Revelations of a Wife What Lillian Asked Madge When They Met to Confer.

Lillian greeted me quietly enough as I came into her library. But the tell-tale little white lines around her mouth betrayed the anxiety under which she was laboring. "What luck?" she asked, as she gave the tea signal on her wall bell to Betty in the regions below. "The best," I answered promptly. "I saw him this morning and lunched with him."

"Good girl," she said, approvingly. "I know that wasn't an easy thing for you to do. Tell me all about it, but keep your voice down. Luckily Betty isn't what you would call a velvet-shod servant. We shall hear her coming long before she's here. And Katherine is with Mother Morton and Marion."

where she died after a short illness. Mr. H. Romley-Williams returned from Belleville today. Quite a smash-up occurred on the G. T. R. this morning about eight o'clock. An east-bound freight ran off the track over the Trent River. Three cars were completely smashed. Luckily no loss of life was incurred, but much damage was done to the freight.

with funds" was Lillian's own purse. But that was in no possible sense my affair, so I hastened to continue my story. Lillian is insistent. Beginning at my discovery that Grace Draper had accompanied him to the door of the theatrical exhibit, I told Lillian everything that had occurred, including our luncheon at the Fleur-de-Lis tea room, and the unexpected entrance there of Dicky and Edith Fairfax. I conscientiously tried, however, to eliminate wholly my own impressions of Mr. Underwood and his actions. "I meant that Lillian should get the real news of my little expedition under her direction, leaving the details until she called for them."

"What do you mean?" I stammered, almost upsetting my cup of tea under the searching regard of her wonderful eyes. Betty had brought up the tea service while I was in the middle of my story, and we had talked of immaterial things until she had gone downstairs again. "What do you really think about him?" Lillian returned. "Does Grace Draper seem to have any hold on him? What is his toward you? And what do you think is his reason for mixing in this thing?"

"I thought so," Lillian returned, with a note of satisfaction in her voice. "Now for the other questions. Is Harry as much in love with you as ever?" "She looked at me shrewdly, and struggle as I might, I couldn't control the flush that covered my face. "That's unkind of me, I know," said Lillian, "but I wanted to be sure. You needn't answer. I can see he is, for which his particular devil be praised."

Interment was in Roslin Anglican burying ground. The bearers were Messrs. B. Emerson, E. Bates, J. Shaw, H. Higgins, G. Gay and M. Tummon. —Lieut. H. A. Fish, 155th Battalion has been struck off the strength of the C.E.F. —One of the losers in the flood of yesterday has complained to the police about a certain person who took three bags of potatoes from a hotel yard. The farmer had left a sleigh-load of nine bags of "spuds." This was caught in the flood, the water causing the vehicle and the load to float. The nine bags of potatoes were scattered and a citizen got three of them. The owner with the police visited the home of the man last night, but was refused the potatoes although he offered to pay the man for his trouble.

The trial of Earl Reid on a charge of stealing a quantity of liquor, which took place yesterday before Judge Deroche resulted in his being found guilty. As he had borne a good reputation to this date, and was highly spoken of by ex-wardens McLaren and McFarlane, of Tyndinaga, and as his explanation as to the place where the liquor was found, seemed satisfactory, Reid was allowed to go under a suspended sentence. Crown Attorney W. Carnew prosecuted and Mr. W. C. Mikel, K.C. appeared for the accused.

George Hope, one of the first to enlist in Belleville for the great war, arrived home this afternoon unexpectedly. George was with the original 34th Battalion, and has passed through many harrowing experiences in the past three years. He is one of the furlough men of the 1st contingent. —Belleville shippers were paying $13.75 for live hogs today at the market. —The funeral of the late Miss Annie Roy took place on Monday afternoon from the family residence, Victoria Avenue, The Rev. A. S. Kerr, M. A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church conducted a solemn service, which was attended by many citizens of all classes. The interment was made in Belleville Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. A. Gillen, J. Borbridge, J. S. McKeown, Dr. R. W. Tennent, B. L. Hyman and H. McKay.

The funeral of the late Hamilton Wellbanks, took place on Monday from his late residence, Rednersville, to Albany Methodist church, where Rev. Mr. Edwards conducted a solemn service, which was attended by a large number of friends. The bearers were Messrs. W. W. Anderson, Chas. Babblitt, Harvey Anderson, Alford Hillman, Fred Horman and W. C. Dempsey. Interment was in Albany cemetery. —An interesting event took place last evening at Massasauga Methodist church under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society. The affair took the form of the camp fire of the days gone by. Camp songs were sung by the singers who wore old costumes. The entertainment was a decided success. An address was delivered by Mr. W. H. Mabey, S. S. Superintendent. Led occupied the chair.

Ald. Chas. Whelan is endeavoring to bring about a resumption of the steamboat service on the Bay of Quinte route. He has ascertained from officials of the Canada Steamship Lines that the "Belleville" has been taken off this route mainly because there was little freight to be secured on the western or return trip from Montreal. The boat could always get a full load on the eastern trip but had to come back practically empty, and this entailed a serious loss. If a sufficient number of the merchants of Belleville were to have their goods shipped by boat, the company would be willing to reinstate the "Belleville" on the old route. Ald. Whelan is canvassing the business men to see what prospects can be offered the company as an inducement to continue the service. As freight by water comes at a lower rate and almost as promptly as by rail, surely there will be a liberal response to the appeal.

The Salvation Army Tag Day

March 19th, 1918. Dear Sir,— Will you kindly permit me to be on behalf of the Officers and members of the local corps of the Salvation Army to extend to Mrs. Waters, for her valuable assistance in the organizing and management of the Tag Day effort, to the different captains and their assistants; the principals and teachers of the schools; the Press for such liberal space given to advertising the effort; the different firms who gave such splendid assistance to the effort by donating space in their advertising columns; to Mr. Forhan, Manager of Griffin's Opera House for slide announcement at both houses, and last but by no means least the school scholars and the public who gave so liberally and made this our appeal, such a splendid success. I am confident they will receive their reward for it says in the Good Book, "that a cup of cold water given in His name will receive its reward" and when the boys come marching home they will tell you of the comfort the hats were to them. Again thanking you and all. I remain yours sincerely, Thos. D. Ruston, Treasurer

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Their use teaches her they are absolutely safe and that they never fail to give relief and that the little ones do not dread taking them as they do castor oil and other harsh purgatives. Concerning the Tablets Mr. John M. Weaver, Blissfield, N.B., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and have found them so good I always keep a box in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
