have been ordered for the army. None have been ordered for the same, which made and any oung man in his employ all left, taking with them (as they supposed) all the arms and amunition. In their hasty retreat they left behind a revolver, which Miss Schwartz approprised to her own use. She went to the door and on one one in a ted to her own use. THURLOW WEED ON THE DESTRUCTION OF to General Gilmore and Commodore Dahlgren. It is fitting of that fortress of rebellion that not one stone should be left resting upon another. Its existence whould be blotted out. Nor, if the traitor chiefs who hold Charleston, choose recklessly to expose that city, after being admonished, should it be spared. If Jerusalem sinned, and deserved its fate, much more so does Charleston. With Charleston and South Carolina, treason was not an impulse. It did not "come in their way to be stumbled over." It was a deliberate purpose. South Carolina was its birth-place—
Charleston its cradle. Treason was the normal condition of South Carolina. Its teachers went abroad through the Southern States educating abroad through the Southern States educating above the state of the sound in their place is the sound bears and so distant as it did. The Boston Journal says, the gun from which the shells were first fired was a 200-pounder Partott, which can throw a shell no less than seven refiges. The first shells went over Charleston, the gun being aimed at too sharp an angle. Our readers will be pleased to learn that Gen. Gill-work has no less than the first plants of the probable fate of Charleston, some of the probable fate of Charleston, as the state of religion, and self-interest, as to consider such measures at linear parts and self-interest, as to consider such measures only consistent with the dictates of religion, and self-interest, as to consider such measures only consistent with the smile of our common Father in heaven.

The Boston Journal says, the gun from which the shells were first fired was a 200-pounder Partott, which can throw a shell no less than second measures to justify our commanders in being thus fooled. There is an easy way—a way consistent with the rules of civilized warfare—to fire probable fate of Charleston, as the right to receive the heavy blow with becoming resignation. The Atlanta Appeal of August 20th takes the ground that its fall is only a question of time, but argues that it is a matter of very little consequence. It says:—

A MILITARY EXECUTION .- At New Orleans. The N. Y. Times Baltimore correspondent gives a painful account of the arbitrary military Louisiana (Federal) was shot to death by sengrievances we take the following:—

THE PRESIDENT'S LETTER.—Mr. Lincoln was invited to attend a mass meeting of unconditional Union men at Springfield, Illinois, but being unable to do so he addressed a letter to the Convention in reference to the present state of affairs. Speaking of those who dislike the Emancipation proclamation and desire its retraction, he says he believes it to have been constitutional and necessary, and adds:

But the proclamation, as law, is valid or is not the part of the conversation.) Very shortly, he was the visit itself became the imperment

But the proclemation, as law, is valid or is not valid. If it is not valid it needs no retraction. If it is valid it needs no retraction the dead can be brought to life. Some of you profess to think that its retraction would operate favorably for the Union. Why better after the retraction than before the issue? There was retraction than before the issue? There was more than a year and a half of trial to supress the rebellion before the proclamation was issued the last one hundred days of which passed under an explicit notice that it was coming unless averted by those in revolt returning to their allegiance. The war has certainly progressed as favorably for us since the issue of the proclamation as before.
