THE TEMPLE DEDICATED. 1 KINGS 8: 22-36.

The temple was finished in the eleventh year of Solomon's reign, in the eighth month, and was dedicated the following year, in the seventh month, during the feast of tabernacles. The ark and the tabernacle, with its holy vessels, having been brought into the temple, the bright cloud, the visible symbol of the divine presence filled the house of the Lord. This indicated to the children of Israel that God had indeed taken up his abode in his sanctuary, where he would henceforth receive their worship and from which he would issue his law and orders, This lesson gives a portion of the remarkable prayer that was offered at its dedication.

EXPLANATIONS.

Stood, on a scaffold or brazen platform, about five teet high, and built in the court of the temple for this purpose. Altar, of burnt offering. Keepest covenant, fulfilled the promises; an appeal by innocence, helpless. ness, and distress to the great Helper. Word...be rerified, that spoken in 2 Sam. 7: 13-16. Heaven of heavens, the heaven or firmament in its most extended sense. Solomon strikes down all assertions that Jehovah is a finite or only national God, or that he is confined to one place as men are; while present on the earth he is infinitely above it. Have ... respect unto, grant my present requests, Thine eyes ... open, to grant blessings and answer prayers. My name, my presence as evidence of the holiness and name of God. An oath be laid upon, in cases where for want of wit. nesses God was appealed to; see Ex. 22: 7-11. Have sinned, or "kept sinning," and hence punished. In this house, some suggest "toward" for "in;" others say that the confessing and praying was to be done by those at home, and not by those in captivity. That thou teach, or "because thou teachest." Good way... walk, the object of the affliction is to induce them to walk in the good

PRACTICAL TEACHINGS.

STORING VEGETABLES AND FRUITS.

To keep fruit and vegetab'es well they should be gathered with more care. Potatoes, beets and turnips, cut and hacked and then tumbled and bruised, are sure to begin to decay early in the season. My men are invariably required to pour the vegetables into their bins with as much care as they do apples-and that is without dropping them from the edge above. Beets should be handled with particular care and gathered before hard trosts. Pumpkins, if picked carefully by hand before a frost, laid not tossed into a waggon, and then deposited "like eggs," in their storage room, will keep till April, and their is no nobler truit for a late winter. Squashes require the same care. Gather by the last of October and keep in a dry chamber, never in a cellar. The chamber should be cool but frost-proof. There is no part of farm work that it pays better to give personal supervision than the gathering and storage of perishable crops. The few days of care prevent the wretched disappointment consequenton a year's work going to waste. But nice handling must begin at the beginning of the harvest. Apples ing. But the ordinary orchard sees at least three such turns at bruising tho delicate cells before the apple is deposited in the bin; first, in picking; second, by depositing in a waggon; third, by dashing them into the bin. It is equally important to secure the apple free from twigs and

TO INDORSE A CHECK.

Even among good people of greatintelligenceand good education, there York, on which the checks for payment of teacher's salaries are drawn, has found that nearly one half of the checks so drawn are endorsed wrong side up. This is done by an excep. tionally intelligent class. In fact, as own personal experience that no the matter is almost entirely arbitrary, it is not a sign of ignorance or stupidity to make an incorrect in dorsement, but is due to the fact that to supply this want the following formly reliable. rules are offered;

1. Write across the back, not length. 2. The top of the back is the left end of the face. 3. Sign your name in just the same form as it appears on the face. If J. Smith, write "J. Smith; if Chas. C. Smith," write "Chas. C. Smith." If erroneously spelt on the face, indorse both ways; first the wrong way, then the right. 4. If you merely wish to show that the check has passed through your hands write only your name. 5. If you wish to make it payable to some particular person, write

, or order." 6. If you wish to deposit the check, write above your name 'For Deposit.' -Trade Reporter.

HOUSEWORK.

There are some women who seem naturally to dislike housework, but are nevertheless obliged to do it or let their families suffer from an untidy house. Now, it they do this work conscientiously and with some loving thought of what it is for, there is no drudgery about it. A woman may hate to do cooking but how can she help deriving a deep satisfaction and even pleasure from the row of shape. ly, light and perfect loaves which she has baked, and which she considers will be digestible and in every way healthy for her family? She may hate to wash and iron, but there is something delightful to her in the pile of clean and neatly ironed clothing, when she stops to think how this work of her hands will minister to the health and comfort of her dear ones. She may hate to make beds, sweep and dust rooms and scrub floors; but a tidy house can not be any thing but a joy to her heart when she realizes how much the purity of the moral character is influenced by the neatness and order of the home one dwells in. Thus all the so cailed drudgery of the household is far from being ignoble when looked at aright. Farmer's Tribune.

MEANING OF "CHARIVARI."-The word "charivari" is used throughout a large portion of the west, and describes the attentions which a howling, music mad country crowd pay to a newly married couple. In those parts it is pronounced "chivaree." Its origin is as follows: In the middle ages "a charivari consisted of an assemblage of ruffians, who armed with t n pots and pans, fire-shovels and kettles, gathered in the dark outevidence to convict before any human | side the house of any obnoxious person, making the night hideous by striking the pots against the pans and of temporal evil, as defeat, withhold howling, 'Haro'! Haro ! or (in the south of Engl nd or France) 'Hari! 4. The object of God in connecting | Hari ! In 1563, the council of freut took the matter up, and solemnly interdicted 'charivaris' under the pain of excommunication; nevertheless, the practice continues in France to 5. Chastisement being the fruit of this day, notably in the village of La Ruscade

PREPARE FOR THE ENEMY

COMING!

The countries where Cholera prevails, as in India, China and Africa, Pain-Killer is considered the surest and safest of all known remedies, and the ratives place the most perfect reliance in it.

Read the following extract from the letter of a missionary in China :-

DEAR SIES :- I ought to have ack now edged long ago the box of Pain-Killer you had the goodness to send me last year. Its coming was most providential. I believe hundreds of lives were saved, under God, by it. The Cholera appeared soon after we received it. We resorted at once to the PAIN. KILLER, using as directed for Cholera. A list was kept of all to whom the Pain Killer was given, and our native assistants assured us that eight out of every ten to whom it was prescribed, recovered.

Believe me, dear sirs, gratefully and faithfully yours,
