Huntingdon, Que., May 3, 1910.—It is a year since I used your "Save-the-Horse," on a very severe case of bone spavin, and although the horse was nine years old, and the leg had been blistered several times and other so-called spavin cures applied without success, yet half a bottle of your remedy completely cured him, while he worked as usual. I have watched him carefully ever since without seeing any return of the old lameness. I am thoroughly convinced that the cure is permanent. I have persuaded my brother to give your remedy a trial for bog spavin, and enclosed you will find his check for one bottle.

Very truly, F. D. SHEARER.

and requires careful watching on this pest will soon cover it. Tobacco, in a wash, or smoke, or dusted on the plants will keep them down. If used as a wash, care must be taken not to make it too strong, or it will burn the plant. This plant is raised from seed in the spring for fall and winter blooming, and will continue in bloom from two to three months. The individual flowers last for a long time. There are two varieties, the dwarf and the stellate, which grows two feet high,

But many people of advanced years have learned how to keep these organs healthy by using

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

The kidneys are often the first organs of the body to cause trouble. Their work of filtering the blood is greatly increased by excessive eating or by the use of highly seasoned foods and alcoholic drinks.

As advanced age comes on most people suffer more or less from derangements of the kidneys. With some there are years of pains and aches, with others Bright's disease is soon developed and the end comes quickly.

Fortunately a great many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.

This medicine is entirely different from ordinary kidney treatments, and invigorates the action of the liver and bowels. To this combined action is attributed its remarkable success.

Mr. Richard Preston, Osborne, Lambton county, Ont., writes:—"I want to testify to the wonderful curative properties of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. Seventeen years ago I began the use of this medicine, when my back was so bad that to stoop or rise was torture to me. The kidneys were in bad condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, whenever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, am well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."

and has long petals which are curled or quilled.

Begonias in many varieties are splendid house plants, as they require less sunlight than most other flowering plants and are ornamental when not in bloom, some of them having very beautifully colored and marked foliage. They slip easily.

Asparagus sprengeri is a beautiful feathery plant for hanging baskets. Its fronds grow to a length of four feet. It stands quite a lot of cold, and can be easily grown from seed, which is sometimes slow in germinating, but soon makes a nice little table plant. Then, as it continues growing, the new fronds get longer. I know of one grown from seed in a farm house which is four years old, and is a shower of delicate green in front of the window the fronds at least three feet long.

A very pretty effect may be gained by planting a few pieces of Tradescantia (Wandering Jew) round the pot or basket.

Asparagus Plumosus is another plant that can be grown from seed. It is slow to germinate; likes a sandy loam, a moderate supply of water, and is benefited by sprinkling every few days.

The Boston fern, with its long, graceful fronds, is another very satisfactory plant. Palms, aspidestrias, rubber plants and many others might be added to this list.

As a general rule, it is not a good plan to keep plants standing in saucers with water in them, as it is apt to cause the earth to sour. Most plants need to be kept moist—not too wet; they need all the pure, fresh air they can have, without getting chilled. All plants require re-potting from time to time, as they increase in size and use up the plant food in the earth.

Philadelphia press reports state that Abraham Staples, an egg dealer of that city, upon prosecution by Agent Cassidy of the state food commissioner's department, was convicted of selling decayed eggs and sentenced to three months in the county jail. Thomas D. Ellis, a commission merchant, was also prosecuted and fined $500 and costs for the same offence, and his son, George D. Ellis, of the same firm, was sentenced to three months in jail.

FITTING FOWLS FOR EXHIBITION

Every fancier has his own plans and whims in fitting poultry for exhibition, and there are many different methods employed. The breeding stock must be good to commence with, or you can never expect to raise chicks that will have a possibility of winning. In many shows there is not much difference between first, second, and even third prize bird; in the larger shows, condition frequently means the winning ribbon. How often can a bird be improved in condition by an hour or so spent on him by his owner some evening just before the show; in fact, I believe all varieties are greatly improved by washing the entire bird, and not simply its head, feet and legs.

In these days of keen competition, the blue-ribbon fancier keeps his eye on the likely ones from the time they are mere chickens, and by a little extra care and feed, these are pushed forward as much as possible. It is always preferable to separate the cockerels and pullets at an early age, when you have the room.

THE VALUE OF SHADE DURING MOLTING There are several colors which are much benefited by shade. White, buff and even black birds are greatly improved in plumage by not being exposed to the sun. The old birds that had the best attention in molting time, are sure to be the possessors of the best bloom on their new coats. Fat-producing foods should not predominate in the molting season. At this time, a
